Mine Blast Traps Shift

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—An explosion tentatively laid to methane gas rocked the Clinchfield coal company's Compass No. 2 mine just before midnight, trapping 22 miners in workings six miles northwest of here.

A mine official said "there is just a slim chance" the men were not killed. Rescue teams worked below ground toward the blast area.

Clinchfield vice-president Stephen Canonico said 29 of 51 men known to be in the mine were accounted for as rescue teams approached the blast area, 5,000 feet back in the mine.

The lead rescue team, approximately 3,300 feet from the area where the men were working, detected traces of methane gas.

Kingfish Starts at Dawn

The 1963 edition of The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest starts at the crack of dawn Saturday and continues until Oct. 20.

Any trout or small-mouth bass weighing one pound or more and any salmon weighing five pounds or more caught in any legal Vancouver Island or Gulf Islands waters will be eligible for entry, whether or not the angler is a subscriber to the Colonist. But there are bigger prizes for Colonist subscribers.

A list of weigh-in stations will be published Saturday or Sunday.

Only commercial fishermen and professional guides are barred, but contest rules call for all fish to be caught with rod and reel.

There are divisions for lake trout, meaning all trout caught in a lake; river trout, meaning all trout caught in a river, including steelhead and sea-run cutthroat; small-mouth bass; coho salmon; spring salmon, meaning all spring salmon on the south of the Island and all spring salmon under 30 pounds caught in north Island and west coast waters; and tyee salmon, meaning spring salmon 30 pounds or more caught north of Nile Creek at Qualicum Bay, or in the Alberni Canal or north on the west coast.

Any salmon more than 15 pounds believed to be a coho and caught before August must be checked by a fisheries department official for identification and a photograph taken and forwarded to the Colonist. In August the weight for positive identification will be extended to 18 pounds. Reason for this rule is that every year there are a number of cases of doubtful identification between coho and spring salmon.

Big merchandise prizes, including an all-expenses-paid Canadian Pacific Airlines trip to Europe for two, a Vancouver Island Helicopters camping-fishing weekend and a Thornes aluminum boat, all hidden-weight prizes, are open only for Colonist subscribers.

Non-subscribers may win trophies for the biggest fish of the contest and buttons for the biggest fish each month.

There will be 105 buttons each month for big fish in all categories.

Anglers may win only one button in each category, except for gold buttons which will be awarded each month for the top fish in each category.

First angler to win all six Prince Buttons will be awarded the Compleat Angler Trophy, symbolic of a world championship.

Clean Out Molesters

CITY ORDERS PARK PATROL

Combined efforts of the police commission and city parks committee will be directed towards making Beacon Hill Park a safe place for children to play.

Mayor R. B. Wilson told yesterday's city council meeting the "first step has already been taken" by the commission which has ordered increased police surveillance of the park.

GIVEN AUTHORITY

For its part, council gave the parks committee authority to hire an additional commissionaire or commissionaires to patrol the park.

EASTER SUNDAY

The most recent case of molesting involved two children in the park at 1 p.m. on Easter Sunday. Last summer there were reports filed on eight cases of indecent exposure and one little girl was hauled into a car and molested.

Ald. J. L. W. McLean said if council had been informed previously of the situation described in the Colonist story by reporter Eileen Learoyd it was not "brought seriously enough to our attention."

REGULAR PATROL

He said the solution lay in "a little more responsibility for the police" and institution by the city of a regular park patrol by members of the corps of commissionaires. A commissionaire under the present system is in the park on an irregular schedule.

"This is a matter of vital concern to all parents with small children," Ald. McLean said. "In the past we have liked to think that Beacon Hill Park was a place where we could turn our children loose, a safe place for them to play."

SAFE IN DAYLIGHT

He said council shouldn't stop short of making the park "safe for all in daylight" and at night ensure that it is kept under adequate police surveillance.

"If Beacon Hill Park is known to be properly patrolled," Ald. McLean said, "persons of undesirable character . . . will no longer frequent the area."

MORE SURVEILLANCE

Mayor Wilson said he "couldn't agree more" with the need for increased surveillance, but added that one of the difficulties inherent in the patrol system was that "police are there one minute and gone the next."

"That's why we need commissionaires — I would say three commissionaires," Ald. McLean said.

GENERAL AGREEMENT

Ald. Lily Wilson said she was prepared to give the parks committee authority to arrange for additional commissionaire patrols immediately. There was general agreement with this suggested course of action.

The mayor said it would be up to the police commission, which he heads, and the parks committee to work together towards a "permanent solution" to the problem.

Police Wound Gunmen

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP)—Two gunmen were wounded and two taken into custody Thursday night when they were caught in a barrage of police gunfire during an attempted robbery of a sawmill near here.

The wounded were admitted to hospital in this town 10 miles northwest of metropolitan Toronto. One had part of his hip shot away and another was wounded in an arm. Their conditions were not believed to be serious.

Canadian Youths Give Rusk Beaver Pelt

Three Canadian youths, delegates to National 4-H Club conference in Washington Thursday called in on U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk to present him with beaver pelt to commemmorate 30th anniversary of Canadian 4-H Clubs. Pelt is from beaver trapped at Ministik Lake, Alta. Making presentation, from left, are Ruth Woods, South Edmonton; Keith Baker, Upper Falmouth, N.S., and Gail Robison, Harvey Station, N.B. 'Mill to Trigger Interior Bonanza'

Establishment of a $50,000,000 integrated pulp and paper operation in Prince George will mark the first stage of a major development of B.C.'s central interior, Trade and Commerce Minister Robert Bonner said last night.

The project—heavily backed by British capital—is expected to provide jobs for up to 1,200 workmen during construction of the mill in 1964 and 1965, and employment for about 375 when it becomes fully operational. (See Harry Young's column, Page 7.)

It was triggered by issuance of a pulpwood harvesting licence and assurance of low-cost power from the huge Peace River hydro electric development, said Mr. Bonner.

BOOST FOR PGE

The government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway is expected to get a $3,000,000 boost in freight revenues because of the mill's operations.

Plans for formation of Prince George Pulp and Paper Limited, jointly owned by the Reed Paper Group of London, England, and Canadian Forest Products Ltd. of Vancouver, were announced yesterday.

Head office of the new firm will be located in Vancouver.

BENNETT STATEMENT

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, visiting San Francisco, said in a statement released by his office here:

"The significance . . . is that the Reed Company is the largest user of pulp in the world. This means that the Prince George pulp and paper development will be much larger than previously proposed.

"It will not only mean hundreds more people employed in the centre of the province, but tens of millions of British capital will be invested in B.C.

"Over and above the direct benefits of this largest pulp and paper development in the interior of B.C., it will greatly benefit secondary industries, and of course will add millions more to the freight revenue annually for the PGE."

Trade and Commerce Minister Bonner predicted that British Columbia will now lead the

Medicare Bill Gets Approval

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government's medical services insurance bill was given approval in principle by the legislature Thursday, with both the Liberal and New Democratic parties opposing the concept of the draft legislation. (See Page 23.)

Brainwaves Sent By Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Relay I communications satellite transmitted an English patient's brainwaves to the United States for analysis, and sent the diagnosis back to England, all within a few minutes Thursday.

This points the way to swift transmission of medical data over great distances, so a patient's ailment might be diagnosed quickly by a specialist in some other part of the world.

Airport Visited

First Laos Inspection Made By International Truce Team

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters) — An international truce team made an inspection trip to the Plaine des Jarres Thursday in an attempt to smooth the uneasy Laotian situation — ruled by a shaky truce since Sunday.

It was the first of planned daily trips by officers and interpreters from Canada, India, and Poland—the nations making up the international control commission charged with supervising neutrality in this Southeast Asian kingdom.

POLISH OBJECTIONS

The visit by the inspection team to the Plaine des Jarres airport—last stronghold of beleaguered neutralist Gen. Kong Le in his civil battle with pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces—was made despite reports of "considerable opposition" by Poland.

(The Communist New China news agency, quoting the Pathet Lao radio, claimed in Peking meanwhile that three battalions of right wing Laotian troops, "under the command of U.S. officers," attacked the Pathet Lao town of Xieng Khouang Monday and said fighting was still going on.)

Authoritative Western military sources in Vientiane said there has been no hand-to-hand fighting recently. But they said the provincial capital of Xieng Khouang has come under occasional mortar fire.

May Day Shot?

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank radio telescope, predicts Russia will try to put man in space on May Day, major event in Communist calendar, as move would be in favorable position.

K's Aid Asked By Harriman

MOSCOW (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, seeking on President Kennedy's behalf Soviet support of efforts to restore peace in Laos, has expressed hope he will find Premier Khrushchev agreeable.

"I am always hopeful that, with good will, we will reach agreement," the U.S. state undersecretary told reporters on his arrival Thursday night aboard a Soviet airliner from London.

NEUTRALITY SUPPORTED

"The United States wishes to support the stability of the neutral government. The United States is careful to adhere to the (1962 Geneva) agreement, both in letter and in spirit."

A Second World War U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Harriman was fresh from emergency talks with authorities of France and Britain about the alleged campaign of pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas to expand their holdings in Laos, whose neutrality and freedom were guaranteed by the 14-nation Geneva Laotian conference last year.

AUTHORITY SPLIT

France and the U.S. were influential participants in the decisions that gave the Southeast Asian kingdom a government dividing authority among three factions—rightist, neutral and leftist — under a neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma.

Returning Officer Changes Standings

CAMPBELL'S BAY, Que. (CP) — Returning Officer J. Denzil Moodie changed the makeup of the 26th Parliament Thursday night, flipping a coin and then casting the tie-breaking ballot at a judicial recount in favor of former Mines Minister Paul Martineau.

Mr. Martineau's victory in Pontiac - Temiscamingue constituency reduced Liberal membership in the Commons to 128 and boosted the number of Progressive Conservative members to 95. There are 24 Social Credit MPs and 17 New Democrats.

Defeated Liberal Paul-O. Goulet said he "very likely" will file a petition under the Dominion Controverted Elections Act before the Quebec Superior Court to contest the election.

"We have plenty to go on," he said. "Some people voted twice and some eligible voters were barred from voting."

Mr. Moodie, a lumber contractor here, said it became evident about noon Thursday that he might have to cast the deciding ballot as required by law in the case of a tie, a rarity in federal elections.

Mr. Martineau said Mr. Moodie flipped a coin when the tie was declared — without indicating which candidate got heads and which tails.

Nikita Hints He'll Quit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given a powerful new boost to speculation that he may be on his way out as premier and chairman of the Communist party.

That was the immediate and obvious reaction in Washington and elsewhere to his speech to Russian workers pointing out that he was 69 years old and "cannot hold for all time the positions which I now have in the party and state."

RUMORS BACKED

His remarks tended to add authority to rumors current in some Communist circles that he was planning to announce at the May 25 meeting of the Communist central committee plans to retire within a year or two. They also gave some substance to speculation that various members of the Soviet hierarchy believe the time is approaching for new leadership.

CONDITION WORLD

It appeared to some authorities as if the party wanted to condition the world for the retirement of Khrushchev, who has been premier since 1958.

U.S. officials wanted the text of the speech to determine the context of the retirement remarks, but said some sections had almost the tone of a valedictory and seemed to be in response to protestations against any thought of his quitting.

Lesage Prime Minister?

* * * * *

'Only He Can Unite Canada'

QUEBEC (CP) — An English-speaking independent member of the legislature said Thursday night that Premier Lesage could become prime minister of Canada.

Frank Hanley (Ind — St. Ann), in a rambling speech during the budget debate, said that if English Canada doesn't meet Quebec's needs and rights, then a French-Canadian would have to be named prime minister.

There is only one man who can do the job, said Mr. Hanley, who supported the Social Credit party during the federal election campaign.

"Who is that?" asked Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson.

"Only one man can unite Upper and Lower Canada," said Mr. Hanley, "and that man is the present premier of Quebec."

Mr. Hanley is of Irish descent.

Israel Seeks Atom Bomb, Says Arab

UNITED NATIONS (LAT)—Israel is speeding development of an atomic bomb and may be developing materials for bacteriological warfare, Mahoud Riad, ambassador to the United Arab Republic, charged Thursday.

"We believe that Israel is really working very hard to produce an atomic bomb," the ambassador said. "We have information that the Weizmann Institute is working on bacteriological warfare."

The ambassador made the charges at a luncheon of the UN Correspondents Association, asserting similar charges brought by Israel against the United Arab Republic were a smokescreen to conceal Israel's true intentions.

He denied the UAR is developing atomic energy for other than peaceful purposes.

"Get yer facts right—I DIDN'T make a row when I came 'ome last night—it was the blokes wot carried me in!"

Mill to Boost B.C.'s Interior

"Our great preoccupation with major hydro projects such as the Peace and Columbia Rivers has been in the belief that either one or preferably both will provide the underlying note of expansion in the provincial economy for many years to come," he told a Colonist reporter.

INTEREST AWAKENED

"With the Peace River development now an actuality, there has been a positive awakening of interest in central interior development.

"This proves once again that critics are a dime-a-dozen and not to be relied upon," said the happy minister.

"We are endeavoring to give positive development, and one good example like this will help encourage others."

He said there can be "no question" but what yesterday's announcement will spark further development in the central interior of the province.

"This will make B.C. one of the hottest investment areas in Canada," but it will not take place overnight because a lot of negotiations and planning are involved in the expansion of business, Mr. Bonner said.

"Participation of major English capital is a tremendous gain. It is abnormally large and certainly refutes any suggestion (criticism in the British press after takeover of the B.C. Electric Company) that English capital will not invest in this province."

$3,000,000 HIKE

Forests Minister Ray Williston estimated that the PGE would make up to $3,000,000 from hauling produce between the mill and North Vancouver wharves and from hauling chips from interior sawmills to the new mill.

He said that the integrated operation will mark the first large infusion of British capital in the pulp and paper industry in the province, tie the world's largest purchaser of pulp into B.C.'s business economy and mark the first manufacture of paper in the Interior.

"It has been successfully nailed down because of the policy of providing wood in perpetuity in sustained yield units and ensuring a continuous cheap source of power through the construction of the Peace River dam.

"A significant impact will be made upon the economy of the whole province," said Mr. Williston.

Four Children Die in Blaze

BERTHIER, Que. (CP)—Four children of a local merchant died Thursday in a fire that destroyed their home in this village 30 miles east of Quebec City.

Dead are three daughters and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Forgues; Lorette, 27; Gertrude, 16; Marcel, 14; and Jeanne, 7.

Two Capacity Audiences Turn Out For Festival's Vocal, Piano Classes

By BERT BINNY

Not apparently satisfied with just one capacity crowd in an evening—such as it had on Tuesday and Wednesday, the Music Festival had two last night; one for vocal and piano classes at St. Andrew's Kirk Hall and the second for the speech arts honor performance at Cridge Memorial Hall.

The honor program for speech arts brought together winners and outstanding performers from a number of classes including speech choirs from St. Margaret's School, Victoria West and Monterey.

Individuals performing were Rhonda Williams, Wendy Matson, Deborah Mason, Angela Park, Pamela Stamford, Christina Whiles, Katherine Alexis, Mrs. Vera Friedrich, Kathryn Botten with Colleen Heighes, Barbara Dunn, Jennifer Self, Richie Stamford and Timothy Vernon.

Fine Speech

Sole contenders in their class, the Vera Barclay junior choir earned high praise from the adjudicator, Dr. Sydney Northcote, and were given the excellent marks of 90 and 88.

Competition in campfire singing resulted in a quite decisive win for the 11th Victoria Guide Company.

Nine pianists, six girls and three boys, contested the junior and intermediate championship. The winner was Frances Crampton from the under-12 division who also took the sonata championship on Tuesday evening.

Finals of the female oratorio solo class were closely contested. Unlike the finalists in the operatic class, said Dr. Northcote, the three oratorio singers had profited by the advice he gave them.

Marks Helped

As a result their marks were enhanced and the winner, Marion Matcham, with 84 in the eliminations, secured 85 in the finals. Margaret Christison went from 82 to 85 to finish as runner-up.

The program ended with competition between men's choirs with the Meistersingers and the Arion Choir participating.

Accordion classes are at Woodsworth Hall, 721 Courtney Street, all day today. Sessions are at 9:00 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. and move to St. Andrew's Kirk Hall for the evening performances at 7:30 p.m.

The final honor performance in voice and piano is at Central Junior High School at 8 p.m., and will include the Rose Bowl competition.

Sessions continued yesterday morning and afternoon in the vocal, piano and speech arts division.

There was, as usual, no lack of competitors in the younger piano classes. There were 30 in the under-10 division, won by nine-year-old Becky Jay, who continued winning as she took the Beta Sigma Phi award and the Bach championship and was runner-up in the sonata championship earlier this week.

Mary Jackson came out on top in the under-11 section in a class of 32 competitors. Her score of 86 topped that of Marylou Foster by a single point.

Both Becky Jay and Mary Jackson thus reached the finals of the junior and intermediate championship which was decided last night.

An 85, scored by Elizabeth Malenfont in the girls' under-10 class, was the highest mark in the morning's speech arts.

Group 3 of Helen Green's students made an 84 in the Dramatic Group contest.

Six vocal classes were heard in the morning, including the girl's sacred solo, under 10.

Speaking of the youthful singers, adjudicator Dr. Sydney Northcote said: "They come on the stage and they capture your heart."

To Jennifer Angus, class winner with 84 points, the adjudicator added: "You convinced me that I had to listen to you!" Jennifer won the Mr. D. Gillespie award of $20.

Wins Her Class

Norma Elwell, a consistently good performer, won the folk song class for 14 and 15-year-old contestants with 88 and both Laura Greos and Roy Silver had 86s in other classes.

However, Roy's three scores of 86 were not enough to earn him the Musical Art Society bursary in junior vocal classes. Rino Elverhoy averaged 86½.

Winner yesterday afternoon of the male operatic solo class was Allan Husband with 86. While this puts him directly in line for the Rose Bowl competition this evening, it did not quite equal Pamela Paver's mark in the female operatic section with the result the J. Ingram Smith prize in operatic classes went to Miss Paver.

The afternoon session in speech arts brought forth some very high marks. Timothy Vernon had a 95 and Jennifer Self had a pair of 90s, repeating her performance of Wednesday evening.

Afternoon piano classes—five of them with 43 entries—produced another competitor for the junior and intermediate championship. Frances Crampton won the under-12 section with 86 marks, followed by Pat Patterson with 84.

Wide Swaths

Frances, like Becky Jay, has been cutting a wide and impressive swath through the piano classes, starting early in the week when she won, among other things, the sonata championship.

Cure for Insomnia? Find Out the Cause

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

(First of a series of three articles on insomnia.)

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there a cure for insomnia? I'm 36 years old. I've had it on and off for five years. Some nights it takes me several hours to fall asleep.

People tell me to try this and that, but nothing helps. My doctor will not give me sleeping pills. —MRS. J.J.

Dear Doctor: My husband and I are past 70 and have trouble sleeping. What is your treatment? What drugs should we buy? —MRS. S.L.

Both letter writers want some sort of means, preferably a pill, that will permit them to sleep peacefully and quietly the whole night through.

How widespread is the problem of insomnia? There are no statistics because there's no real way of defining the word. Does it mean never being able to sleep promptly? Or seldomly? Or occasionally?

ALL DEGREES

There are all degrees of insomnia. Does it mean having to wait an hour to get to sleep? Or two, or three? How many? Does it mean waking up in the night? If so, how often? Does it mean awakening once or twice in eight hours? Or isn't it insomnia unless you hear the clock strike the hour at least five or six times in the course of the night?

Well, as far as I am concerned, insomnia covers any of these conditions. If you have consistent trouble getting to sleep, or if you regularly complain of waking up too often, and it interferes with getting enough rest during the hours you reasonably set aside for sleeping, I'm willing to call it insomnia—and to reveal what I know about overcoming it.

For insomnia CAN be overcome.

There are certain rules you will have to know, and understand, and believe.

First: Why is it that babies rarely have this trouble, but that many people frequently do? The cure for insomnia doesn't consist of finding some magic sleep-producer. The real cure is to FIND OUT WHAT KEEPS YOU AWAKE.

Second: You must do something about these causes. This may require some moderate change in your way of living. You can't stubbornly hang on to your sleep-destroying habits and still expect somebody or something else to provide an easy way to put you to sleep.

Third: You MUST develop confidence in your ability to sleep. Nobody ever learned to ice skate while telling himself in his secret heart that he always knew he would fall down.

Tomorrow we'll continue with insomnia.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does beer injure the liver? I've heard so much I'd like the facts. —M.E.

Moderate consumption of beer won't injure the liver. But if you mean heavy drinking, liver damage is one of the likely consequences of excessive use of alcohol in ANY form.

Six-Month Term For Robin Hood Of Calgary Bank

CALGARY—A former Scotland Yard detective who "played Robin Hood" with money belonging to the Bank of Nova Scotia has been sentenced to six months in jail. William John Perkins, 34-year-year-old former landing officer with the bank, last week pleaded guilty to theft by conversion of $9,000. Court was told he kept less than $1,500 himself and used the remainder to pay off legitimate bank loans on which borrowers were not able to keep up payments.

One of the cases involved a mother of 10 children who was not able to repay her loan.

Magistrate Fred Thurgold said he could not justify placing Perkins on suspended sentence. "I've considered very carefully the things said on behalf of the accused. I've considered the offence itself, its nature, gravity and the circumstances surrounding it," said the magistrate.

As Silent Crowds Watch

Bedouins Stone Student

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — Silent crowds Thursday watched khaki-robed army Bedouins stone and beat-up a student demonstrator and knock him head-over-heels down a steep, 40-foot hillside.

The youth was covered with blood from multiple injuries by the time the Bedouins handed him over to police.

The incident followed yet another students' demonstration in favor of United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser in the heart of the Jordanian capital.

The demonstrations kept tension at fever pitch following the introduction of new heavy troop reinforcements. An open lot near the city's newest hotel was being used by the troops as a stand-by area.

There were at least seven armored cars and several troop-filled trucks.

I watched the student demonstrators scramble up hillsides to flee from Bedouins wielding heavy staves.

One of the Bedouins was felled by a stone hurled by a student. Another Bedouin raised his rifle, a student fell to the ground, but it was not clear whether he had been shot.

One of the Bedouins closed on the floored and cowering student—aged about 16 — and stoned him from close range while other Bedouins covered him with rifles.

The student struggled to his feet but was hit on the head by a stave and tumbled down the hillside. At the bottom, other Bedouins beat him up before handing him over to police.

Meanwhile, at King Hussein's "palace of happiness" outside the city, the king's British-born wife, Princess Mouna, celebrated her 22nd birthday with a private family party.

Failure to Spot Spy Blamed on Dead Man

LONDON (Reuters)—A government-appointed tribunal investigating the spying career of admiralty clerk William John Vassall has cleared his superiors of responsibility for his seven years of undetected espionage for the Soviet Union.

Instead the tribunal's 50,000-word report, made public Thursday, blamed an admiralty intelligence official now dead for failing to spot the 36-year-old Vassall as a homosexual and a security risk.

The three - man tribunal, set up to investigate allegations of scandal and security lapses following Vassall's arrest last fall, specifically cleared the clerk's immediate chief in the admiralty, Undersecretary Thomas Galbraith, of allegations of an improper relationship with the spy.

Vassall, a parson's son and a self - confessed homosexual, admitted at his trial he was recruited while serving in the British embassy in Moscow by Russian agents who compromised him and blackmailed him.

The report said he was selected from among 40 volunteers for the Moscow job, "under a system that permitted only a superficial check on his general reliability and character."

It said the official responsible, H. V. Pennells, civil assistant to the director of naval intelligence who died four years ago, was "remiss and lacking in judgment" in selecting Vassall.

The tribunal headed by jurist Lord Radcliffe also said Moscow embassy staff members were warned of the dangers of Russian subversion.

Tariffs Off by '66 In Free Trade Area

LONDON (Reuters) — Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath said Thursday Britain hopes all tariff barriers inside the seven-nation European Free Trade Association will be removed by 1966. (See Page 7.)

Speaking to the annual conference of the Building Societies Association, the deputy foreign minister also said Britain is concerned that Europe's economic differences could aggravate political problems and weaken defence ties.

It would help Europe and the whole free world to have full and frank consideration on political matters within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Heath said.

He called for talks between the free trade association and the six-nation European Common Market to try to avoid making current political differences worse.

The free trade organization links Britain, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Austria, Switzerland and Portugal while France, West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg make up the Common Market.

Canada, U.S. Mexican Pacts Urged

MEXICO CITY (CP) — A Montreal businessman suggested Thursday that Canada, the United States and Mexico enter into reciprocal tariff accords.

Joseph Besso of Montreal, president of the Canadian Silk and Synthetic Textiles Association Inc., made his suggestion at the International Chamber of Commerce international congress. He said the move would further economic development.

Besso suggested the reciprocal tariff agreements should cover some manufactured products, agricultural products and raw materials. This would be a "natural and realistic means" toward world economic development.

North American countries should point the way, he said.

A Telling Blow

ARCHBISHOP HAROLD SEXTON has long enjoyed the enviable reputation of being a man who speaks his mind fearlessly and objectively on any matter he believes might adversely affect the spiritual or secular welfare of any segment of the Canadian community.

On Wednesday, in a fine demonstration of impartiality, he levelled a stinging rebuke to his own church before the Anglican Synod here. The Anglican Church, he warned, is developing into a bureaucratic system in which too much time is being spent on organization and too little on people.

"Let us realize afresh that our mission is with people, and nothing can replace that care," the archbishop declared.

Except among the most incurable bigots the archbishop's words should strike a responsive and sympathetic chord not only within the Anglican Church but throughout the whole broad realm of Christendom in Canada.

The dangers of bureaucracy, as the archbishop well knows, do not constitute a threat to churches alone. Indeed its evils are so widely spread that it touches upon almost every business, recreational and charitable activity in the land.

Canadians of all ages have in recent years become probably the most over-organized, dictated to, ordered about, and led-by-the-nose people in the world. We have now reached the ridiculous point that where the officialdom of our three levels of government leave off the bureaucracy of private organizations take over.

In delivering his criticism of bureaucracy in the church, Archbishop Sexton also strikes a telling blow on behalf of all of us who still appreciate a little elbow room in our lives.

Why Not Quit?

A NOTE FROM Washington says the next U.S.-manned orbital flight—20 times round the globe—will still take place next month. One doesn't say "who cares?" and the flight will be hazardous for the astronaut concerned, but the excitement of space travel has worn off.

So many satellites of one kind and another are now circling the earth the novelty has disappeared.

More to the point would be agreement on another phase of the cold-war rivalry that holds the world in captivity—that of the vexious nuclear test problem. President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan will try again to persuade Premier Khrushchev to a test-ban treaty.

East and West have in abundance weapons enough to destroy each other; it would seem a senseless redundancy to continue to poison the atmosphere by experiments leading to more and more frightening lethal power.

An end at least to this aspect of continued rivalry should appeal as much to one side as the other.

The Fishing Treaty

NO TIME is being lost by the new federal government in coming to grips with the important question of accepting or rejecting the recommendations of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission that the Japanese be allowed to fish for halibut in the eastern Bering Sea and for herring west of the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Fisheries Minister H. J. Robichaud will come quickly to Vancouver to hear representations on the subject before the decision is made, and this is as it should be. Canada has taken extraordinarily long to make up its mind on the treaty amendments approved by Japan and the United States, the two other partners.

Mr. Robichaud no doubt will hear renewed expressions of opposition from the fishermen's union, which regards the recognition of Japanese rights in the two areas as an abandonment of Canadian resources. He would perhaps be wrong, as a minister of a new government, not to give the fishermen the opportunity to assert this view afresh. But it is difficult to see how Ottawa can properly and wisely do otherwise than ratify the changes.

The simple facts of the situation are that the fishing grounds affected are on the high seas, and open to use by the fishermen of any nation but for the restraining influence of the tripartite treaty; that the three-nation commission unanimously recommended that they be opened to the Japanese because it was convinced that neither fishery was being fully exploited by the industry on this side of the Pacific, and that Canadian rejection of the recommendations could gravely imperil the treaty.

If Japan, dissatisfied with being unable to obtain the rights recognized by the commission as plainly hers under the convention, should decide to denounce the treaty, Japanese fleets could one year later move into all the Pacific fisheries, right up to the territorial limits of North America. The Russians, freed of any suggestion of restraint, might well come with them.

Such is the prospect—surely a disastrous one for the British Columbia industry—if Canada were to reject the treaty amendments.

Pride and Prejudice

STRANGE how the shibboleths of old notions linger. Once many people shunned eye glasses and hearing aids in the belief these betrayed what they thought to be an impairment of their physical and thus social status.

So much so spectacles of attractive design and acoustic devices which are almost invisible have eventuated, sometimes in combination.

Pride it was that for long held the afflicted in bondage.

One had thought this ancient illusion had disappeared but it took a spectacular demonstration the other day of the virtue of eye glasses to free a big-league baseballer of his inhibition. He hit a home run.

And this came about because he put his glasses on.

He had been advised three years before that he needed spectacles but, says he, "I had a silly idea they showed weakness in a man."

Now he is cured. His batting will improve and so will his prospects.

The moral in this of course is that a person is indeed silly to do without needed vision or hearing aids. These adjuncts are actually now quite fashionable; one even suspects some people wear fancy-shaped glasses who don't really need them.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax . . ."

By TOM TAYLOR

I HAVE a doctor whom I like and trust; I don't think he'd ever do me wrong, even if he were a medicare scheme practitioner.

Or any of his ilk either.

Yet an Ontario surgeon warns against doctors handling a monopoly of this kind; too much power leads to corruption and a totalitarian outlook. He points to Nazi concentration camp atrocities in support of his thesis.

Up till now I had thought medical objection to a medicare plan was the power it gave a government, not the doctors.

But that is by the way. It's the analogy that is depressing. Nazi practices and Canadian doctors shouldn't be mentioned in the same breath. They don't belong together.

Our doctors have a medicare plan of their own. The MSA, run by themselves. As a patient I haven't noticed any tendency towards totalitarian attitudes. Quite the opposite.

To link them in the slightest with Nazi habits is deplorable. The Ontario surgeon certainly doesn't compliment his professional colleagues.

TO THINK of female celebrities as automatically being the ultimate in pulchritude is a mistake. Off-screen or the press agent's page they may be far from it.

The social whirl of royal weddings or celluloid splendor is not of itself a guarantee of beauty or personal attraction.

It's the polite fashion, though, and the promoter's push to prominence, to describe every lady of the headlines as good-looking.

There are as attractive girls in Victoria, I'll warrant, as ever you'd find at Hollywood and Vine or in Piccadilly or the Mall.

If the ten maids vying for the Miss Victoria title had been at this week's Windsor Castle party, for instance, I bet they'd have made the eyes pop.

And maybe one or more of them would have come home with a ring on the treasured finger, betrothed to a scion of the Establishment.

THE YOUNG King of Jordan says he is ready to die for his country. And it isn't mere rhetoric, one feels sure.

He has already had one or two narrow escapes.

Time was when dying for their countries was the normal pattern of kingship. The monarch was the national leader and he took his stance in the front line. He never commanded from behind. It was his job to set the example.

That's why so many of them didn't live very long.

King Hussein has this old-fashioned role. All during the past decade, ever since he ascended his throne as a boy of 17, he has been beset by enemies within and without. Only his wits and courage have kept him and his country alive.

The Middle East is still a cockpit, full of militant question marks. And Hussein has his work cut out to keep his nation afloat.

For him in truth it's a case of uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.

I find myself hoping he confounds those who would undo him.

The Packsack

Who Is Noofn?

By GREGORY CLARK

IN recent weeks I have had occasion to receive a great many letters from old friends. And it is perfectly astonishing how many of them are signed by totally undecipherable signatures.

With the help of the phone book, I have been able to sleuth the identity of my friend by guessing, and then looking up addresses. But that is only for the in-town ones. By poking through the waste basket and finding and matching up envelopes, I have succeeded in identifying other dear old buddies whose letters were entirely legible, but whose signatures were hieroglyphics like unto Egypt's.

One that has beaten me appears to be a W followed by a wavy line three inches long. Another mystery looks like Screwdriver, but I am jiggered if I can recollect a Screwdriver among my old acquaintances. There is an Olphrap, a Weefle and a wonderful, tender, kindly old friend who appears to be Noofn.

I suppose after fifty or a hundred years, a man gets a little tired of writing his name on countless cheques, letters, contracts, receipts and all the other things that encompass us in the new documentary world.

But it seems to me there ought to be a law.

International Commentary

In Favor of Arab Unity

By ELISABETH BARKER
from London

THE opening months of 1963 have seen rapid political changes in the Middle East. In Iraq, General Qasim, whose rule had led the country into a curiously isolated position, has been overthrown and succeeded by new leaders who are trying to make a fresh start in solving both internal and international problems. In Syria too, there has been a sudden change of regime which has thoroughly shaken up the political kaleidoscope. Both these upheavals seem to have been produced by internal forces, not by outside interference.

In the Yemen, last year's revolution produced no such rapid solution. The country has remained paralyzed by the continuing conflict between the new republican government in Sanaa and the royalist forces loyal to the deposed Imam Badr. The prolongation of the struggle has been at least in part due to outside factors—the large-scale military aid given to the one side by the Egyptians and the political support given to the other by Saudi Arabia.

Yet another new element in the Middle East is the emergence in northwest Africa of independent Algeria with an active and energetic government still busy formulating its foreign policy and its exact relationship with the rest of the Arab world.

The British have been watching all these developments with great interest — with friendly feelings towards the peoples involved — but with detachment. The British government does not aim to exercise influence on events within the countries of the Middle East: it is for the peoples concerned to choose the kind of government under which they want to live. For certain nations in certain circumstances the technique of revolution may be the only available method of political change; for others the surer and more peaceful method of change by consent is possible and right.

Britain did not hesitate to recognize the new governments which took power in Iraq and Syria as soon as it was clear that they were in effective control and were willing to honor their country's international obligations. Between Britain and independent Algeria there was no obstacle to the development of normal amicable relations.

In the case of the Yemen, Britain has been unable to recognize the new regime, even though a number of other governments have taken this step. This, however, is not because of any British wish to support one side in the conflict. On the contrary, the British government's policy throughout the conflict has been one of non-interference and non-intervention. The British can have no wish to prolong bloodshed and upset in a territory bordering on the young Federation of South Arabia.

Nevertheless, as long as the Yemen was torn apart by its own political feud and by inter-Arab rivalries, the British judged it wrong to decide in favor of one side. It now seems possible that with the United Nations aid there may be an end of outside intervention, leading to a settlement of the internal conflict: and this could open the way to a restoration of normal relations between Britain and the Yemen.

Apart from these revolutionary upheavals inside Arab countries, the most important and interesting development has been the movement towards union between Egypt, Syria and Iraq. It was, of course, the upheavals in Syria and Iraq which made this movement possible by bringing to power men who were more favorable to President Nasser than their predecessors.

These new leaders were impelled towards union by the deep-seated popular desire for Arab unity in some form which exists among nearly all Arab peoples. This desire had of course led to earlier efforts to unite, whether in the form of the extremely loose and often divided Arab League or in the form of a relatively tight political union such as existed between Egypt and Syria from 1958 to 1961 when the Syrians broke away.

The negotiations in Cairo for an Egyptian - Syrian - Iraq union have had to deal with two major problems: first how far was the leadership of Egypt and of President Nasser personally to be accepted as the corner-stone of the new structure; next, what was to be the future of the Baath or renaissance political movement in Iraq and Syria which, though strongly nationalist and strongly championing the idea of Arab unity, was at odds with the whole-hearted and exclusively pro-Nasser elements. The question was therefore whether there was to be a tightly centralized federation or a looser form of union, and whether the one party system prevailing in Egypt was to be extended to Syria and Iraq.

The Cairo negotiations have been concluded apparently in agreement on a fairly centralized form of federation with Egypt in the leading role.

However, the final balance within the federation will probably not be settled for some months. The British are watching the whole movement with great interest—but without any kind of involvement. Britain's one fundamental interest in the Middle East is the stability and prosperity of the area; any development which strengthens stability and prosperity will naturally arouse British sympathy.

The British have therefore always favored Arab unity; at the same time they believe that those political structures are most stable and lasting which correspond most closely to the wishes and needs of the people concerned; and they think this will be the crucial test of the new Arab Union.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

Ottawa was partly burned 63 years ago today—in 1900—by a fire that originated in Hull and destroyed two-thirds of the latter city. Fanned by strong winds, the fire leapt across the Ottawa River and burned the industrial sections of both cities. The flames took seven lives, left 15,000 homeless and damaged about $10,000,000 of property.

1908—Notre Dame de la Salette, Que., was partly destroyed by landslides.

With the Classics

For while the tired waves, vainly breaking,
Seem here no painful inch to gain
Far back, through creeks and inlets making,
Comes silent, flooding in, the main.
And not by eastern windows only,
When daylight comes, comes in the light;
In front, the sun climbs slow, how slowly,
But westward, look, the land is bright.

Latin America

Communist Count

By Copley News Service from Washington

ONLY one out of every 600 Latin-Americans is a Communist, according to the latest U.S. intelligence estimate of the extent of Red activities in the Western Hemisphere. The world-wide average is approximately one Communist out of every 75 people.

Contrary to what one might think, the largest group of Marxist-Leninists is not to be found in Cuba or Brazil or Venezuela, but in Mexico.

There, the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Intelligence and Research reports, the bulk of the leftist extremists are grouped together in the Socialist Popular Party (PPS), a Communist-front organization which takes its lead from Moscow. The PPS boasts some 70,000 members and has one seat in congress.

In Mexico there are also a Mexican Communist Party, with an estimated membership of between 3,000 and 5,000, and the Mexican Workers' and Farmers' Party (POCM), with between 100 and 200 members. Neither is large enough to qualify for legal recognition.

Cuba has the second largest concentration of Communists in the hemisphere, with an estimated 80,000 members in the United Party of the Socialist Revolution (PURS). Of course, Cuban Communists are in full control of that Caribbean island. The PURS' mission is to further consolidate the Red hold on Cuba by indoctrinating the rest of the seven million Cuban people in Marxist-Leninism.

Argentina, where the Communist Party has been illegal since 1959, is next in line in point of membership, with between 60,000 and 80,000. Argentine Communists, however, manage to attract considerably greater support than shows at the polls. Estimates are they drew 200,000 votes in the subsequently-annulled March, 1962, elections. The party also "holds a significant, although far from dominant, position in the General Confederation of Labor."

Brazil, with an estimated 24,000 Communists among its 73 million people, is a prime example of the rule that size of a Communist Party is not necessarily an accurate indicator of party strength.

The state department's intelligence report indicates that while neither the Brazilian Communist Party nor the Communist Party of Brazil, a dissident group, obtained seats in the Chamber of Deputies or the Senate in the October, 1962, elections, "at least four known Communists and a small number of sympathizers were elected to congress on other party tickets."

The report states that "the Brazilian Labor Party (PTB) of President Joao (Jango) Goulart and the small Brazilian Socialist Party (PSB) contain significant numbers of Communists and sympathizers . . ."

Significantly, Francisco Juliao, the organizer of Brazil's Peasant Leagues, a man many observers call the Brazilian Fidel Castro, was elected to the Chamber of Deputies on the Socialist Party ticket.

Communists in Venezuela appear to be more active than in any other Latin American country. Although the Venezuelan Communist Party originally supported President Romulo Betancourt's government, it "shifted to militant opposition in mid-1960 and has since caused as much trouble for the government as possible." In co-operation with the Movement of the Revolutionary Left (MIR), an extremist offshoot of Betancourt's own Democratic Action Party, the Communists have engaged in guerrilla warfare, terrorist activities and attempted revolts.

The Reds "may be" dominating some 150,000 trade union members, about a fifth of Venezuelan organized labor, and are strong in the Central University in Caracas. The Communists, as such, have nine seats in congress and can count on the votes of 16 members of the extremist MIR group, along with some from the Republican Democratic Union.

In Chile, Communists have 20 seats in congress and form part of the Popular Action Front, with the Socialist and other leftist parties. Chilean Communists number between 20,000 and 25,000 but they drew 10 times as many votes in the April, 1963, municipal elections. Party strength is concentrated in industrial labor and intellectual and artistic circles but the Reds are trying to strengthen their influence among slum dwellers in major cities.

Estimates are that there are between 8,000 and 10,000 Communists in both Colombia and Peru.

Communists have worked to infiltrate the Revolutionary Liberal Movement (MRL), a faction of Colombia's Liberal Party, but MRL leader Alfonso Lopez Michelsen has taken action against them.

In Peru, the Communists are outlawed but they work through front groups during elections, and in the labor, student and agrarian fields.

Other countries and extent of Red activity include:

Uruguay — Estimated 5,000 Reds. Communists elected four persons to congress last November on the Leftist Liberation Front (FIDEL) ticket.

Paraguay — The Communist Party is outlawed and most of its leaders are in exile. Membership is estimated at 4,000.

Ecuador—Communists number 3,000 but they have not met legal requirements for recognition as a political party.

Honduras—Between 1,500 and 2,000 members but the party has not satisfied requirements for registration. Communist influence exists among students, government workers and some unions in the capital of Tegucigalpa and along the north coast.

Guatemala — An estimated 1,100 Communists who were showing signs of considerable activity in preparation for the December, 1963, elections. There has since been a coup d'etat and elections have been postponed.

El Salvador: Estimated 500. Strength has declined, what with strong government measures against the Reds in 1962, and is now principally limited to students.

Nicaragua: Estimated 300. The party has been banned since 1945 but Communists claim existence of several front groups.

Costa Rica: Membership is estimated at about 300 but the Popular Democratic Action Party, a front, obtained a seat in congress with its one per cent of the vote in the February, 1962, elections.

Panama: About 150 members. The Reds have tried to capitalize on pro-Castro and nationalistic sentiment. Growth is limited by the fact that party membership bars one from teaching positions and employment in the Canal Zone.

In both Haiti and the Dominican Republic, the Communist Party has been outlawed.

The U.S. state department says that party membership is "unknown" in both countries. It reports there are at least two clandestine Communist political organizations in Haiti and that they appear "fairly well organized and growing."

The dictatorship of the late Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo outlawed the Communists in the Dominican Republic.

For the Nuclear Lifeboat

Picking the Passenger List

By CASSANDRA from London

NOW that the Spies for Peace have revealed the locations of many of the Regional Seats for Government in the event of a nuclear war, I should like to know who are going to be the selected individuals to rebuild the dead radio-active world that will be the result of an all-out thermo-nuclear war.

It should be an interesting list.

With a fine sense of loyalty to Royalty it has been suggested that it would be quite unthinkable not to preserve the Royal Family, and already it has been hinted that there is a special bunker for the Monarch and her relatives "somewhere in the West."

Then, of course (why of course?), we must have politicians, and politicians need a Prime Minister.

The Rt. Hon. Harold Macmillan?

What claim has the 69-year-old Premier for life over a babe born a few hours before the Day of Nuclear Judgment?

I will make a guess that in spite of the most elaborate precautions to get the chosen few into the official funk holes (the warning time of a rocket fired from East German soil at London is a matter of about thirty seconds), only a minute percentage of the population could hope to escape in an all-out atom war.

I think we would be lucky if one in a thousand escaped, which would make a total survival population in these islands of 50,000.

So we had better be careful whom we pick to place in the nuclear lifeboat.

Presumably we wish for life to continue on earth after we have spent seas of blood and untold treasure in destroying ourselves and our planet, so that means we must have men and women in the official shelters.

Do we want scientists?

After all, they and the politicians have made world-suicide a practical proposition.

Do we want the old as well as the young?

The unfit as well as the fit?

The lunatics, the lovers and the poets?

Is a doctor with hypodermic needle more important for the Sane New World than the farmer, the engineer, the painter, the preacher, the musician?

What are the qualifications? What is the priority?

Will somebody please show me the Passenger List for the Government ship sailing to a better life after we have all but extinguished our present existence on earth?

I SEE that Mr. Jack Hodge, who is described by his employer as "conscientious and hard working," has nevertheless been fired by his appreciative boss for wearing a large Australian hat while working at the filling pumps of a garage.

If Jack Hodge gets the sack for wearing a fancy-titfer, I should get shot at dawn for wearing my collection of hats.

They include a genuine Stetson from Reno, Nevada; a fur hat from Moscow; a skull cap from Jerusalem; a fez from Zanzibar; a Strategic Air Command helmet from an underground missile site in California; a green felt hat from Prague; a portable job from Marseilles with the words "Les Works" inside the leather band; a lace and bead hat from Tashkent; a lorry driver's leather cap from New York City and a great hairy creation from the bogs of Connemara probably made by leprechauns.

I WAS quite wrong in part of my recent criticism of the amended "Psalter" and apologise for traducing the Miles Coverdale translation and the Commission of the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, and evoking a general state of misleading confusion.

The clerical wrath upon my head has been great—and much of it justified.

When I make mistakes, which can be deplorable but sometimes understandable, I am often treated more with sorrow than with anger.

But if I make an unwise and apparently ill-informed intrusion into the Christian world, the response is remarkable for its lack of charity from practising and proselytising Christians. I will just quote the ungentle, unforgiving words of the Rev. K. Denerley, of the Airedale Vicarage at Castleford, Yorkshire, who has written to my editor and who, in his first sentence, rebukes the stray lamb thus:

"Sir, a man has a right to his opinion, but there's no need to be a bloody fool."

The subsequent blazing scorn in his letter does not abate.

Succession to Franco Fight Coming to Head

Power Struggle in Spain Battle to Death

By GERALD OSBORNE from Madrid

A struggle for power "after Franco" is coming to a head between the Monarchists and the Falange, Spain's only legal political party.

Since the outcome, unless Franco decrees some compromise formula, will result in the extinction of the losers, it is a battle to the death.

BACKGROUND

The Falange, spearheaded by at least two cabinet ministers and backed by the "old guard," founder members of the movement, are pressing the Caudillo to advocate a republican presidential system to succeed his absolute rule.

The Monarchists declare such a step was prohibited under the law when Spain was declared a monarchy in 1947.

The law of succession states that the chief of state can propose to the Cortes (Spain's rubber-stamp parliament) the person he considers should be named as his successor as king or regent. On the death or incapacity of the head of state before a successor has been named the council of regency assumes power.

Within three days it must summon parliament and the Council of the Realm which, in permanent and secret session, will decide on the successor.

He must be Spanish, over 30, a Catholic, have the qualities necessary for his position, and be loyal to the national movement, the Falange.

If no Spanish royal family member fulfills the conditions, or the Cortes does not accept one who is proposed, then a regent will be elected.

Resurgent Falange Versus Monarchists

FRANCO

The Falangists' new monthly magazine Es Asi (It Is So) has been hitting hard at the monarchy and also surprisingly at certain aspects of the regime.

The Duke of Primo de Rivera, brother of the founder of the Falange, asked in an open letter to Franco in one issue for a "bi-chamber" government of the Cortes and a senate, and for a written constitution.

Another open letter, addressed to "father," suggested that he should make his political will now. This boldness in print suggests that Franco is allowing the Falange to regain its political power.

The movement got further encouragement recently when Franco addressed the 160 members of the national council of the Falange. Perhaps impressed by General de Gaulle's successful tactics, he called the referendum the "supreme expression of the nation's will." The last referendum, in 1947, made Spain a monarchy.

The Falange believe strongly that there will be a referendum sanctioning a president nominated by Franco as his successor.

A prominent Falangist said: "The restoration of the monarchy will spell disaster. There will be violence, even civil war within 18 months. Spaniards will not tolerate the sweeping powers of a king. Our recent poll showed that only 22 per cent of Spaniards between 16 and 30 want a monarchy, and 58 per cent voted 'no'."

The monarchists called the poll an invention. But the image of Don Juan, the claimant to the throne, who is badly served by his timorous 50-member private council, has faded. He remains neutral and seems happy in Estoril playing golf and sailing.

A military plane is at constant readiness at Getafe airfield outside Madrid to fetch the pretender immediately after Franco's death or incapacity.

The immediate days after Franco are clear. The army will take over. A four-man junta is said to exist which consists of Captain General Munoz Grandes, the minister of war, and the military governors of Madrid and Barcelona. It will carry out what Franco has decided for Spain.

The monarchists believe he will not have his page in history tarnished by allowing a mere president to succeed him. But Falange and other growing groups will fight bitterly to oppose the restoration of the monarchy.

Blank, Strauss Out; Mende In?

Erhard Cabinet-Making

By STERLING SLAPPEY from Bonn

MENDE

Vice-chancellor Ludwig Erhard, who will succeed to the chancellorship of Germany this fall, is already setting about the task of putting together a cabinet.

It appears certain that Theodor Blank, a former minister of defence who now heads the labor ministry, will be dropped from the cabinet.

Blank, defence chief in the early days of West Germany's postwar military revival, opposed Erhard's nomination and led the losing fight to keep Konrad Adenauer in the chancellor's office until the next federal elections in 1965.

Strauss, although close to Erhard and a fellow Bavarian who delivered a bloc of 50 key votes for Erhard in party balloting on the succession, is considered too controversial to be of much use to Erhard.

Strauss was dismissed from the defence ministry last year during the heated controversy known as the "Spiegel" affair. This involved the arrest of several editors of the newsmagazine Der Spiegel, which had published material critical of German defence policies.

Erich Mende, leader of the Free Democratic Party, is expected to be named vice-chancellor, the post being vacated by Erhard.

The Free Democrats, junior partners in the coalition government headed by Adenauer and the Christian Democratic Union, are expected to insure Erhard's nomination when his name is placed before parliament later in the year.

No date has been fixed for Erhard's succession, although Oct. 1 is being discussed. This would permit Adenauer to play host to two important foreign dignitaries, President Kennedy and President Charles de Gaulle of France, who are scheduled to visit Germany in June and July, respectively.

It would also insure that Adenauer was chancellor when the Franco-German treaty is ratified. Adenauer regards the treaty as one of his greatest achievements.

No Alphabet

Somalia In a Jam

From Mogadishu, Somalia

Almost everybody in Somalia speaks Somali, but nobody can write it. It has no alphabet.

Somalia, now a republic, is faced with all the administrative problems of an independent country.

Members of Parliament can all debate in Somali, but there is no way to transcribe the language. State documents and routine government forms are needed. How are they to be printed?

As a stop-gap measure, the country has turned to written English and Italian as the language of record while Somali continues to be the language of daily life.

Government clerks helping citizens fill out forms must make inquiries in Somali and put down the answers in a foreign language.

A commission has been empowered to see that Somali is rendered into written characters, but this has raised another problem. Should the language be transliterated into characters taken from Latin or Arabic alphabet?

Indications are that the Latin alphabet will win.

An Orwellian Story

Intellectual Freedom Too Heady for Kwan

(From Hong Kong)

The stream of refugees from Communist China into this oasis is endless. And this story, told by a businessman with offices in Hong Kong, may be a sign of the times.

The businessman of this story was personally acquainted with one of the refugees, who shall be called Kwan in this story.

As he tells it, the businessman was seeking an economic research assistant. A fellow businessman recommended Kwan, a young Chinese whom he had employed on a part-time basis. Kwan had come to Hong Kong eight months earlier from the mainland and needed more work.

Kwan proved to be capable. He was an expert on the economics of Asia. He was fluent in Chinese (Mandarin) and Russian and his English was acceptable.

He had been a research worker at Peking University before he defected.

There he lived in a dormitory. His social life consisted of discussing Communist ideology with fellow workers. When he did his work well, he was rewarded with an increase in rank or commended by his superiors.

It is a tribute to the American and English newspapers Kwan read that they cut through his highly intellectual but Communist-oriented mind and prompted him to wonder if there wasn't something more to life than the glories of Communism.

"I decided to go to Hong Kong," he told the businessman, "where my father worked in a shipyard."

After months of processing he was allowed to go and like many party workers who are allowed to visit Hong Kong with official approval he was expected to return.

But Kwan had made up his mind to stay in Hong Kong. He thought he would find a new life here.

"I was appalled at the materialism here," he told his employer. "The wasted motion, the emphasis on having a good time seemed disgraceful."

Behind this confession was the fact that he was unable to adapt to his new surroundings. He could not find work that could challenge his intellectual capabilities as they had been shaped under Communism.

He was depressed by his shabby room in the teeming Wanchai district. On the mainland the campaign against early marriages had discouraged fraternization with young women. He didn't know how to make friends.

About this time his employer left on a trip. Returning a month later, he found Kwan on the verge of a nervous breakdown. He took Kwan to the Hong Kong Psychiatric Clinic where the chief doctor recommended treatment.

After a long talk, Kwan agreed to go to the hospital.

The doctor said: "This type of illness is almost an occupational disease with intellectuals from the mainland. The system of rewards is so much different here. If a person has a personality weakness it can easily develop into a psychosis."

How many more are there like Kwan? How many Chinese intellectuals have lost all sense of proportion and values that exist outside Communism?

Penny Mines Boost Trade At Vancouver

VANCOUVER — Heavy trading in a number of speculative mining issues brought trading over the 1,000,000 mark for the first time in months.

Kootenay Base Metal which rose from .28 to .30 was responsible for nearly one third of the total. Another big trader was N.W. Ventures unchanged at .23. Endako trading for the first time was 3.10 at the close.

Industrials and oils showed little change.

Toronto Weakness

TORONTO (CP)—After opening on an indecisive note, the stock market began a late-morning decline and remained lower during light trading.

Banks and most financial stocks were generally representative of the industrial drop, and minus signs were scattered through most other groups.

Steels, after opening weaker, were mixed at the close with Stelco, Canada Iron and Steel Company of Canada all down in a ⅛ to ¼ range, and Dominion Bridge, Algoma Steel and Dominion Foundries and Steel were up in a ⅛ to 1¼ range.

Losses in Papers

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks were generally down.

Papers showed losses, MacMillan falling ¼ to 25 and Great Lakes ⅛ to 19⅛.

Banks were also down, Banque Provinciale dropping 1⅛ to 30 and Nova Scotia ⅜ to 75.

Other losers included Imperial Tobacco, down ⅛ to 14⅜, Hudson's Bay Company down ⅛ to 13⅜ and Industrial Acceptance, down ½ to 25⅛.

U.S. Steel Active

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market repeated a familiar 1963 pattern Thursday—declining early in the day, then cutting losses and ending the session no worse than mixed.

U.S. Steel returned to the top of the list of most-active stocks, losing ⅜ at 50⅛ on 103,900 shares.

B.C. Power Hints at Gas

VANCOUVER (CP)—The annual meeting of the parent B.C. Power Corporation was told the corporation would be interested in taking back the B.C. Electric gas distribution system as part of a settlement with the provincial government.

A. Bruce Robertson, chairman and president, told the meeting directors laid down this policy at a meeting last July 28.

Mr. Robertson, asked by one of the 60 shareholders attending what B.C. Power intended to do with its money, replied he had made a study of this and reported to directors.

The directors decided the best course was to keep the money in short-term investments until the expropriation court case was decided.

Later, Robertson said winding up and distributing the money was the logical course if B.C. Power succeeds in making a settlement with the B.C. government.

New B.C. Pulp Mill Granted First Harvesting Licence

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Perhaps the most interesting point about the announcement that Prince George is to have its first pulp mill is that its owners will be the first holders of a government pulpwood harvesting licence.

Prince George Pulp and Paper Ltd., which is being formed jointly by Canadian Forest Products Ltd., a private company of Vancouver and New Westminster, and the Reed Paper Group of London, England, has been granted Pulpwood Harvesting Licence No. 1, with the rights to cut over 9,000,000 acres of timber land in the Prince George area.

TIMBER RESTRICTED

The licence will give the pulp company rights only to that part of the timber which is not considered suitable for the sawmills.

The expectation is that the cutting for the sawmills and the pulp mill will go on simultaneously on a log formula basis. In addition to putting the smaller timber to use, the pulp company will also provide the local sawmills with a profitable outlet for mill waste in the form of pulp chips.

WASTE WANTED

Hitherto most of the sawmill waste in the Prince George area has gone up in smoke.

The $50,000,000 pulp mill is expected to be ready to go into production by 1965 and it will find jobs in the mill for about 275 persons.

Peter Bentley, a director of Canadian Forest Products, said his company and the Reed group had been doing business with one another for many years and that they were "very good friends."

GIANT COMPANY

The Reed Paper Group is a subsidiary of Albert E. Reed & Co. Ltd., a giant British paper company with international connections. Its main interests in Canada are in Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper of Quebec and its associates. It is the world's largest buyer of pulp.

Canadian Forest Products is the largest privately owned integrated forest industry company in British Columbia. It has a pulp mill on Howe Sound and employs more than 3,000 people in its many and varied B.C. operations.

PRELIMINARY STUDIES

Two years ago Canadian Forest Products did some preliminary studies on a pulp mill in the Prince George area in conjunction with Northwood Industries, a subsidiary of Noranda Mines Ltd., but it abandoned that project in favor of the alliance with the Reed group.

Directors of the new company consist of officials of the participating companies. They are L. L. G. Bentley, P. J. G. Bentley, C. M. Edward, J. E. Leitsch, J. R. Longstaffe, H. W. MacDonald and J. G. Prentice, all of Canadian Forest Products, Vancouver.

REED DIRECTORS

Representing the Reed group are P. G. Walker, L. G. Sharp and Dr. P. H. Sykes of London, England; R. J. Chambers, A. C. Hill, H. D. Ruthman and W. E. Soles all of Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper, Quebec.

Officer-bearers of the new company have yet to be elected.

HUSKY MAKES PROFIT

Canadian Husky Oil Ltd., henceforth to be known as Husky Oil Canada Ltd. made a net profit of $126,000 in 1962, against a loss of $2,161,000 in 1961.

Glenn E. Nielson, president, told shareholders at the annual meeting in Calgary he expected the improvement to continue in succeeding years.

Husky has sold its steel fabricating and warehouse subsidiary, Gate City Steel Inc., to Bannock Steel Corporation of Idaho for $2,560,000. Husky owns 50 per cent of Bannock, but is not directly involved in its management.

BEST QUARTER YET

The earnings of Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas for the first quarter of 1963 are substantially higher than for any other first quarter in the company's history, according to president Wayne E. Glenn.

Net profit for the period was $2,612,000 (15 cents a share) compared with $1,591,000 (9 cents) in the corresponding period of 1962.

Mr. Glenn reported to shareholders at the annual meeting that HBOG now owns 65 per cent of Consolidated Mic Mac Oils and 54 per cent of Security Freehold Petroleums Ltd.

Herter Flies to Ottawa on Tariffs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief U.S. trade negotiator Christian A. Herter flies to Ottawa today to sound out the new government of Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson on the prospects for Free World tariff cutting negotiations.

Herter, former U.S. Secretary of State who was appointed special representative for trade negotiations under President Kennedy's Trade Expansion Act, planned to meet with several of Pearson's cabinet ministers and other government officials today and Saturday.

Purpose is to exchange views on how deeply each nation would be willing to participate in tariff-cutting talks, and to discuss possible ground rules for the formal "Kennedy round" of tariff negotiations that is expected to begin some time next year.

Technical talks aiming toward the formal tariff negotiations already have begun in Geneva under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. A ministers-level conference of member nations is scheduled for Geneva May 16.

Army 'Rescues' Y Campers

By JURGEN HESSE

What do you do when the cook's gone, 20 young campers want their hotcakes and no one can expertly flip a flap-jack?

This is what happened to the 20-odd YMCA Camp Thunderbird leaders when they awoke after two days of limb-tiring hiking around Glinz Lake.

ARMY TO RESCUE

The regular cook had to go back to town, so Cpl. Barrie Toomer of 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, stirred the hotcake mix, broke the eggs and whipped up a breakfast that had the angriest stomach licked within minutes.

"More eggs, anyone?" Cpl. Toomer called.

There wasn't a sound.

"Good," he said and sat down with L.Cpl. Jack Miller and YMCA youth director Douglas Wallace for a staff breakfast.

What was going on at Camp Thunderbird, where this summer 400 boys and 200 girls are expected to attend the annual camp period in July and August?

Plenty.

TRAIN LEADERS

Camp leader Wallace and his aide-de-camp Douglas Toole, 17, who will put in four weeks as program director, were training the boys how to supervise and organize campers 2½ months from now.

The army dispatched Cpl. Toomer and L.Cpl. Miller with a bundle of maps and a truck to help out the post-Easter training with advice, map reading courses and leadership on hikes.

The boys were thrilled at this unexpected help, and army and civilians quickly took a liking to one another.

Meanwhile, back at the camp, workmen were putting in a septic tank for caretaker Paul Leynard's house and fixing up the fireplace in the lounge and dining hall.

Between the bunk houses and the lake, a bulldozer was busy grading the area for a future parking area or playground.

Come time for camp, everything will be in top shape for the boys to enjoy weeks of roughing it to the tune of good food, swimming, boating, wood carving and hiking.

Why would boys—or girls—want to spend a week in Camp Thunderbird this summer?

"I like it so much here I would gladly move out to the camp April 1 every year and stay until October," said Mr. Wallace.

"Just look at the scenery, at the facilities, then tell me how a boy or girl, could possibly not like to get away from home for a week to rediscover what living in the woods can do to them."

Lack of Evidence Kills Charges For 65 Loggers

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP)—Charges of unlawful assembly against 65 out of the 242 loggers on trial in a theatre here were dropped Thursday because of insufficient evidence.

There was a murmur of approval in the audience. It was quickly hushed when Magistrate W. S. Gardiner announced the men still face charges of rioting.

But Crown Attorney S. A. Caldbick indicated the 242 rioting charges will probably be dropped.

The charges were laid against the strikers after a Feb. 11 clash at nearby Reesor Siding when three lumberworkers were shot and killed as a howling mob tried to prevent independent settlers from loading pulpwood for the strikebound Spruce Falls Pulp and Paper Company in this Timmins area town.

TORONTO (CP)—Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario High Court Thursday ordered new preliminary hearings for 19 men committed for trial on non-capital murder charges. He upheld the committal of a 20th.

Chief Justice McRuer ruled Thursday the only one of the accused settlers to have been committed for trial properly was Paul-Emile Coulombe, who also was the only one identified in police evidence at a preliminary hearing before Magistrate W. S. Gardiner at Kapuskasing earlier this month.

Doctor Learns Why Husbands Bare Truth

Wives Make Their Own Troubles

I Learned About Women from Them

VIRGIL G. DAMON, MD
and Isabella Taves

Tenth of a Series

I tend to be on the trusting side. When a patient has troubles, particularly with her husband, and tells me about them in gruesome detail, I usually believe her — until I meet the husband and find out the truth.

I once took care of the wife of a well-liked surgeon, when I was just starting in practice. She was mouselike in appearance, while he was a big, handsome man. She had a history of miscarriage, and he wanted to adopt a baby, but she was determined to have one of her own.

"If I don't help him to achieve something of his own," she told me, "he'll leave me. I've got to have a baby to hold him. He's having affairs with women all the time. You can see how plain I am. But I love him and I know he'll stay with me if I can only have his baby!"

She continued to miscarry and finally gave up, but still refused to consider adoption.

One weekend that summer, he invited me up to their suburban home to try to discuss it with her again. From the time I arrived until they put me on the train Sunday night, she criticized everything her husband did or tried to do.

She made him move over out of the driver's seat when he tried to drive us to the club Saturday night. She criticized his table manners at dinner that night. Next day, she wouldn't let him carve the turkey because she said he treated it like a cadaver.

I was angry and ashamed for him, and I suppose he saw it, because when he carried my bag to the train he told me quietly, "Maude worked to put me through medical school. She never had a college education and it makes her nervous before guests who have. I hope you forgive her."

I wish patients who complain to me about the wandering habits of the male animal could realize that most of us, once we are caught, hesitate to break out of even a very difficult situation.

For one thing, divorce is expensive. Even if a man doesn't marry again, he still has to support himself and another household and it costs more than if they were living together. For another, it is painful to break off any close relationship, even if there are no children.

Money can be the root of much conflict in a marriage. Some women have no idea of how to manage it. They charge, they buy on the installment plan, they hide bills. Even when they know how deeply in debt they are, they go on buying compulsively.

Others are so frightened of what might become of them in case of emergency that they cannot part with a dime without agony. I've seen households where women literally don't give their children enough to eat, unless guests happen to be there; and these are not poor people in poor neighborhoods.

I had a friend, a fine architect with a large clientele, whose wife overspent so ruthlessly that, when he died, he didn't leave a penny. He had borrowed to the hilt on all his insurance and even his office furniture didn't belong to him.

Yet just at the time of his death she was refurnishing their country house in French antiques, and had given away the old furniture to the decorator.

I don't know why her husband couldn't stop her; perhaps he had tried, and finally gave up. Now all she has is $75 a month from a charity organization, and she lives with her son and daughter-in-law.

The days of the big estates are gone, and the only people who can afford to live like millionaires are the ones who inherited money made before taxes.

Very few men today keep enough money after taxes to maintain that creature of another day—a "mistress." If a man is a playboy, it is apt to be "call girls" who take his money. Yet I see wives who explain away their ruthless spending: "I might as well have new carpeting as have Frank putting it into a little love nest for his sweetie."

Fear lies at the bottom of meanness, fear, and its unattractive twin, selfishness. Extreme possessiveness is always a sign of weakness. A woman isn't leading from strength if she follows a man with telephone calls all day long, if she calls back to check to be sure he isn't lying when he says he is at his office, if she is ready with a cross-examination when he gets home.

This kind of attitude can make a liar out of the most blameless man. And children can be affected by it, too. When any mother makes such a point of accusation before she knows the facts, their instinct is to lie about everything, even the most innocent things.

Exclusive Finger-Tip Start Reduces Starting Effort 94%

The 1963 Lawn-Boy is as easy to start as drawing a window blind. Lawn-Boy engineers have designed a new ignition system and geared starter that reduces starting effort an incredible 94%. Finger-Tip start is just one of many ways the new Lawn-Boy gives you your money's worth—here are some others:

Lightweight. Lawn-Boy is easier to push than conventional steel power mowers because Lawn-Boy is made of magnesium, a metal lighter than steel. It is unusually tough and is rust-proof.

Unique Grasscatcher. Lawn-Boy's Chute & Bag Grasscatcher vacuum cleans your lawn as you cut, eliminates raking. It's clog-proof; holds a bushelful; detaches and empties in seconds.

2-speed Mowing. Lawn-Boy has 2-speed throttle control. High speed for tough cutting, low speed for quieter, more economical normal cutting.

New "D" Engine. Lawn-Boy's new engine has 3 horsepower (working horsepower, not bench-rated horsepower). It will even cut through wet grass without stalling.

2-Year Warranty. 24 months against defective parts and workmanship.

Let your Lawn-Boy Dealer show you the new Lawn-Boy soon, see for yourself why it's Canada's best-selling power mower. 5 models to choose from.

'Spies for Peace' Active in Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — Two more "spies for peace" documents, claiming to reveal secrets of Britain's civil defence plans in a nuclear war, were received by British news agencies and newspapers Thursday.

DETAILS GIVEN

One of them claimed to give details of a regional seat of government in the southeastern part of England. It was headed "official secret" and was mailed from a London suburb. Copies of the same pamphlet were mailed in Cambridge.

The other pamphlet, mailed in London Wednesday night, contained what it called secret details about last autumn's NATO nuclear exercise. The envelope was marked "secret."

SECRET SITES

During an Easter demonstration march against nuclear weapons thousands of pamphlets were distributed among the marchers, pinpointing what they said were the secret administrative regional headquarters in case of nuclear war.

Touchy Task

Delicate task of polishing 10-inch glass mirror for reflector telescope occupied Oak Bay High School students Roger Williams, left, and Tom Gore. Telescope is being built as extra-curricular project by group of scientifically-minded students at school. Work is expected to take until September when finished glass surface will be chemically coated with aluminum.—(Bud Kinsman)

Women Gulp Sex Books

STOUFFVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Women between the ages of 30 and 35 are the major buyers of questionable pocket novels sold in retail stores, according to an informal survey by the Ontario attorney-general's advisory panel on obscene literature.

David Conn of Stouffville, a lawyer and chairman of the advisory panel, said Thursday retailers reported during the panel's investigation that whereas a man may look through several of the novels and buy one, a woman will pick up several and buy them all. In most cases, the women were between 30 and 35 years old.

Mr. Conn said he understands that young people do not buy the books, some of which the panel have ruled obscene. Most of the novels are issued by three or four American publishers.

Rebuffed Envoys Go Back?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a rebuff from Premier Khrushchev, the state department indicated Thursday the United States and British ambassadors may see him again in an effort to revive the stalled Geneva test-ban talks.

In a 90-minute session with the ambassadors in Moscow Wednesday, Khrushchev spurned a proposal to intensify and speed up the nuclear test-ban negotiations.

TOUGH TERMS

Khrushchev was reported to have talked in tough terms to the two envoys and to have threatened to withdraw his limited offer to allow two or three on-site inspections inside Russia to enforce a test-ban treaty.

A Washington interpretation of the report from U.S. ambassador Foy Kohler on the Kremlin session was that while Khrushchev took a hard line, he did not finally slam the door on a test-ban pact.

One reason for a feeling here that serious negotiations have not been foreclosed is that Khrushchev has yet to answer in writing the joint letter from Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan which was presented to the Soviet leader by the two ambassadors Wednesday.

The state department's press officer, Lincoln White, said "I assume the ambassadors will meet with Mr. Khrushchev or somebody else on this subject in the future."

White did not deny that the U.S. is disappointed by Khrushchev's position in his discussion with the ambassadors.

After getting Kohler's preliminary report Wednesday, Kennedy said he is "not sanguine" over prospects for a test ban. He termed the U.S.-British appeal part of a determined effort to "prevent failure from coming upon us this spring."

Why Johnson makes a 28 hp outboard instead of an even 20 or 35
28 is an odd horsepower rating for an outboard. But Johnson engineers built it that way for several good reasons. Some are listed here.
1. 28 hp will fit more low cost boats than a motor 35 or bigger. So for those who don't want to tie up all their assets in a boat, the 28 is perfect.
2. 28 horsepower, coupled with the right boat, gives you ample power to zip two adults around the lake on skiis. Smaller motors don't have the spunk to pull one skier let alone two. Yet when it's time to go fishing, the 28 can be run for hours at trolling speeds. The 28 is versatile.
3. 28 hp is ideal for those of us who aren't nuts about power. If you simply want to get out with the family and have fun without investing a great deal of money, a 28 is right for you. The 28 is a sensible marriage of power and economy that lets you afford more of the fun of boating.
When you're choosing your next outboard, trade up to a Johnson 28 electric or manual starting. You not only get Johnson's famous dependability, but beginning this year, it's backed by a 2 year warranty.

Pearson Names Parliamentary Aides

OTTAWA (CP)—Sixteen parliamentary secretaries to ministers in the new Liberal cabinet were chosen by Prime Minister Pearson Thursday, the fourth day of his "60 days of decision."

Mr. Pearson selected two MPs to be his own assistants in the House of Commons—as did former prime minister Diefenbaker during his term of office.

VANCOUVER MAN

One is John Davis, 46, an engineer-economist and Rhodes scholar representing the Vancouver riding of Coast-Capilano, and the other is the chief government whip appointed Wednesday, Alexis Caron, 64, MP for Hull, Que.

Most of the $14,000-a-year secretaries are youthful, new members of Parliament who have demonstrated a flare [illegible] ideas in Liberal party policy. Others were obviously rewarded for long service to the party and Parliament. The $14,000 includes the regular $10,000 MPs' salary.)

TYPIFY YOUNG GROUP

For the key portfolios of trade, finance, justice and external affairs, the appointments went to men typical of the younger Liberals.

They are:

Jean-Luc Pepin, 38, MP for Drummond-Arthabaska, a professor of political science and student of philosophy and law, named parliamentary secretary to Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp.

Edgar J. Benson, 38, Kingston, a chartered accountant and assistant professor of business administration at Queen's University, parliamentary secretary of finance minister Walter Gordon.

JUSTICE POST

John B. Stewart, 38, Antigonish-Guysborough, a consultant on legal and political philosophy for the Rockefeller Foundation and a professor at St. Francis Xavier University, parliamentary secretary to External Affairs Minister Paul Martin.

Ranked by the seniority of their ministers in the cabinet, with their ages and professions, the other secretaries, none of them from the Praries, are:

Yvon Dupuis, 37, St. Jean-Iberville - Napierville, a St. John, Que., businessman who was prominent in the recent election campaign against Social Credit Deputy Leader Real Caouette in Quebec province, parliamentary secretary to Postmaster - General Azellus Denis.

Jean-Charles Cantin, 45, Quebec South, a lawyer and former mayor of Cap Rouge, Que., parliamentary secretary to Transport Minister George McIlRaith.

John Turner, 34, Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George, a native of Surrey, England, who was educated at Oxford and Paris in civil law and now is a Montreal businessman, parliamentary secretary to Resources Minister Arthur Laing.

James A. Byrne, 52, Kootenay East; a native of Grand Rapids, Minn., and a miner and union leader, parliamentary secretary to Labor Minister Allan J. MacEachen.

Hubert Badanai, 68, Fort William, Italian-born automobile dealer and mayor of Fort William for six years, parliamentary secretary to Works Minister Jean-Paul Deschatelets.

Chesley W. Carter, 60, Burin-Burgeo, former teacher and director of adult education for Newfoundland, parliamentary secretary to Veterans Minister Roger Teillet.

Stanley Haidasz, 40, Toronto Parkdale, a physician and associate member of the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital in Toronto, parliamentary secretary to Health Minister Judy La Marsh.

John C. Munro, 32, Hamilton East, a lawyer and alderman in Hamilton from 1955 to 1962, parliamentary secretary to Immigration Minister Guy Favreau.

Bruce S. Beer, 52, Peel, a farmer and graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College, parliamentary secretary to Agriculture Minister Harry Hays and to Rene Tremblay, minister without portfolio who will become minister of agriculture for Eastern Canada when legislation has been passed by Parliament creating the post.

B.C. Boat Hits Rock

VANCOUVER (UPI) — Four men were safe Thursday after their fishing vessel earlier struck a rock and ran aground, 200 miles northwest of here. Search and Rescue officials said the 83-foot vessel Hornet hit a rock in Fitz Hugh Sound during the night and her crew of four abandoned the ship.

Helping hand was needed to steady this whopping 11-pound, 12-ounce brown trout landed in Cowichan River Wednesday by Ray Blunt, 114 Nichol St., Nanaimo. Blunt used spinning tackle with 10-pound test line, and fish gobbled up shrimp bait. Only one point marred Blunt's big day—fish was caught too early to enter in Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest, which opens tomorrow, and it would have made him a certain button winner in popular competition.—(Wilf Watson photo.)

United Finale On Tap

Playoffs are ahead, but no matter where United finishes in the Pacific Coast Soccer League it must play its semi-final and (hopefully) final in Vancouver.

So, tomorrow against Royal City, United says goodbye to its fans for another season.

United will use a juggled lineup, with Barry Sadler in goal, Dave Stothard and Len Anderson at fullback, George Wright, Bill Hamilton and Ron Jenkin on the half line, and Henry Vanderhorst, George Paul, Chummy Crabbe, Ash Waldal and Russ Ball up front. Game time is 2 p.m.

Price Cup final between Gorge and Hourigan's Kickers for the Victoria and District Soccer League's first division playoff championship will be played Sunday at 2 p.m. at Heywood Park.

After that, there is only one game to clear the league schedule—a McGavin Cup final between Gorge and Victoria West on an unspecified date.

Films showing highlights of the Brazil-Yugoslavia World Cup final of 1962 will be shown twice Sunday at the Fox Theatre by Victoria United Booster Club.

First showing, at 6 p.m., is for all members of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association, and admission is free.

The 8 p.m. showing is open to the public for 50 cents, with tickets available at tomorrow's United game.

Record Total, Perfect Game

VANCOUVER (CP)—Doreen Tuck, a tenpin bowler with a 158 average, rolled a perfect 300 game here last night on the way to an all-time Canadian women's record of 714 for three games.

Mrs. Tuck, who has been bowling for four years, rolled 300, 192 and 222 for her record total.

Harry Smith ABC Winner

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Harry Smith of St. Louis capped a tremendous performance in the American Bowling Congress Masters Tournament by defeating Bobby Meadows of Dallas, 898-746, Wednesday night for the title and $4,400.

Smith won all seven of his matches in the double-elimination tournament, and in only one did he finish with a total less than 852.

His peak came Wednesday when he smashed Don Carter of St. Louis, 974-887, to gain the finals.

Waste No Tears on Burnaby Norburns— 'They Served League Best by Leaving It'

By JIM TAYLOR

Burnaby Norburns have dropped out of the Inter-City Lacrosse League, and who's to say it isn't for the best?

Certainly no tears will be shed for their passing in Victoria or Nanaimo.

"This is perfect," admitted Shamrock coach Don Ashbee.

That may sound harsh, but cold facts back them up.

Norburns came into the league fresh from junior ranks last year, and averaged only 293 fans per game in Burnaby in what was admittedly a building season. This year they were to switch to Chilliwack, but finally gave up Wednesday, short of money and down to about 12 players.

Shamrock and Nanaimo officials, as anxious as anyone to see the league expand, had to admit that for this season at least Norburns brightened up the league by leaving it.

THE FACTS

They reason thus:

- Victoria and Nanaimo both need player help, and could get it by landing two or three of Burnaby's top players. At the moment they are considered league property but will probably be free agents by the end of the week.
- With player help could come a more balanced league, with Shamrocks and Nanaimo that much closer to the strong New Westminster and Vancouver clubs.
- Travel costs will go down, since the two Island clubs will be making eight trips to the mainland instead of 10. And travel expenses are what is breaking the league.
- A new schedule will do more to kindle the natural rivalries between Vancouver and New Westminster, Victoria and Nanaimo. This should mean bigger crowds, and attendance has dropped steadily in recent years.

GOOD SCHEDULE

That schedule has yet to be drawn up in full, but commissioner Tommy Gordon has taken a shrewd step in roughing it out. Nanaimo and Victoria will play 14 of their 30 games against each other, as will New Westminster and Vancouver. Mainland teams play each Island team eight times, in home-and-home series.

Gordon's reasoning is that Victoria-Nanaimo and Vancouver-New Westminster games always draw well, and travel expenses are negligible. At the same time, Vancouver and New Westminster are well matched, as are Shamrocks and Nanaimo. The unbalanced schedule could mean a league race closer than any in the past few years.

NANAIMO HERE

That race starts next week, when Vancouver hosts New Westminster Tuesday and visits the Mann Cup champs on Thursday, while Shamrocks open at home against Nanaimo Wednesday and play up-Island Saturday.

Gordon made it clear yesterday that he did not want Norburns out.

"We're trying to think farther ahead than one year or two," he told the Colonist. "We want to put lacrosse in every major city in B.C. Norburns were the first step in that expansion. I hope they'll be back next season."

BIDDING OPENS

But now the bidding starts.

Sohen Gill and Bill Bradley of Norburns were at a New Westminster practice last night. John Surtiak, Marty Jordon and Les Glover, all Vancouver juniors who were made Burnaby property, revert back to Vancouver, but you can bet other teams will be bidding for them.

Ashbee had the phones working overtime last night.

Oil Kings Reach Cup Final

BRANDON — Edmonton Oil Kings scored twice in overtime here last night to beat Brandon Wheat Kings, 5-3, and became the first team in history to win four straight western Canada junior hockey titles.

Oil Kings now go on to the Memorial Cup final, probably against Niagara Falls, which took a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven eastern final with a 10-1 victory over Espanola last night.

Doug Fox scored twice in the third period for Edmonton to force the overtime, then scored the winner at 8:32. Butch Paul got the final goal with 30 seconds to play.

OUTDOORS

with Alec Merriman

This is the weekend we have been waiting for . . . The Colonist King Fisherman contest opens at the crack of dawn Saturday, and continues until Oct. 20.

Lake fishing is reported pretty good in almost any lake; big white springs are in Saanich Inlet and other big springs are making their way down the coast past Jordan River; river fishing is pretty good for trout and there are a few fresh run steelies about for anyone seeking a river trout Prince Button.

The white springs have arrived in Saanich Inlet and they are the bigger fish. On Wednesday, Bill Gamble got a 22:4-pounder in the Narrows of Finlayson Arm on 150 feet of line, and Krippled Minnow, no flasher.

On Saturday Jim Gilbert got a 21:10-pounder in the Deep Hole on 400 feet of line and Krippled Minnow. Sid Sidaway landed an 18:12-pounder off Whittaker Point Saturday and on Sunday John Rose caught a 17:7-pounder and a seven-pounder off Coles Bay. Wes Fulton hit into a 13-pounder and a seven-pounder off Willis Point on Sunday. Roy Smith and Vern Palliser landed eight fish between eight to 14 pounds Sunday in the Narrows to Chesterfield Rock circle in Finlayson Arm.

Small shrimp are numerous in Finlayson Arm now and herring and minnows are busy feeding on them, while bluebacks wait for the bait below and the bigger springs are still deeper.

The blues are still finnicky on the bite. Most have been in the Narrows to Stone House waters where there are also a number of weighing-size springs. McKenzie Bay to the White Lady has a concentration of springs and Willis Point to McKenzie Bay has been productive.

On Sunday three brothers, S., W. and R. Doidge had 18 blues on lake trolls from Chesterfield Rock to the White Lady. Saturday, Bruce Lehr got a 19:2-pounder in Misery Bay. Guide Gordy Lamont has been picking them up in Misery Bay.

At Oak Bay there has been a good run of blues off Centre Reef and a few nice springs have been taken. Ernest Burrows and Rocky Maysmith have landed 20-pounders off the islands in Oak Bay waters.

Pedder Bay, which had been fairly good, slackened off at the weekend, but commercial boys have been hitting them in Sooke to Jordan River waters . . . and they are moving down coast. Port Renfrew has been having good spring salmon fishing in San Juan Bay.

Commercial fishermen have been getting a few fish off Kuper and Thetis islands in the Chemainus area.

Low tides for clam digging and oyster gathering this week.

On the freshwater scene don't forget your fishing licence expires Tuesday and a new one is needed by Wednesday morning.

All lakes in the Campbell River-Courtenay area are reported good and Jim Boulding says good catches are being taken at the far end of Buttle now. Limit catches have been coming from Cedar and Roberts Lakes late in the day.

Puntledge and Tsolum Rivers have been good for trout.

Murray Cree reports there are still fresh-run steelhead in the Big Qualicum, Little Qualicum and Englishman Rivers and all three are giving up good cutthroat fishing on worms and small spin 'n' glos.

Bill Ravenhill reports Cowichan Lake has had some good days for both fly fishermen and trollers. Rod Smith of Victoria landed a three-pounder on fly. Marble Bay and entrance to Bear Lake have been hot spots and the bottom end of the north arm has been pretty good.

Bucky Kennett says they are still getting a few steelies from the Cowichan. There are also fresh-run steelies in the Koksilah and Chemainus Rivers.

Mid-week rains may bring rivers to nice fishing condition.

Japanese Ingenuity Solves Problem

Space is at a premium in Tokyo's Shiba Park but it didn't deter enterprising Japanese from making what they have go a long way in helping out nation's horde of golfers. Latest thing in driving ranges is this semi-circular building with a three-level range which can handle 200 golfers at one time, two-thirds under cover.—(Fednews)

What Team Loses Winning? New York Mets, Naturally

New York Mets, it is feared, may be making a mistake with their current glamor-losing win streak.

No one seriously thinks Casey Stengel's beloved bumpkins can keep it up, but by winning as often as they have of late they have tended to prove they are just ordinary baseball players. And that could be bad. Their fans didn't mind them losing 70 per cent of the time, and they wouldn't mind at all if they won 70 per cent of the time but just being a garden variety of loser could be disastrous.

THESE ARE METS?

But the Mets aren't thinking about that just now. Yesterday they made it six victories in their last seven games, and found themselves only two games out of the National League's first division despite the eight-game losing streak which opened their season. Never before have the Mets reached the .400 baseball they now boast.

Roger Craig, who got no runs from his teammates in his first two starts, once losing, 0-1, in 10 innings, made three runs stand up for his first win of the season, 3-2.

Veteran Frank Thomas, who was batting .067 after two weeks, drove in all three New York runs, two of them with his second home run.

Meanwhile, San Francisco Giants regained the lead with Ed Bailey driving in three runs and Orlando Cepeda two in an 8-4 conquest of St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards left 12 runners on the bags, seven in the first three innings.

BAD DEAL

Deals came back to haunt Milwaukee Braves at Houston. Don Nottebart pitched into the eighth inning to get credit for his third win in a still-unbeaten season. Don McMahon shut off the Braves when they tried to rally and Al Spangler was a hitting star. The trio are all ex-Braves.

At Los Angeles in a night game, the Dodgers pounded Cincinnati's Joey Jay, now 0-4, for a 7-1 victory over the Reds that left them half a game out of the lead.

John Roseboro, Willie Davis and Ron Fairley contributed homers and Stu Miller held Reds to five hits for his second straight win.

Maury Wills, Dodgers super-sneak, stole his first two bases of the season, and was caught in one other attempt. Last year he broke baseball's all-time record by snitching 104.

ORIOLES LEAD

Baltimore Orioles jumped back into the American League lead by shading Kansas City's green-liveried Athletics, 3-2, on a 10th-inning home run by Jim Gentile.

Los Angeles got four bases-empty home runs, two by Leon Wagner and one each by Bob Rodgers and Ken Hunt in outscoring Detroit Tigers, 7-5. Hank Aguirre, who had started, finished and won three times, went out in the fourth inning and took his first loss.

FORD FRICK . . . steps in

Balk-Rule Problem Brings in Big Boss

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said Thursday the balk rule, which has created such a furore in the National League this season, will be discussed at an executive council meeting to be held shortly.

Frick, who has stayed out of the general controversy until now, said he wants the rule to be interpreted the same way by both major leagues if it remains in the book.

"My chief concern is uniformity," he said. "At the executive council meeting we'll simply have to determine what is meant by stop."

Frick was referring to the rule which says a pitcher must come to a full one-second stop in his pitching motion when he is delivering the ball with a runner on base.

Umpires in the American League have been interpreting the rule differently from their brethren in the National League. They had called only two balks against 66 by National League umpires prior to Thursday's games.

"If a pitcher comes to a noticeable pause, regardless of whether it is a full second or not," says veteran American League umpire Joe Paparella, "it is no balk as far as we are concerned."

"I'm in favor of enforcing the rule," Frick said, "but it's nonsensical to think any man can try to time a second."

Even Wrestling May Bar Karras

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Alex Karras, star Detroit Lions tackle under suspension from the National Football League, faces the possibility of a similar fate in his wrestling career.

Michigan boxing commissioner David Gudelsky says that without question there will be fines or suspensions for both Karras and wrestler Richard Afflis as a result of a bar room brawl they were involved in early Tuesday in Detroit.

Afflis, 34, who as Dick the Bruiser wrestles Karras Saturday night in Detroit, lost a fall to eight policemen in the bar, and had five stitches taken in a head cut he said was caused when someone hit him with a pool cue.

Afflis' jury trial on assault and battery comes up Monday. Gudelsky said he hoped to assemble the State Athletic Commission, also on Monday to discuss the status of Karras and Afflis.

"This time they have gone just too far," said Gudelsky. He indicated he thought the fight might have been staged to publicize the coming match at Olympia Stadium.

Canadians Doomed To Distant Second

SAO PAULO, Brazil (CP-AP)—Canada won two silver and four bronze medals in swimming, weightlifting and wrestling Thursday at the Pan-American Games while the United States continued its gold-medal-winning spree, adding 14 more championships for a total of 33.

A world record and a flock of Games marks were broken in the weightlifting and swimming as the U.S. swimming team took four more gold medals for a sweep of the eight events decided to date.

Canadians swimmers, led by Vancouver's Mary Stewart, won the second-place silver medals in the women's 100-metre freestyle and the women's 400-metre medley relay. A Dutch-born blonde, Marjon Wilmink of New Westminster, B.C., copped the third-place bronze in the women's 200-metre breaststroke.

U.S. wrestlers won five more gold medals to grab the whole show in the mat sport with a total of eight championships. Ernest Chornomydz of Montreal captured the bronze in the bantamweight class and Kurt Boese of Kitchener, Ont., won another bronze in the lightweight division.

John W. Lewis, the British Empire Games record-holder from Belleville, Ont., was the bronze medallist in the middle heavyweight weightlifting class with a total hoist of 924 pounds.

The winner, Bill March of the U.S., set a games record with a total lift of 1,012 pounds.

BREAKS RECORD

Jose Flores of the Netherlands Antilles broke the world record in the press with a tremendous hoist of 337.5 pounds. The former mark of 350.9 was held by Russia's V. Stepanov. Flores earned the silver medal with a total lift of 1,006.5 pounds.

In six days of competition, Canada gradually widened its second-place position in the unofficial medal standings with a total of one gold, won by diver Tom Dinsley of Vancouver in the three-metre springboard, eight silver and eight bronze.

Sandy Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., turned in the fastest time of the eight qualifiers in the men's 1,500-metre freestyle with a heat-winning time of 18:10.8. Gilchrist, 17, beat Bill Farley of the U.S. by about six yards.

Roy Saari of the U.S. captured the other heat in 18:12.7 while Ralph Hutton of Ocean Falls placed third in 18:26.4 and qualified.

Bowlers Set

Victoria and Burnside lawn bowling clubs will open the new season tomorrow at 2 p.m., and extend an invitation for new members and visitors to attend.

Canadian Pacific and Victoria West clubs open May 4, Lake Hill May 8, and Oak Bay May 25.

Rights Sold For $926,000

NEW YORK (AP — The National Football League has sold the radio-television rights to its 1963 championship game to the National Broadcasting Company for $926,000, Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Thursday.

He said it was the highest price ever paid for broadcast rights in a one-day sports event.

The game will be played in the home park of the Western Division champion Sunday, Dec. 29.

Palmer Seven Back Close-In Play Weak

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Tall Australian Bruce Crampton shot a seven-under-par 64 with red-hot irons Thursday to take the first-round lead in the $30,000 Texas Open Golf tournament. Favorite Arnold Palmer was off on his irons and putting and ended up with 71.

Crampton, whose last tournament victory was in July of last year—the Motor City Open at Detroit—canned a 35-foot putt on No. 18 to finish two strokes ahead of Don January, Phil Rodgers, Johnny Pott and Tommy Aaron as par was battered over the sun-baked 6,775-yard Oak Hills Country Club course.

Crampton had an eagle on the 10th hole where his six-iron shot ended up four feet from the pin. He barely missed another eagle on No. 15.

Palmer, to whom this tournament has been dedicated, is trying to win it for the fourth straight year. No pro has ever won the same tournament four years in a row. Palmer's round obviously disappointed him.

But he did say that if he did not get his irons and putting straightened out he would be in serious trouble.

Aaron, one of four to shoot 66, eagled the 15th hole with a 10-foot putt to go six under par and he had visions of another 64—the score he shot at Houston last week to lead the first round. But he hit a bad drive into the trees on No. 16 that ruined his chances.

Ambulances, Police, Dogs Mustered

It's Not Until May 4, But Glasgow Ready

By GEOFFREY MILLER

GLASGOW (AP)—Police are getting ready for anything when the Rangers and Celtic soccer teams meet in the Scottish Cup final May 4.

Supporters of the two teams are bitter rivals. There's a long record of bloodshed between them. And 124,500 persons are expected to watch the game at Hampden Park Stadium.

Every ambulance corps in Glasgow will be on duty; a detachment of mounted police will be at the ready under the stands; heavy police details with a pack of police dogs will be posted in the stadium.

The Protestants of Glasgow shout for Rangers. The Catholics—Southern Irish and their descendants—shout for Celtic.

When the two sets of fans clash feelings run high.

This is the first time Rangers and Celtic have reached the final together since 1928. On that occasion police kept things pretty well under control.

But the previous time, in 1909, the fans went berserk. They stormed on to the field and burned the goalposts. They set fire to the entrance gateways. They slashed the hoses as firemen tried to fight the flames in the struggle.

Year after year, when the teams played each other in the Scottish League, fights break out on the terraces and people are hurt.

AN OLD FEUD

The Protestant and Catholic traditions go back to when the teams were founded.

Ranger fans, seeing themselves as patriots, wave Union Jacks and sing God Save the Queen before matches. The Rangers team wears the British national colors of red, white and blue—blue shirts, white shorts and red-topped stockings.

The flag of the Irish Republic flies over Celtic's stadium. The team wears green—the traditional national color of the Emerald Isle.

Trouble at league games between the two teams has been under police control in the last year or two. The police have worked out a system for keeping the fans apart. Ranger fans stand on the terraces at one end of the pitch; Celtic fans are put at the other.

The two sets of supporters have to travel to the stadium in separate buses.

Police stand at the entrances and frisk every fan for whisky and beer bottles. In the past, trouble usually has started with somebody throwing a bottle onto the pitch.

The police don't allow either Rangers or Celtic fans to wave team colors for fear it may start a riot.

Anyone who sings provocative songs is thrown out.

The rivalry between the two teams reaches a head with the Cup final. Celtic has won the Scottish Cup 17 times and Rangers 16 times.

Scot Soccer Adds a Week

GLASGOW (Reuters)—The Scottish soccer season has been extended this year for a further week and now will end Saturday, May 25.

Speaking Briefly

Rematch on June 27

Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston has been established as an early 5-1 favorite for his title rematch with Floyd Patterson June 27 in Las Vegas.

Originally scheduled for Miami Beach April 4, the fight was delayed because of a knee injury to Liston. Now it's set for Las Vegas, and the money will roll in for both winner and loser.

Each fighter will get 30 per cent of gate receipts and 30 per cent of proceeds from nation-wide closed-circuit theatre television. This first heavyweight title fight ever held in Las Vegas is expected to jam the 8,400-seat Convention Hall, at prices ranging from $10 to $100 ringside. Both fighters are currently in training.

Ingemar Johansson, who was knocked down in the final seconds of a non-title bout with British heavyweight champion Brian London which he won last Sunday, has been barred from European rings for one month.

We will be allowed to fight again only after his health has been examined and approved by an expert neurologist.

"We don't mean to actually bar him from the ring," said commissioner John Ericsson of the Swedish Boxing Association. "But he needs an examination just to make sure he's fit for another fight."

VANCOUVER MOUNTIES, fighting to clear the way for re-entry in the Pacific Coast Baseball League next season, have paid a $7,000 debt to the city and expect to own their own franchise free and clear by 1964 if they get a chance to get back in . . . Darby Dan Farm's Chateaugay won the $30,000 Blue Grass Stakes test for the Kentucky Derby yesterday at Keeneland in 1:48 . . . centre Phil Maloney of Vancouver Canucks, named earlier as the Western Hockey League's most valuable player, has also won the Fred J. Hume Trophy for sportsmanship and ability. He had eight minutes in penalties while scoring 90 points.

B.C. LIONS have signed guard and linebacker Jim Randall, a Vancouver-born player from University of Puget Sound who will be classified as a Canadian. He is a six-foot, 215-pounder . . . Edmonton Eskimos have landed Ted Stute, a 240-pound lineman who was last cut of Cleveland Browns last season; Winnipeg Blue Bombers have signed rookie halfback Neil Bengston of University of North Dakota, and Hamilton Tiger-Cats have signed lineman James Paulus of Stout State College in Ohio and Clark Kellogg, all-star with Cleveland Bulldogs in the United Football League last year.

SCARBOROUGH thinks a lot of Dave Keon. City council has decided not to name a block-long street after the star Maple Leaf centre. They're waiting to find a bigger street . . . British rally driver Derek Astle, 30, was killed Wednesday in the International Rally in The Hague . . . Dr. Cal D. Bricker, 78, who won track and field medals in 1908 and 1912 Olympic Games, died Wednesday in his Grenfell, Sask., home . . . Jean Prentice of Columbus, S.C., shot a one-under-par 71 yesterday for a one-stroke lead in the first round of the women's title-holders golf tournament in Augusta, Ga. . . . Duke Rodney won the $80,000 United Nations Trot at Yonkers Raceway last night by a head over Orbiter.

Pennsylvania Rules Out Save by Bell

A new regulation adopted by the state athletic commission calls upon the referee to continue a count on a knockdown, even if the bell has sounded the end of the round. If the floored fighter cannot get up before the count of 10, he shall be considered to have lost the fight by a knockout.

The new ruling, announced Thursday by Pennsylvania Athletic Commissioner Alfred M. Klein, goes into effect immediately.

Big Colwood Entry For Handicap Meet

Qualifying round for the annual handicap championship at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club will be played Sunday with a field of 122 plus post entries.

Seattle's Nurses Seek Golf Sweep

Mrs. D. L. Nurse, tournament medalist from Seattle, reached the women's final of the annual Empress Golf Tournament at Victoria Golf Club yesterday, and husband Dave made it to the men's semis.

Mrs. Nurse defeated Mrs. D. H. Perkins of Calgary, 2 and 1, to qualify for today's final against Mrs. N. Phillips, who beat Mrs. J. M. Robertson, 4 and 3, in an all-Calgary semi-final.

Nurse beat Art Davis of Calgary, 3 and 2. His opponent today will be Dr. Paul Zuelke of Portland, who downed J. C. Besson of Seattle, 2 up. In the other half of the draw, Jerry Gleeson of Seattle beat medalist Jack Robertson of Calgary on the 18th green, and ex-champ Press Clark of Portland took Don Benz of Portland, 2 and 1.

Garden Notes

Spraying Kills Bees

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

"Dear Mr. Chesnut: I am a beekeeper, and I would like you, if you have a bit of space in your garden column, to remind people when they spray not to do it when the plants or trees are in bloom, and to watch the drift of the spray on to nearby plants which might be in bloom.

"Last year I lost many thousands of bees because of indiscriminate spraying. It is very poor economy to kill off the pollinators along with the pest, for you can't get a decent fruit crop without pollination. Such heavy and expensive losses tend to discourage the keeping of bees in the area, as careless spraying can wipe out colonies of bees almost completely. At best, it cuts into the number of field workers very severely, and these are the bees that pollinate your fruit and berry blossoms.

"Spraying is a necessary evil and can give excellent results when used intelligently, but it can certainly do a great deal of harm when the timing is wrong.

"M.E.M., Victoria."

In the same mail with this beekeeper's letter came a note from David Scholes, inspector of apiaries for this area. Mr. Scholes is very much concerned over what is happening to the bee population because of spray-happy gardeners, and he points out the vast use of insecticides is killing off many of the wild bees and other pollinating insects, and in consequence more and more of the work of pollinating fruit and berry blossom is falling on the shoulders of the hard-working hive bee.

This problem has come very much to the fore in England this past few years—so much so Old Country beekeepers are actually making more money out of renting their bee colonies to orchardists and fruit growers than from the sale of honey. So greatly has the wild pollinating insect population been depleted no fruit grower in his right mind would attempt to raise a crop without paying a beekeeper to set up his hives nearby during the blossom period.

You will notice the moderate tone of both these letters. Neither M.E.M. nor Inspector Scholes are suggesting for a moment spraying should be eliminated—all they ask is spraying be suspended while the trees or bushes are in blossom.

Our beekeeping friend raises another point often overlooked—spray drift on to nearby blossoms. I have known conscientious gardeners carefully avoid spraying while his trees were in blossom, then cut loose with a blast of spray while the ground beneath the trees was covered with yellow dandelion blooms being worked by bees. Weeds should be cut before they flower anyhow, but especially before spraying.

* * *

Even the hard-boiled "save-me-my-mother-can-swim" type, who couldn't care less what happens to his neighbor's bees, should realize his own self-interest is involved. You can lose a crop just as easily through poor pollination as from pest damage.

JOHN CROSBY Draws Moral from Theatrical Trend

Lunacy Part of Diplomacy

Playwrights Use Madness as Plot

LONDON — Madness runs through two of the most brilliant London stage productions at the moment. One of them is King Lear, written by William Shakespeare some 400 years ago, and the other is The Physicists, written more recently by Frederick Durrenmatt.

Both are performed alternately at the Aldwych Theatre by the Royal Shakespeare Company, both superbly directed by Peter Brook, and with somewhat the same cast of actors.

Lear is an old play, but it isn't acted often, and the fact that it is a big hit at this juncture of nuclear history reveals a lot about the state of our nerves.

Durrenmatt's brilliant play opens vigorously with the body of a young murdered nurse lying on the floor of a very posh and expensive booby hatch.

We discover that she's been murdered by a brilliant but insane physicist and that she's the second nurse to be extinguished by brilliant but nutty physicists at that sanitarium.

As a matter of fact, murder is the wrong word, since insane people can't be guilty of murder; these are simply accidents.

However, there are three physicists in this looney-bin, two of whom have committed these accidents and the third of whom will commit another.

One physicist thinks he's Albert Einstein, another that he's Sir Isaac Newton, and the third has visions of King Solomon. We meet them all, find them likeable and very intelligent, and wonder about their madness.

Then we discover they are not at all mad. The most brilliant of them has fled to the insane asylum to escape that even greater asylum of a world obsessed with self-destruction. The other two are secret agents bent on capturing him for their respective governments.

Then, just when you think you have Mr. Durrenmatt pinned to the wall, he pulls another trick from his sleeve. The plot takes an extraordinary lurch and you find yourself forced to contemplate a whole new set of circumstances, all very plausible though horrifying.

Just when you've digested that one, out pops another. This continues right up to the final curtain, which is itself a masterful bit of theatrical legerdemain.

Durrenmatt is a wizard at sheer theatrical sleight-of-hand and, entirely apart from its philosophic content, which is very large, The Physicists is a rich evening of theatre.

Both actors and author view the macabre with detached good humor. This macabre humor — sort of upper-level horror comics for the intellectuals—fits the modern temper and is doing very well in the theatre everywhere.

Playing the same side of the street is Stanley Kubrick, one of my favorite movie directors, who is in England directing a movie called Dr. Strangelove, or How I Learned to Love the Bomb—a comedy about nuclear bomb warfare which wipes out the planet.

It too has a strong streak of madness, the war being touched off by a nutty general. The twist is that it's played for laughs. I have no idea whether Kubrick will get away with this, but I applaud his courage.

Kubrick, who wrote his own script, told me the other day that he wanted to put on his film "some sense of the absurdity" of the hydrogen bomb.

"The deterrent posture," he said, "is a kind of lunacy of necessity. It's necessary in this kind of cold war to convince your opponent that you are a little irrational. Otherwise your nuclear threat lacks credibility, because rational people would never use the bomb. Khrushchev has worked very hard at trying to make us believe he's looney, banging his shoe on the table and all that."

Lunacy, then, has become part of diplomatic strategy. And the diplomatic personality. It's not surprising that the playwrights are finding it more absorbing than adultery as a pivot for the plot.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Sinatra Tops Liz

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Frank Sinatra won't play second fiddle to anyone, not even Elizabeth Taylor. And he has now established his new movie price—$1,000,000 plus $50,000. This puts him $50,000 up on Liz. Now let's see if he has any takers.

There is a new Marilyn Monroe in town—Sweden's Elke Sommers. She is Paul Newman's leading lady in The Prize. Elke is blonde, voluptuous, in her early 20's and speaks English perfectly. I hope she has a happier life than Marilyn had.

Now it can be told why Anthony Quinn became so exhausted and left Tchin, Tchin ahead of the quitting date. He had a furious row with leading lady Margaret Leighton. I believe they have now kissed and made up.

Gloria Swanson's new admirer is scientist Bob Sarbacher. Bob, among other inventions, is marketing a new organic battery. Gloria was one of the first of the organic food followers.

The Artful Dodger, in Oliver, Davy Jones, was a jockey before he became an actor. He wants to ride at Aqueduct. "I hope you won't consider this dangerous Mr. Merrick," he said to the play's producer. "For publicity, it's worth it," replied David, true to form.

Peggy Cass told me she is still spinning from her experiences in the Irwin Shaw play, Children from Their Games. I read the script on a Sunday, I signed on the Monday, went into rehearsals on Tuesday, opened on Thursday, and closed on Saturday.

Milton Berle has done all the television he is going to do on the 30-year contract he signed with NBC a decade ago. "No more series, from now on I just get paid. If I do guest shots that is extra." When I was talking with Milt, I was reminded of the fact that both he and Billy Rose each had two marriages with Joyce Matthews. This last break with Billy seems to be the final one for Joyce.

* * *

I do hope the present estrangement between Olivia de Havilland and Pierre Galante is temporary. For years they have been so happy and they have two cute children.

With Vivien Leigh's Tovarich musical going along very nicely, it is nice that the man who admires her most, John Merivale, will not be too far away. He has a starring role in the off-Broadway production of The Importance of Being Earnest.

The Connie Francis-Don Rickles romance, is strictly for the birds. 'Tis true that Don asked Connie for a date. "You must ask my father," she replied. He went to her dad who told him, "I don't like your act." End of incipient romance. Connie is currently decorating her new $150,000 house in New Jersey. Coming up: a summer film with Joe Pasternak.

Seems we are going to have a "cage" cycle. There is Olivia de Havilland's Lady in a Cage. And now Jane Fonda will star with Alain Delon in The Love Cage—in the south of France.

* * *

Pat Neal, so excellent as the girl Paul Newman tries to rape in Hud, has returned to live in London. There has been a lot of tragedy in Pat's life. She lost one child by drowning. Another was seriously injured. It is not surprising that Pat's acting has a new depth.

Etruscan Racket

Tomb Robbers Make Millions

ROME (LST)—Archaeologist Carlo Lerici, arch-enemy of Italy's ancient tomb robbers, has himself been outwitted by vandals.

He invited a group of French art experts to the official opening of an Etruscan tomb recently discovered by the Lerici Foundation founded by him in Milan.

Just before the party was to enter the tomb, it was found that robbers had got there first and carried away wall paintings and other relics.

"Cutting instruments lying about proved that the robbers were extremely professional," said Signor Lerici. "They probably cut the murals into squares of 30 or 40 centimetres each and smuggled them in suitcases into Switzerland, which seems to be the headquarters of the illegal Etruscan trade."

Lerici switched his visitors to another tomb, which he thought to be undisturbed. When they entered, however, they found wall paintings intact, but the tomb had been stripped of urns and other pieces of pottery.

It has been estimated by Signor Lerici that 80 per cent of excavations in Italy's rich archaeological areas is being done by robbers directed by behind-the-scenes principals of a $3,000,000-a-year racket.

Police are unable to provide regular guards, so the Lerici Foundation has engaged a retired police brigadier to organize protection.

Lerici has introduced scientific methods into Italy's underground exploration. "We drill for relics as engineers drill for oil," he says. He lowers an electric drill, a periscope and a tiny camera into the earth and it is not until he has clear evidence that worthwhile treasures await him that excavation starts.

'Share Atom Arms'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Thursday night the United States should help Europe develop its own nuclear defence force because there is no way to stop individual countries from building an atomic arsenal on their own.

Rockefeller, a top contender for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, charged that the Kennedy administration's proposals for a multilateral European defence will lead to atomic chaos.

ONLY ONE COURSE

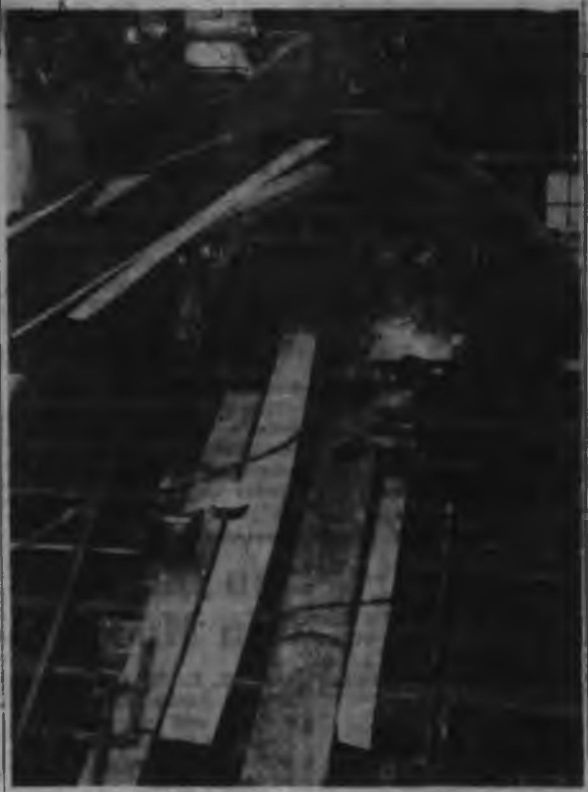
"There is only one course open to the free world," Rockefeller said. "That course is to devise a North Atlantic political arrangement within which nuclear weapons can be controlled and deployed for the common good of all free peoples."

The New York governor spoke at a banquet of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association's bureau of advertising, the final event of the ANPA's four-day convention.

TREATED AS DEPENDENTS

Rockefeller said the Kennedy administration is treating members of the Atlantic alliance "as dependent allies rather than independent partners" in efforts to stem the spread of nuclear weapons.

"It is high time Washington freed itself of the delusion that it is possible to maintain a position of nuclear monopoly which has already vanished," Rockefeller said, noting that Britain and France already had engaged in nuclear defence programs.



Steel Fishboat on Ways

Taking shape at McKay-Cormack, Victoria boatbuilders, is first steel fishboat built by the yard. After launching in mid-May the 44-foot drum seiner will be used on West Coast by owner Buford Haines of Campbell River. Welder is Don Rolph. —(Bud Kinsman)

Seminar Here May 10

Parley to Study World Policing

Third in a series of defence seminars will be held in Victoria May 10 to discuss Canada's contribution to international police forces.

Gen. Charles Foulkes, one of the organizers, is a member of a panel for the morning session and chairman of the afternoon session.

Closed sessions may be attended by members of sponsoring groups and invited guests, at 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. at Holyrood House.

G. S. Murray, department of external affairs, United Nations division, will discuss UN charter implications on military action.

A panel discussion at 11:30 a.m. will include Dean F. H. Soward, University of British Columbia graduate studies; Dean G. F. Curtis and L. G. Jahnke, UBC faculty of law; Mr. Murray, and Gen. Foulkes. Chairman will be Gen. Sir Ouvry Roberts.

Brig. I. J. Rikhye, of the Indian army, UN military staff chief, will discuss military problems in international peace keeping, at the afternoon session.

The session will be repeated in Vancouver May 11.

George Off On Earliest Alaska Run

Looking like new after extensive refit, Ss. Prince George opened the west coast-Alaska tourist season last night with the earliest Alaska cruise ever scheduled.

The Prince George is bound for Skagway and way ports on the first of 16 cruises scheduled by the CN this season.

All sailings except two are heavily booked but a good choice of accommodation remains for the May 22 and May 31 sailings.

The familiar red, white and blue of the funnel has disappeared and in its place is the CN's vivid orange-red and the CN joined together, which is the company's new trade mark.

Preston Freed on Second Count

Safeway Burglar Jailed

A Victoria man was acquitted of one burglary charge, sentenced on another, and heard a stay of proceedings entered in a third yesterday in assize court.

Larry Alan Preston was sentenced to two years and three months in the B.C. penitentiary for the Jan. 8 burglary of the Town and Country Safeway.

MENACE TO SOCIETY

"In your present state of mind you are a menace to society," Mr. Justice F. C. Munroe said in passing sentence. He was found guilty of the charge Tuesday.

A new all-male jury, picked Wednesday, found him not guilty yesterday of the burglary of the A-Lo-Hi Market, 4142 Wilkinson on Dec. 22.

Just before the not guilty verdict was returned, crown prosecutor Alan Baker told the court there would be a stay of proceedings on a third charge, breaking and entering Butler Bros. Supplies, 2046 Keating Crossroad, and stealing dynamite and blasting caps on Jan. 2.

Preston, who conducted his own defence, announced that he would enter an appeal against his one conviction.

He told the court yesterday that he had been sentenced to nine months in February, 1961, for breaking and entering. He also admitted a sentence of 15 years in Tacoma, Wash., for second degree burglary. He was deported to Canada instead of being held to serve the sentence.

"You are liable to 14 years," the judge told him yesterday, on this "very serious" offence.

"You could easily make your way if you would abandon your life of crime," he said.

"But society must be protected against you. It is my hope you will see the error of your ways."

PPCLI Plans Firing Camp

Firing practice at Albert Head camp will be conducted by 1st Battalion PPCLI Support Company from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, using .30 and .50-calibre ammunition.

They will fire 4.2-inch and 81-m.m. mortars from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. May 6 and 7.

On May 8 and 9 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Support Company will fire .50-calibre spotting tracer and 106-m.m. high explosive anti-tank, plastic and practice ammunition.

Ideas Cost Money Planner Points Out

It's no good putting fancy ideas on paper unless you can pay for them, Anthony Roberts, director of the Capital Region Planning Board, told a public meeting last night.

Speaking to some 85 women at a meeting sponsored by the Greater Victoria Association of Women Electors, Mr. Roberts described community planning.

"A good plan should be imaginative and far-seeing and at the same time it should be realistic and capable of being related to financial and time programming," he said.

Questioned about an overall plan for Greater Victoria to set zones for construction of high-rise apartments, Mr. Roberts said this was only one of many planning problems facing the area.

"But the public outcry on this subject is notable as a breach in the wall of public apathy which seems to surround all questions of the form of the future community," he said.

Black Ball Transport will start its summer schedule two weeks early this year, a company official in Seattle said yesterday.

The Mv Coho, which makes two round trips daily between Victoria and Port Angeles will make four round trips daily from June 1 to Sept. 15, he said.

The summer schedule normally does not go into effect until about mid-June, but the official said "we are starting two weeks early because we feel business will justify it."

IODE Gives $10,000 For Arts

A Fine Arts Foundation has been established at the University of British Columbia with a gift of $10,000 from the University Chapter of the IODE.

Income from the $10,000 endowment will enable the university to offer scholarships and award prizes to deserving students in the fields of music, theatre, drama, poetry, painting, sculpture and ceramics.

"The chapter hopes its action will inspire others to make contributions to the foundation," said Prof. B. C. Binning.

Grade 1 French Soon in B.C.?

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said yesterday that an exchange of teachers between B.C. and French Canada might help the shortage of French language teachers here.

However, he declined to comment on reports that Premier Bennett had said in Montreal during the federal election campaign that oral French would start "soon" in Grade 1 here.

Mr. Peterson said that if teachers were exchanged, the day when oral French could be taught from Grade 1 up would draw closer. But he would not say when this might come about.

He doubted the present teaching staffs in British Columbia could be sufficiently trained to teach oral French at an early date.

British Farm Setup Top Market Issue

Agriculture was the most important issue in Britain's failure to get into the European Common Market, says the French trade commissioner for western Canada.

Speaking at the annual International Night of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, Gerald Lorain said the system of British agriculture, under which farmers are given subsidies, is basically different from the Common Market system of taxing farmers and putting proceeds in a general pool.

"Half the arable land in the European Economic Community is inside French borders and 25 per cent of the French population is still looking to agriculture for a living."

Mr. Lorain also cited Commonwealth preferences and Britain's membership in the European Free Trade Association as other stumbling blocks in the way of British membership in the Common Market.

He said France is far from closing the door on Britain.

"The present idea is to conclude a treaty with Great Britain which will serve as a temporary substitute for admission to the Common Market."

No Increase In Mumps

Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, medical health officer for Victoria, said yesterday that there was no increase in the incidence of mumps in Victoria this year.

A report from Vancouver said the incidence of mumps was higher this year in that city.

Indian Bill Sought

Chief John Albany of the Songhees Indian reserve has called on the parties in Canada's new Parliament to get together long enough to pass at least one bill to benefit his people.

And, he said in an interview last night, that one bill he would like to see passed would be one giving federal backing to Indians so they could reap the profits from their own culture and handicrafts.

Now, he said, the profit is going to non-Indian "middlemen" who pay low prices to Indian craftsmen for such items as masks, totem poles and Indian sweaters and then sell them, with exorbitant price markups, to the tourist.

He praised Saanich Peninsula Indians who have formed a co-operative to market their own handicrafts.

Chief Albany also censured Japanese and other imitations of Indian handicrafts and said the Indians ought to have a copyright on their own motifs.

He said the recent granting to Indians of the federal vote was long overdue.

Saanich council will conduct an inspection tour of the new municipal health and welfare building on Vernon Avenue, Saturday morning.

It will be the final inspection with contractor and architect before the building is accepted by the municipality.

No date has been set for official opening of the building. The health and welfare staffs moved into it recently.

Dr. Chisholm is one of a series of speakers who have addressed the boys over the past several weeks. The 22 boys are counsellors and counsellors-in-training for the Y's Camp Thunderbird at Glinz Lake.

Parents of the boys are also invited to hear Dr. Chisholm speak.

So You Want Licence?

So you think you want a driver's licence?

The theory part is easy enough—you apply at the motor vehicle branch on Menzies, pass a written examination, pass the tests and away you go.

But what do you do if you work nine to five, Monday to Friday, and your boss isn't too happy to let you take time off?

Then you go see the friendly men at the wicket during your lunch hour. And this happens, as was told us by a woman friend:

Official: "Yeah?"

O: "Hm."

W: "A learner's licence, and can I come during my lunch hour?"

O: "We only have one man on from 12 to one who can take tests."

W: "Can I come shortly before closing time?"

O: "Last lineup for learner's licences is 4 p.m."

W: "What about the real licence?"

O: "Last lineup time there is 3 p.m."

W: "But what can I do?"

O: "I dunno, I don't make the rules."

Who makes them?

Victoria people are "not much interested" in neglected Indian children on Vancouver Island, the superintendent of the Anglican Columbia Coast Mission says.

Archdeacon Patrick Ellis of Campbell River was speaking at the annual synod of the Anglican Synod of B.C.

But Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral said the cathedral will gladly find homes in Victoria for the children if asked to do so. "Please write to me and I'll see if we can find homes for these children."

More than 100 students attended the first of three job counselling sessions arranged for this year's crop of high school graduates.

Counselling was arranged for by the National Employment Service and counsellors were provided by the Rotary Club of Victoria.

In most cases the students were determined on what they wanted to do and sought help on the best way to go about it, but some changed their minds after speaking to the counsellors.

Rotarians will also provide counsellors for the next session to be held May 1, and Kiwanians will be counsellors for the final session May 8.

New Parking Garage Will Be Prettied Up

Engineer's Answer To Plea

Special measures will be taken to ensure that the new parking garage now under construction at Yates and Langley will fit into the proposed redevelopment of Bastion Square.

The advisory planning commission wrote to city council suggesting that something be done to make the side of the building facing onto the square more attractive and to ensure adequate pedestrian access.

PRETTY IT UP

City engineer James Garnett said pedestrian access was included in the present scheme, adding, "all that is required is to pretty up the elevation. This will be done in conjunction with restoration of Bastion Square."

Council unanimously approved appointment of a city representative to a committee set up to investigate a joint Greater Victoria project to mark Canada's 100th birthday in 1967.

PAYMENT APPROVED

Council approved payment of the city's $6,500 assessment for Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau. Mayor R. B. Wilson urged no delay because tourist advertising is required now.

Ald. Millard Mooney said he was still waiting for the committee report to council on a year-round program of events co-ordinated by Greater Victoria Celebrations Association.

Council at a previous meeting endorsed a recommendation from the finance committee that the usual $2,500 grant towards Victoria Day celebrations be paid to the association.

The celebrations group, meanwhile, was given authority to operate the midway on Blanshard Street outside Memorial Arena on May 20 following its run in connection with the Jaycee exhibition.

Aldermen agreed a proposal for a six-week summer festival to be staged in the civic theatre seemed to be "a good idea" but referred it to the Centennial Square committee for detailed study.

SAANICH TURN-DOWN

Council received and filed a letter from the government advising the pollution control board had rejected a Saanich application for permission to discharge treated sewage into Colquitz Creek.

Ald. Austin Curtis will draw up a suggested program of entertainment to mark the visit of the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Ralph Perring, in late August.

Association of Women Electors asked council to work towards adoption of a master plan for zoning in Greater Victoria. The 97-member group also offered its services as canvassers in collection of necessary information.

Victoria Driver Winner

The sound of screaming tires and roaring engines filled the Town and Country parking lot last night as 34 sports car enthusiasts went through their paces at the Victoria Motor Sports Club gymkhana.

Most entrants were from the Victoria club, but out-of-town drivers came from as far away as Campbell River and New Westminster to compete.

LARGE CROWD

A crowd of nearly 2,500 people gathered three deep around the competition area and loudspeakers kept them informed on drivers and their clocked times.

Last night's competition was more a test of reflex and manoeuvreability, and showed how well drivers were able to handle their cars.

VARIOUS TRIALS

Points were gathered in two events which included stopping, starting, backing up and manoeuvring through a tightly-knit series of obstacles set out on the parking lot.

Drivers were timed and lost points for any infringement of rules or boundaries laid out by gymkhana officials.

Winners were John Storr, of Victoria, who took the over-1500 cc. class in a Triumph TR-3; Tom Hammilton, of Campbell River, who won the under-1500 cc. class in an MG Midget, and Gay Patterson of New Westminster, winner of the women's class in an Austin-Healey Sprite.

Overall winners, regardless of class, were Tom Hammilton, John Storr and Robert Trickett.

Grant Stephens, a spokesman for the club, said the gymkhana was so successful it may become an annual event.

Cheque Fraud Suspect Vanishes, Warrant Out

Courtroom Parade

A warrant has been issued for a Vancouver man who failed to appear in city magistrate's court yesterday on three charges of false pretences.

Bail of $500 was forfeited by Spencer Foley, who is charged with obtaining a transistor radio by using a worthless cheque at Simpsons-Sears Ltd., 701 Yates, on March 16.

The other two charges are two years old.

Foley failed to appear in court last week and, at that time, sent a medical certificate saying he had injured his leg and should "take it easy."

"I'm really not at all surprise he's not here," said Magistrate William Ostler.

Steve Remington, 39, of no fixed address, was sentenced to one year in Oakalla for stealing $25.25 from a cigarette machine.

Remington was arrested in a parked car in front of King's Hotel about 12:15 a.m. Thursday, with a metal cash box containing nickles, dimes and quarters.

Court was told the cash box was the property of B.C. Cigarette Vending Service Ltd. and had been stolen from the vending machine in the King's Hotel beer parlor.

Arresting officer Sgt. Robert Morris testified that keys to the vending company's machines were stolen in Vancouver three weeks ago. The keys were found yesterday where the accused had dropped them alongside the car, Sgt. Morris said.

Retirement Centre Proposed

$7,000,000 Project at Colwood Self-Contained

Plans to build a $7,000,000, self-contained retirement centre at Colwood for elderly Canadians were announced last night.

Plans for the "Chateau Victoria" development show nine buildings arranged like spokes in a wheel, each three storeys high. The "hub" contains a garden, teahouse and swimming pool.

Under the scheme, residents will buy lifetime occupancy of 428 suites at prices ranging from $9,600 to $24,000.

An additional monthly payment of $140 will include meals; laundry; outdoor recreation including a private golf course; swimming pool; indoor recreation including billiards, checkers, bowling and handicraft facilities; a health centre including a salt water spa, a library, and a registered nurse on duty at all times.

A comprehensive medical plan to cover all medical and surgical costs will be available to tenants for $5.82 a month.

Site chosen is 30 acres of well-treed land adjacent to Royal Roads Tri-Services College, overlooking Esquimalt Lagoon. It is about 12 miles from Victoria.

"It will be built as soon as there is sufficient capital in hand to build and provide a $300,000 trust fund to guarantee continuous operation of the project," director F. C. Pollard said.

"It could take as long as six months to start. It could take less.

"The project will be completely free of encumbrances, mortgages and so on."

The developing company, Chateaux Management Company Limited, is headed by former cattle rancher Charles Besler of Colwood as president, Mr. Pollard and Dr. Peter Banks of Victoria, representing a group of city doctors.

Appointed as manager of Chateau Victoria is Cyril Chapman, former manager of the Empress Hotel for the past eight years.

Suites available will range from a bed-sitting room bachelor apartment with 365 square feet of area up to a one-bedroom apartment with balcony and 725 square feet.

No minimum age has been set for prospective residents, a spokesman for the group said last night but he suggested that persons less than 65 years old might be required to pay additional rent to cover the longer life expectancy."

Lagoon View Offered

Edgelow Objects

Civic Employees Get Wage Boost

Despite strong objections from one alderman, city council yesterday formally approved a three per cent wage increase for some 400 civic employees.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow charged it amounted to "hiding the facts from the public" if council approved the wage increases without including fringe benefits.

15 TO 25 PER CENT

Council was told by comptroller-treasurer James Bramley that fringe benefits ranged from 15 to 25 per cent on top of salaries in the various categories. In the top range are police and firemen whose earnings were fixed by binding conciliation proceedings.

Ald. Edgelow urged council to gather "the full facts" on wages and fringe benefits before making a decision on the recommended increase. This included, he said, comparisons with the increases in cost of living and wages in other municipalities.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said he and finance chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell were kept fully informed on the progress of contract negotiations with both inside and outside civic staff. Chief negotiator for the city was lawyer E. E. Pearkman.

The mayor said police and firemen — awarded 2.737 per cent and 2.81 per cent respectively by conciliation boards — were "pace-setters" for the other unions.

FAIR SETTLEMENT

"I'm satisfied that our civic employees are getting a fair settlement, in relation to these other settlements over which council has no control," Mayor Wilson said.

Ald. Dowell added that while in his view there appeared to be "no justification at this time" for any of the increases, the city was forced "reluctantly to go along with it."

MIDDLE RANGE

City personnel officer S. T. FitzPatrick said that a recent survey of nine local industrial firms showed wages paid to unskilled and semi-skilled workers by the city "were in the middle-range" by comparison.

He added that last year Esquimalt paid a basic laborers' wage of $2.03 compared with $1.98 in the city. The present increase boosted the Victoria rate to $2.04.

Ald. Edgelow voted against the resolution which approved the 3 per cent settlement.

For Varsity

Library Bids Close

Narod Construction Ltd. of Vancouver submitted a low bid of $1,220,000 on a new library building for the University of Victoria's Gordon Head campus.

Bids of seven contracting firms were close and officials were satisfied with the results, although tenders were slightly higher than estimated by the architect, said a university development board spokesman.

CONTRACT SOON

Contract for the building is expected to be let in a week or two, he said.

Farmer Construction Ltd., with a bid of $1,255,569, was the only Victoria firm which bid on the project. The rest were from Vancouver.

Other firms and their bids: Bedford Construction Company Ltd., $1,309,000; Bennett and White Construction Company Ltd., $1,237,633; Burns and Dutton Construction Ltd., $1,229,609; Commonwealth Construction Ltd., $1,251,255; John Laing and Son (Canada) Ltd., $1,249,080.

Private Hospitals

Council Backs Control Plan

City council yesterday endorsed a proposal from the advisory planning commission to control the development of private hospitals in Victoria.

The result will be a three-point control program:

- Creation of a liaison committee composed of representatives of the provincial government hospital inspection division, local health and welfare authorities and city planners;
- Establishment of zones and regulations to control the siting and development of private hospitals;
- Review by the liaison committee in the early stages of processing of all applications for private hospitals to determine the course of action required by each department represented.

USEFUL MEETING

J. J. Genge, chairman of the advisory planning commission, reported he had a "friendly and useful" meeting with A. N. Ross, B.C. health department inspector of hospitals, on the liaison question.

Provincial authorities can require the controversial Glengarry private hospital scheme on Fairfield Road to be built "without appreciable change from the plans submitted to council," Mr. Genge said.

But the senior citizens' housing and recreation facilities forming the second phase of this scheme, the chairman added, are outside the control of the health department.

CURBS POSSIBLE

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady told council, however, that plans were afoot to consolidate the 17 lots purchased by promoters of the scheme.

If this is carried out it will require both permission to re-subdivide and a further zoning change to be granted by council before the senior citizens' accommodation in the second phase can be carried out.

City Will Submit Brief to Ottawa On Winter Works

The public works committee was instructed by city council yesterday to draw up a submission to the federal government suggesting ways of improving the winter works program.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said the present system of winter works assistance to municipalities from the senior governments has "never been satisfactory."

A suggestion that the issue was one for joint action by municipalities throughout B.C. and across Canada was disputed by Ald. A. W. Toone. "Let us take the initiative," he said. "After all, Victoria isn't a village."

Mayor R. B. Wilson said that rather than asking for a change in regulations the city should provide some realistic suggestions for improvement of the system.

ALL ASPECTS OF JOB

"I have a suggestion," said Ald. Edgelow. "The senior governments should recognize all aspects of the job when apportioning winter work grants.

"Instead of just paying labor costs, this would involve payment for equipment used on the project and salaries of supervisory officials."

The public works committee, which is headed by Ald. Edgelow, was given the task of drawing up the submission.

New Bingo Ruling Ends Ban on Hall

A new interpretation of federal legislation governing bingo has lifted restrictions which halted the operation of bingo by three organizations in Victoria.

"The new interpretation is that we may rent our premises to four charitable organizations for the purpose of bingo, and each organization can run 25 games in a 12-month period," Thomas Clements, president of Britannia Branch, Royal Canadian Legion, said last night.

TOLD TO STOP

The Britannia Branch and three other organizations were operating bingo games in the branch hall up until recently when city police warned them to stop.

Police action followed a letter to city police commission from Attorney-General Robert Bonner's department that no more than 25 bingo games could be held in any one hall in a 12-month period.

Three groups sharing the hall were stopped from operating — Victoria Old Age Pensioners No. 1, Ex-Servicewomen's branch No. 182, and Esquimalt Legion.

FOUND QUARTERS

The pensioners' group found alternate quarters in the Sirocco Club and has continued operating its charity bingo.

Spokesmen for the other two organizations last night welcomed the new interpretation from Mr. Bonner's department.

"I feel pretty good," Mrs. G. J. Corp, president of the Ex-Servicewomen's branch said. "Just so long as they have it in writing.

"We are going to start up again Monday — this would have been our regular night.

"I'll keep my fingers crossed and hope nothing happens to stop us again."

William Stewart, manager of Esquimalt Legion, said his branch will resume bingo games in the Britannia hall early in May, probably May 10.

"We're very pleased. We sort of wrote bingo off for the month in our program but next month we'll start up again.

"We were worried about how we were going to finance our pipe band and so on and this has made it a lot easier."

Meeting May 3

Delegates Topic Of Bureau Chiefs

Representatives of other organizations seeking a place on the Victoria visitors' bureau will be discussed at a directors' meeting May 3.

Representatives of Victoria's Auto Courts and Resorts Association were informed of the coming board meeting when they met this week with officers of the bureau.

BARRED FROM MEETINGS

The meeting followed complaints at an ACRA meeting Monday that A. M. Titerle, who has been appointed by the association to represent it on the bureau's board, has not been allowed into directors' meetings.

Mr. Titerle last night said he expects to find out about his bid for a director's seat after the May 3 meeting. "Meanwhile, I'm still waiting outside the door."

CONFIRMS MEETING

G. Conway Parrott, president of the bureau, last night confirmed that the question of delegates, named by other organizations, will be discussed at the May 3 meeting.

He said. "I presume" Mr. Titerle's application will be accepted.

MONEY, ADVICE

"The Bureau welcomes the support of all those associations and businesses which are part of the tourist industry," he said. He said the bureau wants contributions from them of both money and advice.

He said even if Mr. Titerle's application is accepted May 3, it will be too late to make much difference this year, since most of the directors' work is done in the tourist off-season.

LITTLE TO SAY

Meanwhile, Mr. Parrott had little to say whether William Hawkins, retiring as the bureau's commissioner, will be replaced by one man or two — one for the bureau and the other for the Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau, which handles tourist publicity for the whole of Vancouver Island.

"The question of Mr. Hawkins' successor will be given a great deal of consideration," he said.

'Write Councils On High-Risers'

Some 2,300 Greater Victoria residents who have supported a drive by three women to have an overall plan prepared to set high-rise apartment zones for the area will be asked to write to their municipal councils.

"Some of them are in ratepayers' groups and officers of the group will ask their members to write, but most of them were individuals who phoned us," Mrs. Shirley Dowell, 3270 Upper Terrace, said last night.

"We'll phone them all back one at a time and ask them to write to their councils and ask for the overall plan.

"We hope to get all the letters sent in to the councils by the end of May."

Assisting Mrs. Dowell are Mrs. Anne Gray, 3690 Crestview, and Mrs. Katherine Cameron, 3698 Crestview. Mrs. Dowell said she expects the three women will make 15 to 20 phone calls a day until all persons have been notified.

"The (town) planners are very co-operative but their hands are tied," she added.

Sketch Plans Of New Hall To Be Viewed

A special Saanich building committee will view preliminary sketch plans of a new municipal hall today, to get some idea of what the proposed structure will cost.

The plans were drawn up by Wade, Stockdill and Armour of Victoria, for a site between the new Saanich police-fire headquarters and the new health and welfare building on Vernon Avenue.

The municipality already has $250,000 set aside in a building fund for a new hall.

Reunion May 23

Veterans of the 88th Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force, will hold their 37th annual reunion May 23.

Time will be 7 p.m. at the Glenshiel Hotel, 606 Douglas Street. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Making final arrangements for the bridge tea to be held Monday, April 29, at the Art Gallery are Women's Committee members, Mrs. R. A. Hadfield, president; Mrs. W. L. Fahey, and Mrs. F. H. Hawkins, convener. Afternoon tables will begin playing at 2 p.m. Tea will be served and there will be a sale of home cooking following bridge. Evening bridge will commence at 8 p.m. with coffee and refreshments. Tables of canasta and other card games may be played. There will be door prizes and a raffle.—(Ryan Bros.)

Patricia Hancock Bride Of Gerald W. Monkhouse

Patricia Helen Hancock became the bride of Mr. Gerald Wayne Monkhouse at a recent ceremony in St. Martin's-in-the-Field Church. Ven. Archdeacon J. Forth officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hancock, Jasmine Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Monkhouse, Port Arthur, Ont.

The bride chose a gown of white satin brocade styled with lily-point sleeves and sweeping floor-length skirt, which she had sewn herself. She carried a cascade bouquet of talisman roses.

Brenda Bryant, maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Lynda Horne and Jacqui Hancock, were in identical dresses of aqua peau de soie with toning shoes and whimsies. Their flowers were orange carnations.

Lorne Peckett was best man and Jon Carlson and Bill Wright ushered guests to the pews.

The reception was held at Lougheed's banquet hall, where Mr. George Hancock proposed the toast to his niece. The wedding cake was baked by the bride's mother. Leaving on an up-Island honeymoon, the bride changed to a yellow double-knit suit with beige and brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Monkhouse will make their home at 1721 Haultain Street.

Out-of-town guests were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Monkhouse, and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hill, Port Arthur; Mr. and Mrs. W. Davis, Campbell River; Mr. and Mrs. L. Jones and family, Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. Art Hancock, Lake Cowichan, and Mrs. Paul LeLoup, South Burnaby.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: How delicious to be able to say exactly what I believe—even though it is only on paper. And the protection of phony initials gives me complete immunity.

I agree wholeheartedly with "Irate" and I hope she sticks to her guns. If she doesn't want any children she shouldn't have any. Motherhood is the most overrated bunch of baloney in the world.

I didn't want children either. I had an interesting career, beautiful clothes, a great figure, and money to spend as I pleased. My husband and I had fun together socializing and travelling. And then he talked me into having two babies.

Now I feel as if I'm in prison. I hate every minute I'm forced to spend at home with these two squalling brats. Everything they do irritates me. I loathe housekeeping.

My husband and I were deliriously happy when there were just two of us. Now there are four — and nobody is happy.—MONDAY MORNING QUARTERBACK.

Dear Quarterback: George Bernard Shaw was right when he said that "Parentage is one of the most important professions of all, yet no test of fitness is ever imposed in the interests of the children."

What a tragedy that a twisted creature such as you should be twice blessed when there are millions of women who would give anything to have a baby?

The saddest part of this story is yet to be told. Children who grow up in the emotional climate described in your letter don't have much of a chance.

Dear Ann Landers: A woman who works in the same office with me is a pain in the neck. I would not call her a friend, she is merely an acquaintance. She has a habit of coming over to my desk every few days and in a voice reflecting deep concern, she says, "My but you look tired today."

This has been going on for several months. Today when she said it I replied, "I'm not tired at all. In fact, I've never been so well rested in my life."

She looked shocked and replied in an angry tone, "What are you getting so huffy about? Being tired is nothing to be ashamed of."

Please tell me if you think I was wrong to speak to her as I did. This woman claims she is a friend or she wouldn't be so frank. What do you think?—MUNCIE.

Dear Muncie: A friend doesn't come by every few days to tell you how tired you look. Such remarks are not helpful. They are demoralizing. You were perfectly right to tell her off.

Dear Ann Landers: I was saddened by the letter from the mother who proudly announced that she puts her 8-year-old son's hair in curlers. She also bragged about taking him to the beauty shop every week and letting him sit under the hair dryer next to her.

Somebody ought to tell that woman at once that she should not be sitting under a dryer with that hole in her head. —BALD AND HAPPY.

Dear B. and H. Thanks Bub. You just did.

Confidential to JUSTIFIED OR NOT: You have no right to make a decision of this magnitude without discussing it with him and getting his side of the story. They are HIS children, too.

Amethyst, Pearls Bridal Jewelry

Cadboro Bay United Church was decorated with spring flowers for the recent marriage of Barbara June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Cushing, Palmetto Place, and Mr. Darrell Duncan Lorimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Lorimer, Esquimalt. Rev. David Wilson officiated at the evening ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor-length gown of white silk organza. Dainty flower appliques centred with seed pearls were scattered over the bouffant skirt. Her shoulder-length illusion net veil was held by a small pearl crown.

Her jewelry was pearl earrings, the gift of the groom and an amethyst and pearl pendant made by her paternal grandfather. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and white carnations.

Mrs. A. Dyck, matron of honor, Theresa Cushing, maid of honor, and Carolyn Bowen, bridesmaid, were gowned alike in pale green, silk organza and taffeta. Short lace jackets topped the dresses. They carried bouquets of pale pink carnations and carnations were in their hair.

Mr. John Kendrew was best man and Mr. John Devlon and Mr. Allan Lorimer were ushers.

Standards of pink carnations and white stock decorated rooms at the Olde England Inn for the reception. The wedding cake was flanked by silver candelabra and pink carnations.

Leaving on a honeymoon to Seattle, the new Mrs. Lorimer changed to a white tweed suit with raspberry pink hat and gloves, black patent shoes and bag. The newlyweds will make their home at 831 Dunsmuir.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. M. Cumming, Mrs. T. Smith, Miss Maureen Smith, Montreal; Mrs. R. Henderson and Daphne, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. K. Kiernan, Chilliwack; Mr. and Mrs. T. Burge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wiskin, Mr. Bruce Lorimer, Duncan; Dave Nelson, Pat Service and Dave Black, all students at the University of British Columbia.

Members Join Soroptimists

The Greater Victoria Soroptimist Club met recently at the home of Miss Amy E. Hall for a social evening.

During the evening four new members were received into the club, Mrs. William (Jay) Galbraith, Mrs. Shirley McAren, Mrs. R. (Gudrun) Sartorius and Miss Louise Bartlett, a transfer from the Liverpool, England, club. Mrs. M. E. Dockrill conducted the admission service and the new members were welcomed by Miss Florence D. Daniels, vice-president, and presented with corsages of blue and gold, the colors of Soroptimism.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. U. Kinnaitt and Miss Ella Walker.

Crowning of Queen Again to Highlight Victoria Day Fete

Crowning of Miss Victoria as Queen of the Victoria Day celebrations by Mayor R. B. Wilson will again highlight Victoria Day weekend celebrations this year.

Miss Victoria will be selected at the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce Spring Fair the preceding week.

An innovation this year in entertainment before the mammoth Victoria Day parade May 20 will be members of the Musicians' Union performing on a flatbed truck to entertain crowds waiting for the parade along the parade route.

At the same time as they start from one end of the parade route, a group of square dancers and musicians will start out from the other end.

The parade begins at Pembroke and Cook, goes along Cook to Pandora, to Quadra, to Yates and Douglas, past City Hall, along Fisgard and Government to the Empress Hotel.

Chief Engineer Quits B.C. Highways Post

Resignation of chief engineer F. T. Brown, who played a major role in recent construction of large highways in B.C., was announced yesterday by Highways Minister Gaglardi.

No successor has been named yet for the post which Mr. Brown vacated in favor of a better position in eastern Canada.

Mr. Brown headed the engineering branch of the highways branch through some of its most important projects, including the Deas Island tunnel, Second Narrows bridge, Deas tunnel thruway, Rogers Pass section of the Trans-Canada Highway, Tsawwassen causeway and the ferry terminals at Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay.

Mr. Gaglardi expressed regret at the loss of Mr. Brown and wished him well on his new assignment.

Mr. Brown will become general manager of Northumberland Consultants Ltd., which has been assigned by the federal department of public works to a large project involving a crossing of Northumberland Strait to link Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick in the Maritimes.

He accepted the new appointment several months ago, but agreed to stay on with the department of highways until the end of the 1962-63 fiscal year. He was with the department for seven years.

Cables Rapped By Flier

A spokesman for Victoria Flying Club has added his support to a flying magazine's condemnation of erecting and marking of cables and towers in flying areas.

"We've been fighting this for many years," manager David Filby said. "We were one of the original clubs which protested.

NEAR MISSES

"In this area we have cables across Sansum Narrows, between Salt Spring Island and Maple Bay. No one has hit them but there have been some near misses.

"They are right in the path of seaplanes flying in that area.

"Our club has mimeographed a warning sheet which is given to United States visitors flying in this area."

NOT EASILY SEEN

Mr. Filby said the cables are marked with aluminum balls painted orange but said they are not easily seen.

But, he added, it is difficult to find a way to mark the position of cables so they can be seen.

An editorial on the danger of wires and towers in flight paths was printed last month by Western Wings, published in Calgary.

Loot Aweigh!

Two and a half tons of boom chain were stolen overnight Wednesday from a pile driver belonging to Pacific Pile Driving Co. Ltd. on the Rock Bay waterfront property of Evans Coleman and Evans.

City police are investigating a report that the theives landed a boat between 9 p.m. and 5 a.m. in order to snatch the equipment.

Rockets Probing Northern Lights

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Research Council has launched a space research program on the rebuilt rocket range at Fort Churchill, Man.

Two Black Brant II research rockets carrying sensitive instruments were fired into the northern lights April 5 in an expanded NRC effort to learn more about "near space"—the lower part of the ionosphere from 30 to 300 miles up.

The aurora borealis, or northern lights, which occur in this part of the ionosphere seriously disrupt northern communications.

The council played a small role in previous rocket launchings at Fort Churchill by the Defence Research Board and the United States Air Force before the range was destroyed by fire in 1961. It has since been rebuilt with the U.S. putting up about $2,000,000.

Under the new program started April 5, the council is providing its own rockets and instruments for taking readings in the ionosphere and transmitting information to ground stations. The launchings of the Canadian-made rockets will be by NRC, Canadian Army, DRB and USAF personnel.

Dr. D. C. Rose, head of the cosmic ray section of NRC, said Thursday in an interview the rockets launched early this month are the first of a series in a long-range program to study the lower part of the ionosphere. The Universities of Alberta and Saskatchewan are co-operating in the design of the instruments to be carried aloft.

Four more rockets will be fired from the Churchill station in the fall and another group in the spring of 1964. From that time on NRC plans to fire about 10 rockets a year.

Dr. Rose said rockets are the only way the lower part of the ionosphere can be studied. It is too high to be reached by manned or unmanned machines from earth and too low for orbiting satellites.

Camera Seeks Sub

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The oceanographic research vessel Atlantis II for the first time photographed the ocean bottom Thursday in the search for the sunken hull of the atomic submarine Thresher.

The defence department said the floor of the Atlantic was photographed for four hours, but added that "the results are unknown at this time."

Every week a WHITE EMPRESS sails to Europe!

Streamers fly and the fun begins as the EMPRESS OF CANADA sails from Montreal.

11 ways you'll benefit by taking the newest, largest ships on the St. Lawrence route

With Empress of Canada and Empress of England, Canadian Pacific has the newest and largest ships on the St. Lawrence route to Europe. And with Empress of Britain, offers unsurpassed ocean travel. Here's what to expect when you travel WHITE EMPRESS:

1) Superb meals. As well as afternoon tea and bed time snacks.
2) Servants. They'll bring you breakfast in bed (if you wish), draw your bath, arrange your deck chair and generally free you up to do as you please.
3) Orchestras. They serenade you during the day. In the evenings they provide music for:
4) Dances. Every evening seems like Saturday night. There's a Masquerade Ball with prizes for the most original costumes. Last night out is emphasized with a tremendous Gala Party.
5) Swimming pools. You can hold your own splash parties. (The pool is conveniently located indoors—swim no matter what the weather!)
6) First-run movies. And a completely-equipped theatre.
7) Lounges. (What happens here is up to you!)
8) Acres of outdoor recreational area. You can fill your lungs with good sea air and challenge your fellow passengers to shuffleboard, quoits, or deck tennis.
9) A social hostess. She'll introduce you to your fellow passengers, arrange parties, games, give you that pampered feeling!
10) The ultra-modern ships on the scenic St. Lawrence route to Europe.
11) 275 pounds free baggage allowance.

Four Reasons Tonight For Quitting 'Idiot Box'

By BERT BINNY

There are as many as four perfectly good reasons for deserting "the idiot box of television" this evening and trying some live Victoria entertainment.

First, there's the honor performance concert of the Music Festival: 8 p.m. at Central Junior High School. Here the main attraction is the final competition for the B.C. Electric Rose Bowl, awarded to the top singer in the festival.

Nobody seems to have qualified for the City of Victoria Medallion which goes to the best pianist. A best pianist there certainly is, but not, it would appear, at the moment up to required medallion standards.

Other outstanding performances, selected by the adjudicators from the week's competitions, will also be presented.

SINGERS IN CONCERT

Second, at Emmanuel Baptist Church there's a concert by the Meistersingers, the third in their spring series. The program, conducted by Ted Boulden, offers varied fare from sacred items to calypsos and numbers from Gilbert and Sullivan.

Third, D. Nichols gives the commentary on his film, Caribbean, which shows at Oak Bay Junior High school tonight and tomorrow at 8 p.m. This is the last but one in the film series, World Around Us.

THEATRE GUILD PLAY

Fourth is the Theatre Guild production of Two for the See-Saw at the Langham Court Theatre, which ends tomorrow evening. Curtain time this evening and tomorrow is 8:15 p.m.

The performance, judging by opening night last Saturday, is good; particularly that by Margaret Hall.

New Timmy Needed In Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP) — Easter Seal officials are looking for a new Manitoba "Timmy" because the boy playing the role threw away his crutches.

Ernie Jesmer, 11, of Winnipeg was the 1963 choice to represent crippled children in fund-raising drives for the Manitoba Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

The son of a caretaker, he contracted paralytic polio 10 years ago, underwent treatment and this week walked without leg braces or crutches for the first time.

Laurence Cottrell was named president of the Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded at its annual meeting this week.

Also elected were Mrs. Kay Jeune, vice-president; Mrs. Jean McFadden, treasurer; Gordon Townley, recording secretary; Miss Norah Couchman, corresponding secretary.

Named to head committees were A. F. Kubicek, ways and means; Duncan McPhail, program; Arlene Turford, membership, and Eric Hutchinson, building.

Nita Forrest Painting Wins Jury Exhibition

The 13th annual Jury Exhibition which covers painting, printmaking, drawing and sculpture on Vancouver Island, was opened in the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria this week.

Judges awarded first prize to Nita Forrest for an oil painting entitled Yearning. Second prize went to Richard Ciccimarra for a gouache painting entitled The Experiment.

Honorable mention was awarded to Maxwell Bates, ARCA; Pamela Butcher, H. H. Phillips, Edith Jones, Kenneth T. Seaborne and Edith Hembroff-Schleicher.

Of 296 entries submitted, the judges selected 35 paintings and one piece of sculpture for the exhibition.

The jury was made up of Prof. B. C. Binning, well-known painter and head of the Fine Arts Department of the University of British Columbia; Richard Simmins, newly-appointed director of the Vancouver Art Gallery, and Roy Kiyooka, painter and teacher at the Vancouver School of Art.

"FOREST"
CEDAR

A new cedar specialty
for Beauty
Long Life
Economy

What is
"FOREST"
Siding?

A new and attractive type of siding that comes from specially selected cedar logs sawn to bring out all the distinctive character of knots, burls and grain.

How Does
"FOREST" compare with other siding?

It has more thickness, greater wood volume to add structural strength to any building. Its snug fitting makes good insulation and its low cost makes it ideal for modest budget home builders or remodellers.

How to finish
"FOREST"

"Forest" has a distinctive horizontal shadow line that will enhance the beauty of your home.

If you wish to preserve the natural rustic effect of "Forest" apply a coat of oil filler first, then varnish or shellac. "Forest" siding also takes paint beautifully if you wish a colored finish.

YOU can easily
apply "FOREST"
cedar siding

Many home owners have applied this modern, beautiful "Forest" siding themselves without the slightest difficulty.

SIDING

Nature has endowed the giant red cedar of British Columbia with every quality a homeowner could ask for in a versatile construction material with its "built-in" weather resistance, insulation value, working ease and, above all, inherent beauty.

Western Red Cedar is the traditional choice of architects everywhere, for every application. The attractive grain and warm colors of this fine wood blend beautifully with any home style, modern or traditional—in any setting, urban or rural.

TV TALK

By JIM TAYLOR

Let's get one thing clear, shall we?

I did not organize the royal wedding.

It is not my fault that the CBC waited until today to televise it. I own no stock in the CBC, and very few of my friends are princesses. I was not given a vote when the decision was made.

So please, please stop phoning.

I don't know why the program was delayed. If you want to find out, write nasty letters to the network. Write nasty letters to anybody, except me.

Meanwhile, watch it today at 3:30 p.m. on Channels 2 and 6. If you miss it then, it will be repeated on the same channels Sunday at 6 p.m.

"I'm glad you could come right over—It's an only set."

As MC, Linkletter uses a radical approach. He simply introduces the acts and gets out of the way.

MC's everywhere should be as smart.

Friday's Highlights

3:30 p.m.—Film of the royal wedding—2, 6.

9:30—Students of baseball may want to see 77 Sunset Strip tonight for a look at Bo Belinsky, pitcher, as an actor, yet—4.

10:30—Showcase presents the first offering in its Cameo Theatre series, a group of stories written by Vancouver authors. Tonight, Quality of Mercy, by Raymond Hull—2.

11:00—Jerry Lewis and the King Sisters visit the Steve Allen show—7.

Friday's Movies

1:00 p.m.—The Glass Key (1942 mystery), Brian Donlevy—8.

2:00—On With the Show (comedy), Joe E. Brown—11.

3:30—Student Tour (1934 comedy), Betty Grable—5.

5:30—Fighter Squadron (1948 war drama), Edmond O'Brien—12.

* 10:00—Tobacco Road (1941 drama), Gene Tierney—11.

11:00—They Won't Believe Me (1947 drama), Robert Young—12.

* Recommended.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

"An eye for the main chance" is not enough at bridge; the shrewd player must have an eye for the extra chance as well. On this final deal from the National Intercollegiate Par Tournament, West had to find a way to give himself two chances instead of one.

Vul: N-S

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ◇	Pass	2 N.T.	Pass
3 N.T.	All Pass

Opening lead: Heart six

West's hand is too strong to open one no trump, which would be correct if the club jack-ten were removed. He describes the strength of his hand accurately by jumping to two no trump over the one diamond response. This is very strongly encouraging, and East would pass at this point only if his hand were so weak that he had considered passing the opening bid. As it is, three no trump is reached, scoring maximum par points for East-West, and West is required to play this contract whatever the actual bidding.

West puts up dummy's jack on the heart lead for two reasons. It might hold the trick, which would leave him protected against a further heart lead from North; and it might force the ace from South, which would allow West to hold up his king until the third round. But when South puts on the queen, West has to win.

As it is likely that North has a five- or six-card heart suit, West cannot afford to lose the lead. At first sight, he has to choose between the diamond finesse and the club finesse, with the faint extra chance that the diamond queen may be a singleton. If he plays clubs, he must be careful to lead the nine from dummy; the queen would be fatal if South started with four clubs headed by the king.

West scores his game, and collects maximum points, if he gives himself a chance in both suits. He can try to drop the diamond queen in two rounds; if it doesn't work, he can then shift to clubs. The correct sequence is diamond ace, followed by a lead to the diamond king. As it happens, the queen falls and all is well. If not, West has the lead in dummy to lead the club nine for a finesse.

NON-SPOIL SEAVIEW
SPECTACULAR GARDEN

This spacious four-year-old home at TEN-MILE POINT commands a view, which can never be spoilt, of Cadboro Bay, the Straits and the mountains beyond. The house, carefully planned and expertly built, with 1,[illegible] square feet of living space and two patios, provides [illegible] no-steps living for a retired or business couple—with two twin-size bedrooms and a den, besides the large living room and kitchen, which make full provision for the spectacular view (the living room has full-length plate glass). The garden has a frontage of 140 feet on Seaview Road, fully landscaped to take the very best advantage of a rising slope. There is a lovely rose arbor and the whole property is framed by large pine trees. It all adds up to a garden which will delight anyone who takes a pride in using the opportunities provided by Victoria's climate—it has been included in the tour of gardens because it offers such a beautiful showing of rock plants and shrubs, but it requires practically no upkeep. With all these attractions the property still offers excellent seclusion. Full price on this clear-title home is

Civil Defence Building Set for Staff

Plans for the allocation of staff in case of emergency have been discussed at a meeting of Oak Bay civil defence committee.

Object of the plans is to allot space for all municipal personnel to allow work to be carried out in civil defence headquarters in the event of a disaster.

Also discussed at the meeting was use of a school in the Duncan area as a temporary municipal headquarters in the event of evacuation. Use of a Duncan school has been tentatively approved by the school board, a spokesman said last night.

Oak Bay would share the school space with Saanich, the spokesman said.

The committee was addressed on public relations by Leonard Hart, provincial director on training programs, and heard reports on school fallout shelters and a survey of buildings with concrete basements.

Course Set By Planners

A one week orientation course in community planning will be held at the University of British Columbia, May 13 to May 19.

The course is being arranged by the Department of Community and Regional Planning, University of B.C., in conjunction with Department of Extension, U.B.C., and in association with the Community Planning Association of Canada, B.C. Division.

Course is designed to be of value to members of town planning commissions, municipal elected representatives and officials, and members of citizenship organizations concerned with the developments of their communities.

Show in Toronto

Sullivan Eying Canada's Talent

By JIM PEACOCK

NEW YORK (CP)—Ed Sullivan will seek fresh Canadian talent for future programs when he visits Toronto this week to broadcast his weekly television variety show from the O'Keefe Centre.

The New York newspaper man and television personality has asked his staff to try to arrange auditions in Toronto next Monday, instructing that: "I want to see professional entertainers, not amateurs."

HE'S IMPRESSED

Sullivan issued the order Tuesday following an interview during which he said he was impressed as he scanned a lengthy list of internationally-known entertainers who came from Canada.

The list was prepared in connection with the scheduling of this Sunday night's CBC and CBS network broadcast of The Ed Sullivan Show from Toronto—the first to be broadcast live from anywhere outside the United States.

B.C. SHOW, TOO?

It may get more study if Sullivan follows up an expressed desire to do a show in the future from Montreal and another from Vancouver.

Sullivan flies to Toronto Thursday to complete preparations for the show, take in several social functions and play a round or two of golf. "If I can get the right number of shots from those Canadian hustlers."

RECALLS GOULET

He recalled that Robert Goulet, U.S. born but raised in Edmonton and schooled as a singer in Canada, had attracted attention when he appeared briefly on the Sullivan show in a skit with Canadian comedians Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster.

Goulet then was starring on television in Canada.

"My producer, Bob Precht, brought Goulet here and did a half-hour pilot television film of his singing," Sullivan said. "He was terrific — but they could not sell it. About three months later, the culmination of his appearances on my show and his role on Broadway (in Camelot) paid off and look at him now."

MANY CANADIANS

Sullivan has had many Canadian performers on his shows, including Goulet, Paul Anka, Alan Young, Chris Plummer and Wayne and Shuster, who will make their 40th Sullivan appearance this Sunday.

Several other Canadians — among them some of Toronto's Stanley Cup champion Maple Leafs hockey club — will be in this show's cast, but headliners in addition to Wayne and Shuster are from the U.S.—Connie Francis, Jack Carter, Jan Peerce, Xavier Cugat and Abbe Lane.

Ontario Gets Voluntary Medicare Plan

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario has taken the first, soft step towards medicare.

A bill introduced in the legislature Tuesday by Premier John Roberts sets up the bare bones of medical care insurance. It has three key aspects:

1. It will be voluntary.
2. It will make coverage available to everyone.
3. It will make use of private insurance companies, which will feel the weight of the only compulsory features of the program.

DIFFERS WIDELY

The Ontario bill differs widely from Saskatchewan's. The Saskatchewan program introduced last summer is also universal but, unlike Ontario's, it is compulsory and is operated by a government medical care insurance commission.

Premier Robarts' legislation, which he had forecast last fall, was given first reading Tuesday and will have second reading—debate in principle—before the current session ends in the next few days.

Then it goes to a special committee which the Progressive Conservative government is setting up. Public hearings will be held this summer, after which the committee will send the bill back to the legislature with any suggested revisions.

MINISTER SPEAKS LATER

While promising a fuller statement by Health Minister Matthew Dymond on second reading, Mr. Robarts emphasized that the Ontario plan will "ensure that medical services insurance would be available to all the people of this province, regardless of age or physical condition."

It provides for a basic contract of medical care insurance—to be decided upon by the committee subject to government approval—which must be provided by every company or insurer offering such insurance. The government will set the maximum premium which an insurer can charge for basic insurance.

"Without regimentation or compulsion," the premier said, "every citizen of this province will be free to buy or not to buy, as he or she may see fit, medical services insurance coverage from a carrier of his or her choice and to the degree that may suit his or her individual requirements."

An association to be known as Medical Carriers Incorporated will be set up. All companies selling medical insurance in Ontario will have to belong to it, and the members themselves will determine what assessment will be required from each company to operate the plan.

PLANS UNDISTURBED

"We will not disturb that 7[illegible] per cent of our population who now are covered by one form or another of medical insurance," Mr. Roberts said. "We will not disturb the traditional doctor-patient relationship."

Allies Disapprove Of Session in Berlin

BONN (AP) — The United States, Britain and France have told West Germany this is not the time to hold a meeting of the West German Parliament in West Berlin.

West Berlin is considered territory under military occupation by the three powers, and not part of the West German Federal Republic.

Until 1958 occasional sessions of Parliament were held in West Berlin to emphasize the hope that one day the city would be the capital of a reunited Germany. Since then, however, the three occupying powers have advised against such meetings.

Authoritative sources said the matter was discussed last week in a four-power body that deals with Berlin affairs in Bonn. The United States, Britain and France gave the German representative identical written memos on their stand.

Such meetings, and even visits by leading West German political figures, are always attacked by the Communists as "provocations."

SPCA Elects W. A. Leach

British Columbia Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has elected W. A. Leach and Cameron Webster, both of Victoria, as president and first vice-president respectively.

Mrs. Jean McGrath of Nanaimo was elected third vice-president.

Other Vancouver Island residents among the new executive are J. D. Prentice of Victoria, vice-president; John Blinko, Victoria, treasurer, David Beeching, Victoria, secretary, and directors Wynn Eland, Victoria, H. de Lange, Alberni, and H. Bing, Nanaimo.

AT EXCITING STAGE

The Canadian oil and gas industry is still offering the drama and excitement of a fast-growing business, says the editor of the Financial Post Survey of Oils 1963.

Although more mature than a few years ago, a fresh period of expansion is expected this year, particularly in the Arctic Islands, while the tapping of the Athabaska tar sands seems imminent.

STUMP THE EXPERTS

American Society for Metals, Vancouver Island chapter, is holding a stump-the-experts evening April 30 at the Pacific Naval Laboratory.

Members are asked to come loaded with questions on metallurgy which a panel of four will attempt to answer.

On the panel—R. D. Barer, C. A. Waggoner, B. F. Peters and J. G. Meadley.

THE DAILY COLONIST

Hellyer Eyes Navy

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Paul Hellyer said Thursday he will take a "cold, hard" look at all embryo defence programs initiated by the Progressive Conservatives.

These are projects on which little money has so far been spent, such as the navy's $240,000,000 construction program for eight frigates, scheduled to begin next year.

"One of the Conservatives' problems," Mr. Hellyer said in an interview, "was that they slid into defence programs without reviewing them carefully."

The 39-year-old minister also said the Liberals have no intention of trying to avoid any Commons debate on nuclear weapons.

The opposition would have plenty of opportunities, if it wished, to discuss the issue long before any nuclear warheads were in place at Canadian bases in this country or in Europe.

Mr. Hellyer said his Monday statement still stands: That he expects a Canada-U.S. nuclear custody - and - control agreement to be signed in about a month and the nuclear warheads to be in place at Canadian bases by late in the year.

21 Men Missing In Mine Blast

CLARKSBURG, W.Va. (AP) – An explosion was reported Thursday night at the Compass No. 2 mine of Clinchfield Coal Corporation, about six miles northwest of Clarksburg.

State Mines Director Leonard Timms said the nature of the explosion was not known but 21 men were unaccounted for.

SEARCH STARTS

Rescue teams, Timms said, descended into the mine and made their way toward the area where the missing men were working.

Mine officials said they had 125 men on the mine payroll and the missing men were a part of the night crew. They said the accident occurred about 11 p.m.

State mine rescue crews were expected at the scene shortly.

Kingfish Starts at Dawn

The 1963 edition of The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest starts at the crack of dawn Saturday and continues until Oct. 20.

Any trout or small-mouth bass weighing one pound or more and any salmon weighing five pounds or more caught in any legal Vancouver Island or Gulf Islands waters will be eligible for entry, whether or not the angler is a subscriber to the Colonist. But there are bigger prizes for Colonist subscribers.

A list of weigh-in stations will be published Saturday or Sunday.

Only commercial fishermen and professional guides are barred, but contest rules call for all fish to be caught with rod and reel.

There are divisions for lake trout, meaning all trout caught in a lake; river trout, meaning all trout caught in a river, including steelhead and sea-run cutthroat; small-mouth bass; coho salmon; spring salmon, meaning all spring salmon on the south of the Island and all spring salmon under 30 pounds caught in north Island and west coast waters; and tyee salmon, meaning spring salmon 30 pounds or more caught north of Nile Creek at Qualicum Bay, or in the Alberni Canal or north on the west coast.

Any salmon more than 15 pounds believed to be a coho and caught before August must be checked by a fisheries department official for identification and a photograph taken and forwarded to the Colonist. In August the weight for positive identification will be extended to 18 pounds. Reason for this rule is that every year there are a number of cases of doubtful identification between coho and spring salmon.

Big merchandise prizes, including an all-expenses-paid Canadian Pacific Airlines trip to Europe for two, a Vancouver Island Helicopters camping-fishing weekend and a Thornes aluminum boat, all hidden-weight prizes, are open only for Colonist subscribers.

Non-subscribers may win trophies for the biggest fish of the contest and buttons for the biggest fish each month.

There will be 105 buttons each month for big fish in all categories.

Anglers may win only one button in each category, except for gold buttons which will be awarded each month for the top fish in each category.

First angler to win all six Prince Buttons will be awarded the Compleat Angler Trophy, symbolic of a world championship.

Clean Out Molesters

CITY TO ACT PATROL PARK

Combined efforts of the police commission and city parks committee will be directed towards making Beacon Hill Park a safe place for children to play.

Mayor R. B. Wilson told yesterday's city council meeting the "first step has already been taken" by the commission which has ordered increased police surveillance of the park.

GIVEN AUTHORITY

For its part, council gave the parks committee authority to hire an additional commissionaire or commissionaires to patrol the park.

EASTER SUNDAY

The most recent case of molesting involved two children in the park at 1 p.m. on Easter Sunday. Last summer there were reports filed on eight cases of indecent exposure and one little girl was hauled into a car and molested.

Ald. J. L. W. McLean said if council had been informed previously of the situation described in the Colonist story by reporter Eileen Learoyd it was not "brought seriously enough to our attention."

REGULAR PATROL

He said the solution lay in "a little more responsibility for the police" and institution by the city of a regular park patrol by members of the corps of commissionaires. A commissionaire under the present system is in the park on an irregular schedule.

"This is a matter of vital concern to all parents with small children," Ald. McLean said. "In the past we have lived to think that Beacon Hill Park was a place where we could turn our children loose, a safe place for them to play."

SAFE IN DAYLIGHT

He said council shouldn't stop short of making the park "safe for all in daylight" and at night ensure that it is kept under adequate police surveillance.

"If Beacon Hill Park is known to be properly patrolled," Ald. McLean said, "persons of undesirable character . . . will no longer frequent the area."

MORE SURVEILLANCE

Mayor Wilson said he "couldn't agree more" with the need for increased surveillance, but added that one of the difficulties inherent in the patrol system was that "police are there one minute and gone the next."

"That's why we need commissionaires — I would say three commissionaires," Ald. McLean said.

GENERAL AGREEMENT

Ald. Lily Wilson said she was prepared to give the parks committee authority to arrange for additional commissionaire patrols immediately. There was general agreement with this suggested course of action.

The mayor said it would be up to the police commission, which he heads, and the parks committee to work together towards a "permanent solution" to the problem.

Police Wound Gunmen

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP)—Three gunmen were wounded and a fourth taken into custody Thursday night when they were caught in a barrage of police gunfire during an attempted robbery of a sawmill near here.

The wounded were admitted to hospital in this town 10 miles northwest of metropolitan Toronto. One had part of his hip shot away and another was wounded in an arm. Their conditions were not believed to be serious.

Canadian Youths Give Rusk Beaver Pelt

'Mill to Trigger Interior Bonanza'

Establishment of a $50,000,000 integrated pulp and paper operation in Prince George will mark the first stage of a major development of B.C.'s central interior, Trade and Commerce Minister Robert Bonner said last night.

The project—heavily backed by British capital—is expected to provide jobs for up to 1,200 workmen during construction of the mill in 1964 and 1965, and employment for about 375 when it becomes fully operational.

It was triggered by issuance of a pulpwood harvesting licence and assurance of low-cost power from the huge Peace River hydro electric development, said Mr. Bonner.

BOOST FOR PGE

The government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway is expected to get a $2,000,000 boost in freight revenues because of the mill's operations.

Plans for formation of Prince George Pulp and Paper Limited, jointly owned by the Reed Paper Group of London, England, and Canadian Forest Products Ltd. of Vancouver, were announced yesterday.

Head office of the new firm will be located in Vancouver.

BENNETT STATEMENT

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, visiting San Francisco, said in a statement released by his office here:

"The significance . . . is that the Reed Company is the largest user of pulp in the world. This means that the Prince George pulp and paper development will be much larger than previously proposed.

"It will not only mean hundreds more people employed in the centre of the province, but tens of millions of British capital will be invested in B.C.

"Over and above the direct benefits of this largest pulp and paper development in the interior of B.C., it will greatly benefit secondary industries, and of course will add millions more to the freight revenue annually for the PGE."

Trade and Commerce Minister Bonner predicted that British Columbia will now lead the

Medicare Bill Gets Approval

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government's medical services insurance bill was given approval in principle by the legislature Thursday, with both the Liberal and New Democratic parties opposing the concept of the draft legislation.

Brainwaves Sent By Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Relay I communications satellite transmitted an English patient's brainwaves to the United States for analysis, and sent the diagnosis back to England, all within a few minutes Thursday.

This points the way to swift transmission of medical data over great distances, so a patient's ailment might be diagnosed quickly by a specialist in some other part of the world.

Airport Visited

First Laos Inspection Made By International Truce Team

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters) An international truce team made an inspection trip to the Plaine des Jarres Thursday in an attempt to smooth the uneasy Laotian situation — ruled by a shaky truce since Sunday.

It was the first of planned daily trips by officers and interpreters from Canada, India, and Poland—the nations making up the international control commission charged with supervising neutrality in this Southeast Asian kingdom.

POLISH OBJECTIONS

The visit by the inspection team to the Plaine des Jarres airport—last stronghold of beleaguered neutralist Gen. Kong Le in his civil battle with pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces—was made despite reports of "considerable opposition" by Poland.

The Communist New China news agency, quoting the Pathet Lao radio, claimed in Peking meanwhile that three battalions of right wing Laotian troops, "under the command of U.S. officers," attacked the Pathet Lao town of Xieng Khouang Monday and said fighting was still going on.)

Authoritative Western military sources in Vientiane said there has been no hand-to-hand fighting recently. But they said the provincial capital of Xieng Khouang has come under occasional mortar fire.

K's Aid Asked By Harriman

MOSCOW (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, seeking on President Kennedy's behalf Soviet support of efforts to restore peace in Laos, has expressed hope he will find Premier Khrushchev agreeable.

"I am always hopeful that, with good will, we will reach agreement," the U.S. state undersecretary told reporters on his arrival Thursday night aboard a Soviet airliner from London.

NEUTRALITY SUPPORTED

"The United States wishes to support the stability of the neutral government. The United States is careful to adhere to the (1962 Geneva) agreement, both in letter and in spirit."

A Second World War U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Harriman was fresh from emergency talks with authorities of France and Britain about the alleged campaign of pro - Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas to expand their holdings in Laos, whose neutrality and freedom were guaranteed by the 14-nation Geneva Laotian conference last year.

AUTHORITY SPLIT

France and the U.S. were influential participants in the decisions that gave the Southeast Asian kingdom a government dividing authority among three factions—rightist, neutral and leftist — under a neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma.

May Day Shot?

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank radio telescope, predicts Russia will try to put man in space on May Day, major event in Communist calendar, as Russia would be in favorable position.

Returning Officer Changes Standings

CAMPBELL'S BAY, Que. (CP) — Returning Officer J. Denzil Moodie changed the makeup of the 26th Parliament Thursday night, flipping a coin and then casting the tie-breaking ballot at a judicial recount in favor of former Mines Minister Paul Martineau.

Mr. Martineau's victory in Pontiac - Temiscamingue constituency reduced Liberal membership in the Commons to 128 and boosted the number of Progressive Conservative members to 96. There are 24 Social Credit MPs and 17 New Democrats.

Defeated Liberal Paul-O Goulet said he "very likely" will file a petition under the Dominion Controverted Elections Act before the Quebec Superior Court to contest the election.

"We have plenty to go on," he said. "Some people voted twice and some eligible voters were barred from voting."

Mr. Moodie, a lumber contractor here, said it became evident about noon Thursday that he might have to cast the deciding ballot as required by law in the case of a tie, a rarity in federal elections.

Mr. Martineau said Mr. Moodie flipped a coin when the tie was declared — without indicating which candidate got heads and which tails.

Lesage Prime Minister?

* * * * * *

He Can Unite Canada, Claims Irish MLA

QUEBEC (CP) — An English - speaking independent member of the legislature said Thursday night that Premier Lesage could become prime minister of Canada.

Frank Hanley (Ind — St. Ann), in a rambling speech during the budget debate, said that if English Canada doesn't meet Quebec's needs and rights, then a French-Canadian would have to be named prime minister.

There is only one man who can do the job, said Mr. Hanley, who supported the Social Credit party during the federal election campaign.

"Who is that?" asked Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson.

"Only one man can unite Upper and Lower Canada," said Mr. Hanley, "and that man is the present premier of Quebec."

Mr. Hanley is of Irish descent.

Nikita Hints He'll Quit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given a powerful new boost to speculation that he may be on his way out as premier and chairman of the Communist party.

That was the immediate and obvious reaction in Washington and elsewhere to his speech to Russian workers pointing out that he was 69 years old and "cannot hold for all time the positions which I now have in the party and state."

RUMORS BACKED

His remarks tended to add authority to rumors current in some Communist circles that he was planning to announce at the May 25 meeting of the Communist central committee plans to retire within a year or two. They also gave some substance to speculation that various members of the Soviet hierarchy believe the time is approaching for new leadership.

CONDITION WORLD

It appeared to some authorities as if the party wanted to condition the world for the retirement of Khrushchev, who has been premier since 1958.

U.S. officials wanted the text of the speech to determine the context of the retirement remarks, but said some sections had almost the tone of a valedictory and seemed to be in response to protestations against any thought of his quitting.

Israel Seeks Atom Bomb, Says Arab

UNITED NATIONS (LAT) —Israel is speeding development of an atomic bomb and may be developing materials for bacteriological warfare, Mahoud Riad, ambassador to the United Arab Republic, charged Thursday.

"We believe that Israel is really working very hard to produce an atomic bomb," the ambassador said. "We have information that the Weizmann Institute is working on bacteriological warfare."

The ambassador made the charges at a luncheon of the UN Correspondents Association, asserting similar charges brought by Israel against the United Arab Republic were a smokescreen to conceal Israel's true intentions.

He denied the UAR is developing atomic energy for other than peaceful purposes.

Waste No Tears on Burnaby Norburns— 'They Served League Best by Leaving It'

By JIM TAYLOR

Burnaby Norburns have dropped out of the Inter-City Lacrosse League, and who's to say it isn't for the best?

Certainly no tears will be shed for their passing in Victoria or Nanaimo.

"This is perfect," admitted Shamrock coach Don Ashbee.

That may sound harsh, but cold facts back them up.

Norburns came into the league fresh from junior ranks last year, and averaged only 293 fans per game in Burnaby in what was admittedly a building season. This year they were to switch to Chilliwack, but finally gave up Wednesday, short of money and down to about 12 players.

Shamrock and Nanaimo officials, as anxious as anyone to see the league expand, had to admit that for this season at least Norburns brightened up the league by leaving it.

THE FACTS

They reason thus:

- Victoria and Nanaimo both need player help, and could get it by landing two or three of Burnaby's top players. At the moment they are considered league property but will probably be free agents by the end of the week.
- With player help could come a more balanced league, with Shamrocks and Nanaimo that much closer to the strong New Westminster and Vancouver clubs.
- Travel costs will go down, since the two Island clubs will be making eight trips to the mainland instead of 10. And travel expenses are what is breaking the league.
- A new schedule will do more to kindle the natural rivalries between Vancouver and New Westminster, Victoria and Nanaimo. This should mean bigger crowds, and attendance has dropped steadily in recent years.

GOOD SCHEDULE

That schedule has yet to be drawn up in full, but commissioner Tommy Gordon has taken a shrewd step in roughing it out. Nanaimo and Victoria will play 14 of their 30 games against each other, as will New Westminster and Vancouver. Mainland teams play each Island team eight times, in home-and-home series.

Gordon's reasoning is that Victoria-Nanaimo and Vancouver New Westminster games always draw well, and travel expenses are negligible. At the same time, Vancouver and New Westminster are well matched, as are Shamrocks and Nanaimo. The unbalanced schedule could mean a league race closer than any in the past few years.

NANAIMO HERE

That race starts next week, when Vancouver hosts New Westminster Tuesday and visits the Mann Cup champs on Thursday, while Shamrocks open at home against Nanaimo Wednesday and play up-Island Saturday.

Gordon made it clear yesterday that he did not want Norburns out.

"We're trying to think further ahead than one year or two," he told the Colonist. "We want to put lacrosse in every major city in B.C. Norburns were the first step in that expansion. I hope they'll be back next season."

BIDDING OPENS

But now the bidding starts.

Sohen Gill and Bill Bradley of Norburns were at a New Westminster practice last night. John Surinak, Marty Jordon and Les Glover, all Vancouver juniors who were made Burnaby property, revert back to Vancouver, but you can bet other teams will be bidding for them.

Ashbee had the phones working overtime last night.

Oil Kings Reach Cup Final

BRANDON — Edmonton Oil Kings scored twice in overtime here last night to beat Brandon Wheat Kings, 5-3, and became the first team in history to win four straight western Canada junior hockey titles.

Oil Kings now go on to the Memorial Cup final, probably against Niagara Falls, which took a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven eastern final with a 10-1 victory over Espanola last night.

Doug Fox scored twice in the third period for Edmonton to force the overtime, then scored the winner at 8:32. Butch Paul got the final goal with 30 seconds to play.

Max Mestinsek scored Edmonton's other goal, and Ted Irvine, Gerry Karp and John Volpni replied for Brandon.

Helping hand was needed to steady this whopping 11-pound, 12-ounce brown trout landed in Cowichan River Wednesday by Ray Blunt, 114 Nichol St., Nanaimo. Blunt used spinning tackle with 10-pound test line, and fish gobbled up shrimp bait. Only one point marred Blunt's big day—fish was caught too early to enter in Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest, which opens tomorrow, and it would have made him a certain button winner in popular competition.—(Wilf Watson photo.)

United Finale On Tap

Playoffs are ahead, but no matter where United finishes in the Pacific Coast Soccer League it must play its semi-final and (hopefully) final in Vancouver.

So, tomorrow against Royal City, United says goodbye to its fans for another season.

United will use a juggled lineup, with Barry Sadler in goal, Dave Stothard and Len Anderson at fullback, George Wright, Bill Hamilton and Ron Jenkin on the half line, and Henry Vanderhorst, George Paul, Chummy Crabbe, Ash Waldal and Russ Ball up front. Game time is 2 p.m.

Price Cup final between Gorge and Hourigan's Kickers for the Victoria and District Soccer League's first division playoff championship will be played Sunday at 2 p.m. at Heywood Park.

After that, there is only one game to clear the league schedule—a McGavin Cup final between Gorge and Victoria West on an unspecified date.

Films showing highlights of the Brazil-Yugoslavia World Cup final of 1962 will be shown twice Sunday at the Fox Theatre by Victoria United Booster Club.

First showing, at 6 p.m., is for all members of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association, and admission is free.

Record Total, Perfect Game

VANCOUVER (CP)—Doreen Tuck, a tenpin bowler with a 156 average, rolled a perfect 300 game here last night on the way to an all-time Canadian women's record of 714 for three games.

Mrs. Tuck, who has been bowling for four years, rolled 300, 192 and 222 for her record total.

Harry Smith ABC Winner

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Harry Smith of St. Louis capped a tremendous performance in the American Bowling Congress Masters Tournament by defeating Bobby Meadows of Dallas, 885-766, Wednesday night for the title and $4,400.

Smith won all seven of his matches in the double-elimination tournament, and in only one did he finish with a total less than 832.

His peak came Wednesday when he crushed Don Carter of St. Louis, 874-597, to gain the finals.

OUTDOORS

with Alec Merriman

This is the weekend we have been waiting for . . . The Colonist King Fisherman contest opens at the crack of dawn Saturday, and continues until Oct. 20.

Lake fishing is reported pretty good in almost any lake; big white springs are in Saanich Inlet and other big springs are making their way down the coast past Jordan River; river fishing is pretty good for trout and there are a few fresh run steelies about for anyone seeking a silver trout Prince Button.

The white springs have arrived in Saanich Inlet and they are the bigger fish. On Wednesday, Bill Gamble got a 22:4-pounder in the Narrows of Finlayson Arm on 150 feet of line, and Krippled Minnow, no flasher.

On Saturday Jim Gilbert got a 21:10-pounder in the Deep Hole on 400 feet of line and Krippled Minnow. Sid Sidaway landed an 18:12-pounder off Whittaker Point Saturday and on Sunday John Rose caught a 17:7-pounder and a seven-pounder off Coles Bay. Wes Fulton hit into a 13-pounder and a seven-pounder off Willis Point on Sunday. Roy Smith and Vern Palliser landed eight fish between eight to 14 pounds Sunday in the Narrows to Chesterfield Rock circle in Finlayson Arm.

Small shrimp are numerous in Finlayson Arm now and herring and minnows are busy feeding on them, while bluebacks wait for the bait below and the bigger springs are still deeper.

The blues are still finnicky on the bite. Most have been in the Narrows to Stone House waters where there are also a number of weighing-size springs. McKenzie Bay to the White Lady has a concentration of springs and Willis Point to McKenzie Bay has been productive.

On Sunday three brothers, S., W. and R. Doidge had 18 blues on lake trolls from Chesterfield Rock to the White Lady. Saturday, Bruce Lohr got a 19:2-pounder in Misery Bay. Guide Gordy Lamont has been picking them up in Misery Bay.

At Oak Bay there has been a good run of blues off Centre Reef and a few nice springs have been taken. Ernest Burrows and Rocky Maysmith have landed 20-pounders off the islands in Oak Bay waters.

Pedder Bay, which had been fairly good, slackened off at the weekend, but commercial boys have been hitting them in Sooke to Jordan River waters . . . and they are moving down coast. Port Renfrew has been having good spring salmon fishing in San Juan Bay.

Commercial fishermen have been getting a few fish off Kuper and Thetis Islands in the Chemainus area.

Low tides for clam digging and oyster gathering this week.

On the freshwater scene don't forget your fishing licence expires Tuesday and a new one is needed by Wednesday morning.

All lakes in the Campbell River-Courtenay area are reported good and Jim Boulding says good catches are being taken at the far end of Buttle now. Limit catches have been coming from Cedar and Roberts Lakes late in the day.

Puntledge and Tsolum Rivers have been good for trout.

Murray Cree reports there are still fresh-run steelhead in the Big Qualicum, Little Qualicum and Englishman Rivers and all three are giving up good cutthroat fishing on worms and small spin 'n' glos.

Bill Ravenhill reports Cowichan Lake has had some good days for both fly fishermen and trollers. Rod Smith of Victoria landed a three-pounder on fly. Marble Bay and entrance to Bear Lake have been hot spots and the bottom end of the north arm has been pretty good.

Bailey Kennett says they are still getting a few steelies from the Cowichan. There are also fresh-run steelies in the Nanaimo and Chemainus Rivers.

Mid-week rains may bring rivers to nice fishing condition. Quamichan Lake is still good for trout fishing.

Kemp, Shawnigan and Lizard Lakes have been fair for trout.

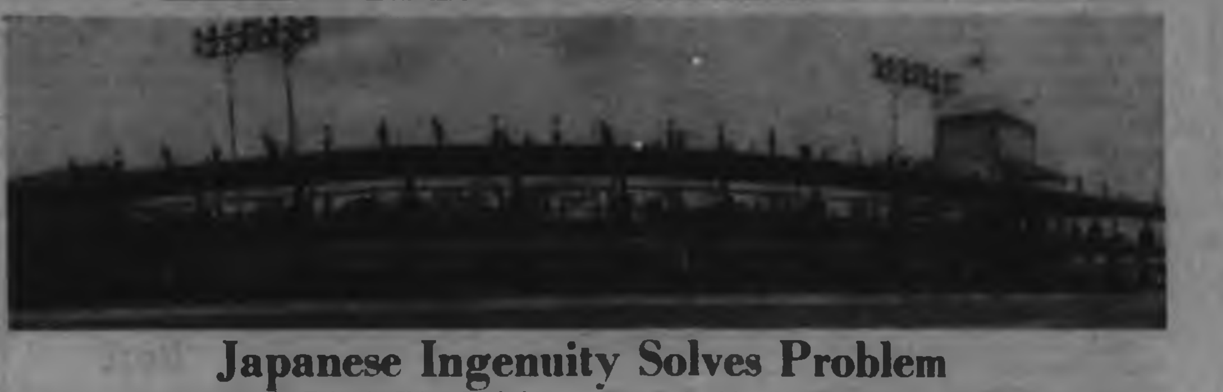
Tonight is the night to see North America's noted guide, outfitter and nature photographer Andy Russell and his films about grizzly country and "Are Wild Animals Really Wild?"

Show starts at 8 p.m. at Victoria High School and is sponsored by the Victoria Fish and Game Club, with proceeds to junior safety training program.



Japanese Ingenuity Solves Problem

Space is at a premium in Tokyo's Shiba Park but it didn't deter enterprising Japanese from making what they have go a long way in helping out nation's horde of golfers. Latest thing in driving ranges is this semi-circular building with a three-level range which can handle 200 golfers at one time, two-thirds under cover.—(Fednews)

What Team Loses Winning? New York Mets, Naturally

No one seriously thinks Casey Stengel's beloved bumpkins can keep it up, but by winning as often as they have of late they have tended to prove they are just ordinary baseball players. And that could be bad. Their fans didn't mind them losing 70 per cent of the time, and they wouldn't mind at all if they won 70 per cent of the time but just being a garden variety of loser could be disastrous.

THESE ARE METS?

But the Mets aren't thinking about that just now. Yesterday they made it six victories in their last seven games, and found themselves only two games out of the National League's first division despite the eight-game losing streak which opened their season. Never before have the Mets reached the .400 baseball they now boast.

Roger Craig, who got no runs from his teammates in his first two starts, once losing, 0-1, in 10 innings, made three runs stand up for his first win of the season, 3-2.

Veteran Frank Thomas, who was batting .067 after two weeks, drove in all three New York runs, two of them with his second home run.

Meanwhile, San Francisco Giants regained the lead with Ed Bailey driving in three runs and Orlando Cepeda two in an 8-4 conquest of St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards left 12 runners on the bags, seven in the first three innings.

BAD DEAL

Deals came back to haunt Milwaukee Braves at Houston. Don Nottebart pitched into the eighth inning to get credit for his third win in a still-unbeaten season. Don McMahon shut off the Braves when they tried to rally and Al Spangler was a hitting star. The trio are all ex-Braves.

At Los Angeles in a night game, the Dodgers pounded Cincinnati's Joey Jay, now 0-4, for a 7-1 victory over the Reds that left them half a game out of the lead.

John Roseboro, Willie Davis and Ron Fairley contributed homers and Stu Miller held Reds to five hits for his second straight win.

Maury Wills, Dodgers super-sneak, stole his first two bases of the season, and was caught in one other attempt. Last year he broke baseball's all-time record by snitching 104.

ORIOLES LEAD

Baltimore Orioles jumped back into the American League lead by shading Kansas City's green-liveried Athletics, 3-2, on a 10th-inning home run by Jim Gentile.

Los Angeles got four bases-empty home runs, two by Leon Wagner and one each by Bob Rodgers and Ken Hunt in outscoring Detroit Tigers, 7-5. Hank Aguirre, who had started, finished and won three times, went out in the fourth inning and took his first loss.

Balk-Rule Problem Brings in Big Boss

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said Thursday the balk rule, which has created such a furore in the National League this season, will be discussed at an executive council meeting to be held shortly.

Frick, who has stayed out of the general controversy until now, said he wants the rule to be interpreted the same way by both major leagues if it remains in the book.

"My chief concern is uniformity," he said. "At the executive council meeting we'll simply have to determine what is meant by stop."

Frick was referring to the rule which says a pitcher must come to a full one-second stop in his pitching motion when he is delivering the ball with a runner on base.

Umpires in the American League have been interpreting the rule differently from their brethren in the National League. They had called only two balks against 68 by National League umpires prior to Thursday's games.

"If a pitcher comes to a noticeable pause, regardless of whether it is a full second or not," says veteran American League umpire Joe Paparella, "it is no balk as far as we are concerned."

"I'm in favor of enforcing the rule," Frick said, "but it's nonsensical to think any man can try to time a second."

Canadians Doomed To Distant Second

SAO PAULO, Brazil (CP-AP)—Canada won two silver and four bronze medals in swimming, weightlifting and wrestling Thursday at the Pan-American Games while the United States continued its gold-medal-winning spree, adding 14 more championships for a total of 33.

A world record and a flock of Games marks were broken in the weightlifting and swimming as the U.S. swimming team took four more gold medals for a sweep of the eight events decided to date.

Canadian swimmers, led by Vancouver's Mary Stewart, won the second-place silver medals in the women's 100-metre freestyle and the women's 400-metre medley relay. A Dutch-born blonde, Marjon Wilmink of New Westminster, B.C., copped the third-place bronze in the women's 200-metre breaststroke.

U.S. wrestlers won five more gold medals to grab the whole show in the mat sport with a total of eight championships. Ernest Chornomydz of Montreal captured the bronze in the bantamweight class and Kurt Boese of Kitchener, Ont., won another bronze in the lightweight division.

John W. Lewis, the British Empire Games record-holder from Belleville, Ont., was the bronze medallist in the middle heavyweight weightlifting class with a total hoist of 924 pounds.

BREAKS RECORD

Jose Flores of the Netherlands Antilles broke the world record in the press with a tremendous heist of 337.5 pounds. The former mark of 330.8 was held by Russia's V. Stepanov. Flores earned the silver medal with a total lift of 1,008.5 pounds.

In six days of competition, Canada gradually widened its second-place position in the unofficial medal standings with a total of one gold, won by diver Tom Dinsley of Vancouver in the three-metre springboard, eight silver and eight bronze.

Sandy Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., turned in the fastest time of the eight qualifiers in the men's 1,500-metre freestyle with a heat-winning time of 18:10.2. Gilchrist, 17, beat Bill Farley of the U.S. by about six yards.

Roy Saari of the U.S. captured the other heat in 18:12.7 while Ralph Hutton of Ocean Falls placed third in 18:26.4 and qualified.

Bowlers Set

Victoria and Burnside lawn bowling clubs will open the new season tomorrow at 2 p.m., and extend an invitation for new members and visitors to attend.

Canadian Pacific and Victoria West clubs open May 4, Lake Hill May 8, and Oak Bay May 25.

Rights Sold For $926,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League has sold the radio-television rights to its 1963 championship game to the National Broadcasting Company for $926,000, Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Thursday.

He said it was the highest price ever paid for broadcast rights to a one-day sports event.

The game will be played in the home park of the Western Division champion Sunday, Dec. 29.

Even Wrestling May Bar Karras

Michigan boxing commissioner David Gudelsky says that without question there will be fines or suspensions for both Karras and wrestler Richard Afflis as a result of a bar room brawl they were involved in early Tuesday in Detroit.

Afflis, 34, who as Dick the Bruiser wrestles Karras Saturday night in Detroit, lost a fall to eight policemen in the bar, and had five stitches taken in a head cut he said was caused when someone hit him with a pool cue.

Afflis' jury trial on assault and battery comes up Monday. Gudelsky said he hoped to assemble the State Athletic Commission, also on Monday to discuss the status of Karras and Afflis.

"This time they have gone just too far," said Gudelsky. He indicated he thought the fight might have been staged to publicize the coming match at Olympia Stadium.

Palmer Seven Back Close-In Play Weak

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Tall Australian Bruce Crampton shot a seven-under-par 64 with red-hot irons Thursday to take the first-round lead in the $30,000 Texas Open Golf tournament. Favorite Arnold Palmer was off on his irons and putting and ended up with 71.

Crampton, whose last tournament victory was in July of last year—the Motor City Open at Detroit—canned a 35-foot putt on No. 18 to finish two strokes ahead of Don January, Phil Rodgers, Johnny Pott and Tommy Aaron as par was battered over the sun-baked 6,775-yard Oak Hills Country Club course.

Crampton had an eagle on the 10th hole where his six-iron shot ended up four feet from the pin. He barely missed another eagle on No. 15.

Palmr, to whom this tournament has been dedicated, is trying to win it for the fourth straight year. No pro has ever won the same tournament four years in a row. Palmer's round obviously disappointed him. But he did say that if he did not get his irons and putting straightened out he would be in serious trouble.

Aaron, one of four to shoot 66, sagged the 15th hole with a 18-foot putt to go six under par and he had visions of another 64—the score he shot at Houston last week to lead the first round. But he hit a bad drive into the trees on No. 16 that ruined his chances.

Palm Trees Growing As Nanaimo's Proof

Working on the theory that Nanaimo has the most temperate climate in Canada, local realtor Frank Ney ordered two palm trees from California. Ald. Bill McGregor was on hand Thursday when the two trees were planted near the junction of Stewart Avenue, and Highway 19.

"There is no reason why we should not make Nanaimo the palm city of Canada," said Mr. Ney.

He said he hoped others might donate trees to the city. He would like to see about 100 growing around Nanaimo. (See picture at right).

'Jelly Blob' Scares Divers on Chase

By CAL SMITH

It's more than a little disconcerting to have a fish suddenly explode from the sand directly below you when you are just swimming along, minding your own business.

And it's absolutely uncanny the way a ling cod can materialize in a spot you could have sworn was unoccupied only a moment before.

But it's completely unnerving to find yourself laying within inches of an octopus—after you've been busily engaged for the past five minutes trying to entice one of its fellows from a cave under the rocks.

George Geddes, a diving friend of mine from Port Alberni, who accompanied me to Campbell River in hopes of spotting Klamahtosaurus—Campbell River's "friendly" sea serpent—says even the appearance of Klammy could not be more startling.

And he should know.

I'd noticed an octopus firmly entrenched under a boulder in about 40 feet of water and motioned to George to give me a hand to get it into the open so I could take pictures of it.

After all, I might never see Klamahtosaurus, and the octopus enjoys a reputation almost as fearsome.

I moved to the back of the rock and began pulling boulders away from the rear entrance while George pulled the creature's tentacles from the front—but the devilfish would not budge.

Then, just as we were about to concede the battle to the camera-shy octopus, George became aware he wasn't quite alone on his side of the cave.

There, curled up on the bottom within inches of him, was a six-foot specimen of tentacled monster.

It lay motionless on the bottom, its color blending almost perfectly with its background, so only the yellow, slitted eyes betrayed it as a living creature.

Certainly the outlines of the animal were too vague to identify it as anything more than a blob of soft jelly between the rocks.

In a moment like that, timidity is excusable, and although we'd been pulling on a devilfish even larger than this one, George had a few bad seconds when he suddenly found himself practically lying on it.

Air Brass Visits Comox

COURTENAY — Air Vice-Marshal I. C. Cornblat, controller of finance for the RCAF, and four accompanying officers visited RCAF Station Comox Thursday.

They were Air Commodore W. I. Clements, air officer commanding Maritime Air Command; Air Commodore G. G. Truscott, air officer commanding No. 5 Air Division; Air Commodore R. J. Lane, air officer commanding Air Transport Command, and Air Commodore R. J. Gray, chief of organization and management at air force headquarters.

ONE-DAY VISIT

The one-day visit involved briefing by the commanding officer at RCAF Comox, Group Captain E. G. Ireland, and 407 and 409 Squadron commanders.

Erosion Alarms Indians

DUNCAN — The Cowichan Indian band council is worried about erosion at the Koksilah River in the Clemclemalutz district and will ask the Indian Affairs branch in Vancouver to give information and assistance on an erosion control scheme.

The former Eagle's Hall, leased by the Cowichan band for the past five years to the local lodge, will be managed by the Cowichan Indian recreation commission. It will be mainly used by youngsters from the reserve.

DONATE FURNITURE

Anyone wishing to donate old furniture for the hall is asked to phone commission chairman Ross Modeste at 748-8884. It is planned to buy a used piano for the hall which has been renamed Cowichan Indian Recreation Centre.

Vice-chairman of the commission is Norman Joe. Miss Juanita Elliott is secretary, and Rev. Joseph Rossiter is treasurer.

Errington Festival

Three Plays Earn Praise

ERRINGTON—Three plays were presented on opening night of the one-act play festival at Errington Memorial Hall.

Adjudicator Dorothy Goldrick of Vancouver pointed out the first play, Jo Says Yes, entered by the Little Mountain Theatre Club, was a bit confusing, being taken from a three-act play. More information should have been given to the audience, she said.

However, she praised the presentation for good set, costuming, make-up, and cueing, projection and good characterization, particularly Walter Timms as Rev. J. Jarrow and Julie Ogilvie as Mrs. Jarrow. They play was directed by Mary Hawkes.

Second play on the bill, Moon Up, presented by the Courtenay Junior Group under direction of Ray Logie. In this play, Mrs. Goldrick said, the cast had the audience with them all the way.

She said she found a "feeling of apprehension was conveyed" by Byran Newson as Tom Holloway. Ellen Karton as the mother gave a sincere performance although a different makeup might have helped her to look older.

Brian Martin as the fugitive brother gave a good characterization, and the entire play came off well, said Mrs. Goldrick.

Before you roast your beef, a fast-moving comedy, was presented by Qualicum Beach High School, with Dorothy Simons directing.

"There was lots of vitality in this play," said the adjudicator. Entrances were good, team work excellent, and the cast must have been well rehearsed, with good costuming, good projection and good attack adding up to an enjoyable performance.

* * *

The festival will continue until Saturday night, when plays selected by Mrs. Goldrick will be seen as honor performances.

$7,000,000 Project at Colwood Self-Contained

Plans to build a $7,000,000, self-contained retirement centre at Colwood for elderly Canadians were announced last night.

Plans for the "Chateau Victoria" development show nine buildings arranged like spokes in a wheel, each three storeys high. The "hub" contains a garden, teahouse and swimming pool.

Under the scheme, residents will buy lifetime occupancy of 428 suites at prices ranging from $9,800 to $24,000.

An additional monthly payment of $140 will include meals; laundry; outdoor recreation including a private golf course; swimming pool; indoor recreation including billiards, checkers, bowling and handicraft facilities; a health centre including a salt water spa, a library, and a registered nurse on duty at all times.

A comprehensive medical plan to cover all medical and surgical costs will be available to tenants for $5.82 a month.

Site chosen is 30 acres of well-treed land adjacent to Royal Roads Tri-Services College, overlooking Esquimalt Lagoon. It is about 12 miles from Victoria.

"It will be built as soon as there is sufficient capital in hand to build and provide a $500,000 trust fund to guarantee continuous operation of the project," director F. C. Pollard said.

"It could take as long as six months to start. It could take less.

"The project will be completely free of encumbrances, mortgages and so on."

* * *

The developing company, Chateaux Management Company Limited, is headed by former cattle rancher Charles Besler of Colwood as president, Mr. Pollard and Dr. Peter Banks of Victoria, representing a group of city doctors.

Appointed as manager of Chateau Victoria is Cyril Chapman, former manager of the Empress Hotel for the past eight years.

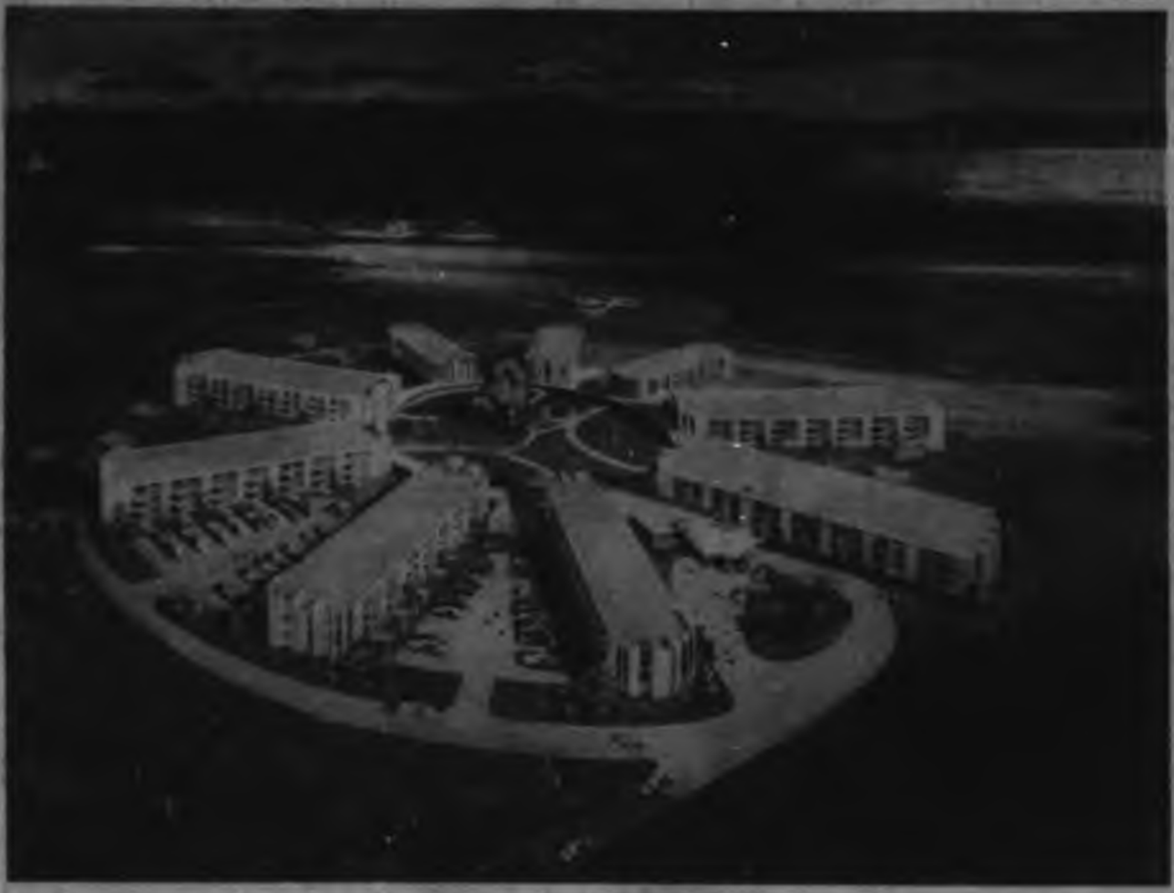
Suites available will range from a bed-sitting room bachelor apartment with 385 square feet of area up to a one-bedroom apartment with balcony and 735 square feet.

No minimum age has been set for prospective residents, a spokesman for the group said last night but he suggested that persons less than 65 years old might be required to pay additional rent to cover the longer life expectancy.



Lagoon View Offered

Civic Employees Get Wage Boost

Despite strong objections from one alderman, city council yesterday formally approved a 3 per cent wage increase for some 400 civic employees.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow charged it amounted to "hiding the facts from the public" if council approved the wage increases without including fringe benefits.

15 TO 25 PER CENT

Council was told by comptroller-treasurer James Bramley that fringe benefits ranged from 15 to 25 per cent on top of salaries in the various categories. In the top range are police and firemen whose earnings were fixed by binding conciliation proceedings.

Ald. Edgelow urged council to gather "the full facts" on wages and fringe benefits before making a decision on the recommended increase. This included, he said, comparisons with the increases in cost of living and wages in other municipalities.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said he and finance chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell were kept fully informed on the progress of contract negotiations with both inside and outside civic staff. Chief negotiator for the city was lawyer E. E. Pearlman.

The mayor said police and firemen — awarded 2.737 per cent and 2.61 per cent respectively by conciliation boards — were "pace-setters" for the other unions.

FAIR SETTLEMENT

"I'm satisfied that our civic employees are getting a fair settlement, in relation to these other settlements over which council has no control," Mayor Wilson said.

Ald. Dowell added that while in his view there appeared to be "no justification at this time" for any of the increases, the city was forced "reluctantly to go along with it."

MIDDLE RANGE

City personnel officer S. T. FitzPatrick said that a recent survey of nine local industrial firms showed wages paid to unskilled and semi-skilled workers by the city "were in the middle-range" by comparison.

He added that last year Esquimalt paid a basic laborers' wage of $2.03 compared with $1.98 in the city. The present increase boosted the Victoria rate to $2.04.

Ald. Edgelow voted against the resolution which approved the 3 per cent settlement.

For Varsity

Library Bids Close

Narod Construction Ltd. of Vancouver submitted a low bid of $1,220,000 on a new library building for the University of Victoria's Gordon Head campus.

Bids of seven contracting firms were close and officials were satisfied with the results, although tenders were slightly higher than estimated by the architect, said a university development board spokesman.

CONTRACT SOON

Contract for the building is expected to be let in a week or two, he said.

Farmer Construction Ltd., with a bid of $1,255,580, was the only Victoria firm which bid on the project. The rest were from Vancouver.

Other firms and their bids: Bedford Construction Company Ltd., $1,309,000; Bennett and White Construction Company Ltd., $1,237,633; Burns and Dutton Construction Ltd., $1,239,400; Commonwealth Construction Ltd., $1,251,255; John Laing and Son (Canada) Ltd., $1,249,060.

Private Hospitals

Council Backs Control Plan

City council yesterday endorsed a proposal from the advisory planning commission to control the development of private hospitals in Victoria.

The result will be a three-point control program:

- Creation of a liaison committee composed of representatives of the provincial government hospital inspection division, local health and welfare authorities and city planners;
- Establishment of zones and regulations to control the siting and development of private hospitals;
- Review by the liaison committee in the early stages of processing of all applications for private hospitals to determine the course of action required by each department represented.

USEFUL MEETING

J. J. Genge, chairman of the advisory planning commission, reported he had a "friendly and useful" meeting with A. N. Ross, B.C. health department inspector of hospitals, on the liaison question.

Provincial authorities can require the controversial Glengarry private hospital scheme on Fairfield Road to be built "without appreciable change from the plans submitted to council," Mr. Genge said.

But the senior citizens' housing and recreation facilities forming the second phase of this scheme, the chairman added, are outside the control of the health department.

CURBS POSSIBLE

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady told council, however, that plans were afoot to consolidate the 17 lots purchased by promoters of the scheme.

If this is carried out it will require both permission to re-subdivide and a further zoning change to be granted by council before the senior citizens' accommodation in the second phase can be carried out.

Bridge Proposal Vital Say Gabriola Islanders

By FRED ANNESLEY

GABRIOLA ISLAND—On this island of 20 green square miles and 600 people, the talk is of bridges.

Recreational Minister Westwood recently expressed interest in the proposal the short gap from Vancouver Island to Gabriola Island be bridged in order to shorten the ferry ride from Nanaimo to Vancouver.

He said he will ask Highways Minister Gaglardi to have an engineer study the bridge possibility.

The proposal Mr. Westwood thinks best is one that calls for a bridge from a point about five miles south of Nanaimo across Dodds Narrows, a distance of about 400 feet, to Mudge Island.

There are several points on Mudge Island where a bridge 300 feet long could connect Gabriola Island.

The second bridge would lead motorists to Silva Bay, from where it is only an 18-mile ferry trip to Point Grey, Vancouver.

The feeling of the majority of Gabriola Islanders appears to be that the bridge plan is very necessary.

Some of the residents moved to the island for the peace and quiet its rolling pastures and unspoiled woods offer, and they would prefer not to be invaded by a teeming highway.

Others, like local landowner Bill Coats, chalk the bridges up as a dream. "It won't happen in our time," said Mr. Coats. "The cost of such a job would be out of the question."

Shipyard operator Les Withey, on the other hand, is certain the bridges are coming.

Talks Planned To Halt Strike

NANAIMO — A meeting between Nanaimo Free Press publisher William Lupton and members of the International Typographical Union who have threatened to strike Monday will be held this afternoon.

* * *

The printers, members of Local 387, ITU, Wednesday gave notice of their intention to strike for a 21-cent increase spread over a three-year period. They said the strike would take effect at 7 a.m. Monday.

OFFER REFUSED

When the union contract came up for renewal last September, the printers asked for a 15-cent an hour increase on a one-year contract, this was later changed to 15 cents an hour on a two-year contract.

Mr. Lupton said Thursday he offered 16 cents an hour over a three-year period and adjustments in holiday benefits. This was not accepted.

The printers now receive $2.75 an hour. John Calhoun, western Canadian ITU representative, said in Nanaimo the Victoria printers get $3.15 per hour and he feels the Nanaimo printers are quite justified in their demands.

FRONT-PAGE ARTICLE

However, in the Free Press Thursday a front page article states that Victoria members of the union accepted four and five-cent increases in their most recent two-year contract.

"Could Nanaimo printers expect more?" the paper asks.

Chaplain Visits

Chaplain-General of the armed forces, Rev. E. G. B. Foote, will visit RCN and RCAF establishments this morning followed by lunch at Work Point Barracks and an afternoon visit to the Services College at Royal Roads.

Meeting May 3

Delegates Topic Of Bureau Chiefs

Representatives of other organizations seeking a place on the Victoria visitors' bureau will be discussed at a directors' meeting May 3.

Representatives of Victoria's Auto Courts and Resorts Association were informed of the coming board meeting when they met this week with officers of the bureau.

BARRED FROM MEETINGS

The meeting followed complaints at an ACRA meeting Monday that A. M. Titerle, who has been appointed by the association to represent it on the bureau's board, has not been allowed into directors' meetings.

Mr. Titerle last night said he expects to find out about his bid for a director's seat after the May 3 meeting. "Meanwhile, I'm still waiting outside the door."

CONFIRMS MEETING

G. Conway Parrott, president of the bureau, last night confirmed that the question of delegates, named by other organizations, will be discussed at the May 3 meeting.

He said, "I presume" Mr. Titerle's application will be accepted.

MONEY, ADVICE

"The bureau welcomes the support of all those associations and businesses which are part of the tourist industry," he said. He said the bureau wants contributions from them of both money and advice.

He said even if Mr. Titerle's application is accepted May 3, it will be too late to make much difference this year, since most of the directors' work is done in the tourist off-season.

LITTLE TO SAY

Meanwhile, Mr. Parrott had little to say whether William Hawkins, retiring as the bureau's commissioner, will be replaced by one man or two—one for the bureau and the other for the Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau, which handles tourist publicity for the whole of Vancouver Island.

"The question of Mr. Hawkins' successor will be given a great deal of consideration," he said.

City Will Submit Brief to Ottawa On Winter Works

The public works committee was instructed by city council yesterday to draw up a submission to the federal government suggesting ways of improving the winter works program.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said the present system of winter works assistance to municipalities from the senior governments has "never been satisfactory."

A suggestion that the issue was one for joint action by municipalities throughout B.C. and across Canada was disputed by Ald. A. W. Toone. "Let us take the initiative," he said. "After all, Victoria isn't a village."

Mayor R. B. Wilson said that rather than asking for a change in regulations the city should provide some realistic suggestions for improvement of the system.

ALL ASPECTS OF JOB

"I have a suggestion," said Ald. Edgelow. "The senior governments should recognize all aspects of the job when apportioning winter work grants.

"Instead of just paying labor costs, this would involve payment for equipment used on the project and salaries of supervisory officials."

The public works committee, which is headed by Ald. Edgelow, was given the task of drawing up the submission.

Sketch Plans Of New Hall To Be Viewed

A special Saanich building committee will view preliminary sketch plans of a new municipal hall today, to get some idea of what the proposed structure will cost.

The plans were drawn up by Wade, Stockdill and Armour of Victoria, for a site between the new Saanich police-fire headquarters and the new health and welfare building on Vernon Avenue.

The municipality already has $250,000 set aside in a building fund for a new hall.

Reunion May 23

Veterans of the 88th Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force, will hold their 37th annual reunion May 23.

Time will be 7 p.m. at the Glenshiel Hotel, 606 Douglas Street. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

New Problems

Ratepayers on Mayne Island Organize to Channel Growth

MAYNE ISLAND — Mayne Island Ratepayers Association has been formed with the specific purpose of dealing with new problems arising from rapidly growing subdivisions and the increasing number of summer home owners.

Some of the problems were outlined in a letter by the association's press officer, W. W. Hunt-Sowry:

- Four hundred acres have been and 500 acres will soon be subdivided.
- Summer population exceeds permanent population by 100 per cent.
- New ferry service to the mainland.
- Only public services operating are highways and postal service.
- There is no fire protection, sanitation and water are perennial problems for residents.

In the letter, Mr. Hunt-Sowry indicated a large farm—unnamed—will likely become a public park, marina and picnic ground, increasing the need for organization.

Original initiative came from F. W. Greenslade who recently called a meeting where the ratepayers association was formed.

F. J. Dodds was elected president, Robert Aitken vice-president and Gil McNicol secretary-treasurer.

Responsible for membership question will be F. W. Greenslade.

Next meeting was set for Saturday, May 18.

Mine Blast Traps Shift

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—An explosion tentatively laid to methane gas rocked the Clinchfield coal company's Compass No. 2 mine just before midnight, trapping 22 miners in workings six miles northwest of here.

A mine official said "there is just a slim chance" the men were not killed. Rescue teams worked below ground toward the blast area.

Clinchfield vice-president Stephen Canonico said 29 of 51 men known to be in the mine were accounted for as rescue teams approached the blast area, 5,000 feet back in the mine.

The lead rescue team, approximately 3,300 feet from the area where the men were working, detected traces of methane gas.

Kingfish Starts at Dawn

Any trout or small-mouth bass weighing one pound or more and any salmon weighing five pounds or more caught in any legal Vancouver Island or Gulf Islands waters will be eligible for entry, whether or not the angler is a subscriber to the Colonist. But there are bigger prizes for Colonist subscribers.

A list of weigh-in stations will be published Saturday or Sunday.

Only commercial fishermen and professional guides are barred, but contest rules call for all fish to be caught with rod and reel.

There are divisions for lake trout, meaning all trout caught in a lake; river trout, meaning all trout caught in a river, including steelhead and sea-run cutthroat; small-mouth bass; coho salmon; spring salmon, meaning all spring salmon on the south of the Island and all spring salmon under 30 pounds caught in north Island and west coast waters; and tyee salmon, meaning spring salmon 30 pounds or more caught north of Nile Creek at Qualicum Bay, or in the Alberni Canal or north on the west coast.

Any salmon more than 15 pounds believed to be a coho and caught before August must be checked by a fisheries department official for identification and a photograph taken and forwarded to the Colonist. In August the weight for positive identification will be extended to 18 pounds. Reason for this rule is that every year there are a number of cases of doubtful identification between coho and spring salmon.

Big merchandise prizes, including an all-expenses-paid Canadian Pacific Airlines trip to Europe for two, a Vancouver Island Helicopters camping-fishing weekend and a Thornes aluminum boat, all hidden-weight prizes, are open only for Colonist subscribers.

Non-subscribers may win trophies for the biggest fish of the contest and buttons for the biggest fish each month.

There will be 105 buttons each month for big fish in all categories.

Anglers may win only one button in each category, except for gold buttons which will be awarded each month for the top fish in each category.

First angler to win all six Prince Buttons will be awarded the Compleat Angler Trophy, symbolic of a world championship.

'Mill to Trigger Interior Bonanza'

Establishment of a $50,000,000 integrated pulp and paper operation in Prince George will mark the first stage of a major development of B.C.'s central interior, Trade and Commerce Minister Robert Bonner said last night.

The project—heavily backed by British capital—is expected to provide jobs for up to 1,200 workmen during construction of the mill in 1964 and 1965, and employment for about 375 when it becomes fully operational. (See Harry Young's column, Page 7.)

It was triggered by issuance of a pulpwood harvesting license and assurance of low-cost power from the huge Peace River hydro electric development, said Mr. Bonner.

BOOST FOR PGE

The government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway is expected to get a $3,000,000 boost in freight revenues because of the mill's operations.

Plans for formation of Prince George Pulp and Paper Limited, jointly owned by the Reed Paper Group of London, England, and Canadian Forest Products Ltd. of Vancouver, were announced yesterday.

Head office of the new firm will be located in Vancouver.

BENNETT STATEMENT

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, visiting San Francisco, said in a statement released by his office here:

"The significance . . . is that the Reed Company is the largest user of pulp in the world. This means that the Prince George pulp and paper development will be much larger than previously proposed.

"It will not only mean hundreds more people employed in the centre of the province, but tens of millions of British capital will be invested in B.C.

"Over and above the direct benefits of this largest pulp and paper development in the interior of B.C., it will greatly benefit secondary industries, and of course will add millions more to the freight revenue annually for the PGE."

Trade and Commerce Minister Bonner predicted that British Columbia will now lead the

Medicare Bill Gets Approval

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government's medical services insurance bill was given approval in principle by the legislature Thursday, with both the Liberal and New Democratic parties opposing the concept of the draft legislation. (See Page 33.)

Brainwaves Sent By Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Relay I communications satellite transmitted an English patient's brainwaves to the United States for analysis, and sent the diagnosis back to England, all within a few minutes Thursday.

This points the way to swift transmission of medical data over great distances, so a patient's ailment might be diagnosed quickly by a specialist in some other part of the world.

K's Aid Asked By Harriman

MOSCOW (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, seeking on President Kennedy's behalf Soviet support of efforts to restore peace in Laos, has expressed hope he will find Premier Khrushchev agreeable.

"I am always hopeful that, with good will, we will reach agreement," the U.S. state undersecretary told reporters on his arrival Thursday night aboard a Soviet airliner from London.

NEUTRALITY SUPPORTED

"The United States wishes to support the stability of the neutral government. The United States is careful to adhere to the (1962 Geneva) agreement, both in letter and in spirit."

A Second World War U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Harriman was fresh from emergency talks with authorities of France and Britain about the alleged campaign of pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas to expand their holdings in Laos, whose neutrality and freedom were guaranteed by the 14-nation Geneva Laotian conference last year.

AUTHORITY SPLIT

France and the U.S. were influential participants in the decisions that gave the Southeast Asian kingdom a government dividing authority among three factions—rightist, neutral and leftist — under a neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma.

Returning Officer Changes Standings

CAMPBELL'S BAY, Que. (CP) — Returning Officer J. Denzil Moodie changed the makeup of the 26th Parliament Thursday night, flipping a coin and then casting the tie-breaking ballot at a judicial recount in favor of former Mines Minister Paul Martineau.

Mr. Martineau's victory in Pontiac-Temiscamingue constituency reduced Liberal membership in the Commons to 128 and boosted the number of Progressive Conservative members to 96. There are 24 Social Credit MPs and 17 New Democrats.

Defeated Liberal Paul-O. Goulet said he "very likely" will file a petition under the Dominion Controverted Elections Act before the Quebec Superior Court to contest the election.

"We have plenty to go on," he said. "Some people voted twice and some eligible voters were barred from voting."

Mr. Moodie, a lumber contractor here, said it became evident about noon Thursday that he might have to cast the deciding ballot as required by law in the case of a tie, a rarity in federal elections.

Mr. Martineau said Mr. Moodie flipped a coin when the tie was declared — without indicating which candidate got heads and which tails.

Airport Visited

First Laos Inspection Made By International Truce Team

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters) An international truce team made an inspection trip to the Plaine des Jarres Thursday in an attempt to smooth the uneasy Laotian situation — ruled by a shaky truce since Sunday.

It was the first of planned daily trips by officers and interpreters from Canada, India, and Poland—the nations making up the international control commission charged with supervising neutrality in this Southeast Asian kingdom.

POLISH OBJECTIONS

The visit by the inspection team to the Plaine des Jarres airport—last stronghold of beleaguered neutralist Gen. Kong Le in his civil battle with pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces—was made despite reports of "considerable opposition" by Poland.

(The Communist New China news agency, quoting the Pathet Lao radio, claimed in Peking meanwhile that three battalions of right wing Laotian troops, "under the command of U.S. officers," attacked the Pathet Lao town of Xieng Khouang Monday and said fighting was still going on.)

Authoritative Western military sources in Vientiane said there has been no hand-to-hand fighting recently. But they said the provincial capital of Xieng Khouang has come under occasional mortar fire.

May Day Shot?

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank radio telescope, predicts Russia will try to put man in space on May Day, major event in Communist calendar, as moon would be in favorable position.

CITY ACTS ON PARK

Combined efforts of the police commission and city parks committee will be directed towards making Beacon Hill Park a safe place for children to play.

Mayor R. B. Wilson told yesterday's city council meeting the "first step has already been taken" by the commission which has ordered increased police surveillance of the park.

GIVEN AUTHORITY

For its part, council gave the parks committee authority to hire an additional commissionaire or commissionaires to patrol the park.

EASTER SUNDAY

The most recent case of molesting involved two children in the park at 1 p.m. on Easter Sunday. Last summer there were reports filed on eight cases of indecent exposure and one little girl was hauled into a car and molested.

Ald. J. L. W. McLean said if council had been informed previously of the situation described in the Colonist story by reporter Eileen Learoyd it was not "brought seriously enough to our attention."

REGULAR PATROL

He said the solution lay in "a little more responsibility for the police" and institution by the city of a regular park patrol by members of the corps of commissionaires. A commissionaire under the present system is in the park on an irregular schedule.

"This is a matter of vital concern to all parents with small children," Ald. McLean said. "In the past we have liked to think that Beacon Hill Park was a place where we could turn our children loose, a safe place for them to play."

SAFE IN DAYLIGHT

He said council shouldn't stop short of making the park "safe for all in daylight" and at night ensure that it is kept under adequate police surveillance.

"If Beacon Hill Park is known to be properly patrolled," Ald. McLean said, "persons of undesirable character . . . will no longer frequent the area."

MORE SURVEILLANCE

Mayor Wilson said he "couldn't agree more" with the need for increased surveillance, but added that one of the difficulties inherent in the patrol system was that "police are there one minute and gone the next."

"That's why we need commissionaires — I would say three commissionaires," Ald. McLean said.

GENERAL AGREEMENT

Ald. Lily Wilson said she was prepared to give the parks committee authority to arrange for additional commissionaire patrols immediately. There was general agreement with this suggested course of action.

The mayor said it would be up to the police commission, which he heads, and the parks committee to work together towards a "permanent solution" to the problem.

Police Wound Gunmen

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP)— Two gunmen were wounded and two taken into custody Thursday night when they were caught in a barrage of police gunfire during an attempted robbery of a sawmill near here.

The wounded were admitted to hospital in this town 10 miles northwest of metropolitan Toronto. One had part of his hip shot away and another was wounded in an arm. Their conditions were not believed to be serious.

Nikita Hints He'll Quit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given a powerful new boost to speculation that he may be on his way out as premier and chairman of the Communist party.

That was the immediate and obvious reaction in Washington and elsewhere to his speech to Russian workers pointing out that he was 69 years old and "cannot hold for all time the positions which I now have in the party and state."

RUMORS BACKED

His remarks tended to add authority to rumors current in some Communist circles that he was planning to announce at the May 25 meeting of the Communist central committee plans to retire within a year or two. They also gave some substance to speculation that various members of the Soviet hierarchy believe the time is approaching for new leadership.

CONDITION WORLD

It appeared to some authorities as if the party wanted to condition the world for the retirement of Khrushchev, who has been premier since 1958.

U.S. officials wanted the text of the speech to determine the context of the retirement remarks, but said some sections had almost the tone of a valedictory and seemed to be in response to protestations against any thought of his quitting.

Israel Seeks Atom Bomb, Says Arab

UNITED NATIONS (LAT)—Israel is speeding development of an atomic bomb and may be developing materials for bacteriological warfare, Mahoud Riad, ambassador to the United Arab Republic, charged Thursday.

"We believe that Israel is really working very hard to produce an atomic bomb," the ambassador said. "We have information that the Weizmann Institute is working on bacteriological warfare."

The ambassador made the charges at a luncheon of the UN Correspondents Association, asserting similar charges brought by Israel against the United Arab Republic were a smokescreen to conceal Israel's true intentions.

He denied the UAR is developing atomic energy for other than peaceful purposes.

Lesage Prime Minister?

* * * * * *

'Only He Can Unite Canada'

QUEBEC (CP) — An English-speaking independent member of the legislature said Thursday night that Premier Lesage could become prime minister of Canada.

Frank Hanley (Ind — St. Ann), in a rambling speech during the budget debate, said that if English Canada doesn't meet Quebec's needs and rights, then a French-Canadian would have to be named prime minister.

There is only one man who can do the job, said Mr. Hanley, who supported the Social Credit party during the federal election campaign.

"Who is that?" asked Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson.

"Only one man can unite Upper and Lower Canada," said Mr. Hanley, "and that man is the present premier of Quebec."

Mr. Hanley is of Irish descent.
